JESSE FULLER, well-known California folk singer, will be featured at the college at 1 p.m. Thursday, April 11, in the Performing Arts Building. The versatile entertainer begins a three-day Seattle engagement with his GRCC appearance. On Friday he will appear at the University of Washington and Saturday will star in a four-hour "Downtown Blues Party" sponsored by the Seattle Folklore Society in the Masonic Temple.

Jesse Fuller, 'One-Man Band,' Slated For Thursday Performance

Folk singer Jesse Fuller, billed as "The Amazing One-man Band," will appear in the College's performing arts building on April 11 at 1 p.m. Fuller, noted for "His Good Time Jazz" albums, has worked most of his life as a part-time jackhammer operator in the Oakland area.

But, at nearly 60 years of age, the demands for his folk-singing talents have made him a full-time entertainer at bay area clubs and coffee shops, at folk festivals, and at recording sessions.

Born in rural Georgia before the turn of the century and virtually abandoned in early childhood, Jesse worked his way across America as a railroader, laborer, sidewalk vender, and shoeshine boy. During these years Jesse absorbed and digested the music of his surroundings and circumstances, blending and creating his own unique style which he will demonstrate to students on Thursday.

British Author, Critic To Speak Here Today

Non-conformist Malcolm Muggeridge, a prominent British journalist and critic, will speak at Green River Community College at 2 p.m. today, under the sponsorship of the Artist-Lecture Series.

The program is primarily for college students and faculty, but visitors will be admitted to the program, according to Orval Hansen, chairman of the Artist-Lecture Series. Muggeridge will speak in the Performing Arts Building.

The colorful British journalist has been a frequent guest on national television, both in England and in the United States. For five years he was editor of the famous British humor magazine, Punch, but resigned in 1957 with the comment, "Five years of trying to make the English laugh is more than any man should be asked to face."

He has since lived in his 400-year old house in Sussex and has regularly dispatched his barbed prose to the New Statesman and the Observer in England and to Esquire in the U.S., with frequent forays in such other publications as TV Guide, the New York Review of Books, and the British magazine, Queen. In addition, he turns out scripts for the British Broadcasting Co.

His most recent books, published in 1966, are "The Most of Malcolm Muggeridge," and "London A La Mode."

Muggeridge was born in 1903 just outside of London, studied at Selhurst Grammar School, went to Cambridge University and took an honors degree at the age of 20.

His first job was as a teacher in the Egyptian University in Cairo where he used his free time to send news stories back to The Manchester Guardian, one of

MALCOLM MUGGERIDGE

England's best known newspapers. He returned home and worked on the Guardian for two years before they sent him to Russia as their Moscow correspondent. Upon his return to England, he wrote a savagely critical book entitled, "Winter in Moscow."

After a brief fling on an Indian newspaper, Muggeridge returned to write a column for the London Evening Standard. But war intervened. He joined the Intelligence Corps in 1939 as a private and emerged six years later as a major, complete with numerous decorations including the Legion of Honor. After the war, he became the Washington, D.C. correspondent for the Daily Telegraph where he began his warm friendship with America and Americans.

When he became editor of Punch in 1953, he was the first editor-in-chief ever employed from outside its own staff.

"Student Rights And Academic Freedom" To Be Discussed

"Most of the instructors are behind us 100 per cent. Our big problem will be to get the students to come." A spokesman for the Student Symposium Committee made that remark Monday in a special interview regarding the forthcoming symposium on "Student Rights and Academic Freedom" scheduled to take place from 11:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. Tuesday, April 9. The symposium will be held in the College Performing Arts Building, PA-8.

All Green River College students, instructors, and administrators are urged to attend. Classes will be dismissed for the symposium.

"There is a terrific problem of communication between students and faculty," Mrs. Sylvia Strong, spokesman for the Student group said. "The symposium will provide an opportunity for greater communication on any issue."

The program will consist of three distinct phases. In the first, a short synthesis of the "Students Rights" paper will be given. Participants will then break up into small discussion groups to consider some of the issues raised. As a third step, participants will regroup for a panel discussion during which the outcome of the small group discussions will be considered and evaluated.

Copies of the "Students Rights" paper which will be read may be obtained in the College Library or from instructors. The paper discusses during which the outcome of the small group discussions will be considered and evaluated.

Copies of the "Students Rights" paper which will be read may be obtained in the College Library or from instructors. The paper discusses both on and off-campus student freedom.

McCarthy Campaign To Be Discussed By Norm Ackley

Norm Ackley, former state legislator and a candidate for Congress, will speak here at 1 p.m. Monday in the college's Performing Arts Building.

Ackley will discuss the campaign of Sen. Eugene McCarthy for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. His appearance is sponsored by the Political Action Club.

The student symposium is student organized, student oriented, and student motivated. "It is organized by students for students," Mrs. Strong said. "We want to encourage them to participate."

MARY ANEY

Current Has New Editor

Green River Community College sophomore, Mary Aney, of 31815 56th Ave. S in Auburn, has been selected editor of the Green River "Current", the college newspaper for spring quarter. The selection was announced this week by newspaper advisor Ed Eaton.

The 19 year-old journalism major is a 1966 graduate of Auburn High School where she was active in debate and served as a member of the Auburn High newspaper staff.

Mary is an honor student at Green River having been placed on the honor roll in both 1967 and 1968. She recently earned a 4.0 grade point average for winter quarter at the college.

Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Aney. She succeeds DeEtte Pravitz who resigned following four quarters as editor.

Road Rally Set April 20

A road rally, sponsored by Green River Community College's chapter of "Chung," consisting of six to eight hours of dirt roads, speed traps, highway driving, and endurance through Eastern and Western Washington, will be held on April 20 beginning at 7 a.m.

The winner of the rally will be the one finishing closest to the established time it should take an average driver to complete the course obeying all highway driving rules and regulations along the way.

Approximately 200 cars including representative entries from Radio Stations KOL, KSND, and KJR, Bothell Chevrolet in Auburn, La Bonti Rambler in Renton, both Kent and Auburn Valley Drive-In's and other participating merchants are expected to compete for the cash prizes offered for first through tenth place finishers, according to Marty Boatman, club president.

The entrance fee is $5.00 per car and the proceeds from the race will be placed in a special service fund for the adoption of a foster child for the college.

The first place winner will be awarded 20 per cent of the gross entry fees. Other awards include second prize, 10 per cent of the gross entry fees; third prize, 5 per cent; fourth prize, 3 per cent; and fifth through tenth place winners will each receive 1 per cent of the gross entry fees. The winners may choose to receive a trophy in lieu of the monetary prize.

The road rally is open to the public. All persons interested in entering the rally may contact Boatman by calling UL 2-7294 or pick up an entry blank at the College or any of the following business firms: Bothell Chevrolet, Auburn; La Bonti Rambler, Renton; Valley Drive-In or Avenue Theatre, Auburn and Kent; Robinson and Lyon Ford, Renton; KOL and KSND Radio Stations, Seattle.

Late entrants may register at the start of the rally in the upper parking lot of the college on April 20 at 7 a.m. "However," stated Don Sommers, general chairman of the event, "the rally committee would prefer to have all entries in before April 18."

All cars must be covered by insurance and include a navigator and relief driver. The navigator may serve as a relief driver. Each entrant may have a maximum of four persons riding in the rally. Cars will be required to stop at various checkpoints along the route for periodical rests. The finish line will be located at Ocean Shores.

Artist Lecture Contradiction?

The Artist-Lecture Series, what is it?

It is a paradox in the very best terms, an insane contradiction in the worst. But regardless of how the situation is stated, it remains, essentially, an example of the obvious discrepancies which exist between practice and principle on this campus.

The contradiction does not lie within the boundaries of the Artist-Lecture Series itself. Obviously, the Artist-Lecture Board views its presentations as worthwhile and beneficial. In most cases, that is a fact that cannot and need not be disputed. It is ironic, then, that a specific time cannot be established for the Series presentations during which no classes are scheduled so that a wider range and greater number of students might share in these experiences. Thus, the program's contradiction lies in the curious fact that although these programs and appearances are generally considered worthwhile, they are presented during class time which prevents a good number of students who might otherwise profit by the presentations from attending them.

There is, of course, the inevitable alternative. The student truly interested in seeing a film or hearing a speaker can "skip" class and thereby achieve his immediate goal. Unfortunately, such actions are generally frowned upon both by the College administration and by the course instructor.

And this is not to suggest that instructors should, out of the chairitable goodness of their hearts, dismiss class whenever an Artist-Lecture presentation is scheduled. Rather, it is a criticism of the fact that our normally perspicacious administration has not recognized the advantages of setting aside a specific time for the Series presentations during which no academic endeavors are involved.

The advantages, so put, are two-fold. First, there would exist a definite and specific time during which no classes would be scheduled so that the Artist-Lecture Series could be even more beneficial to a greater number of students.

Secondly, such a time — allotted and set aside regularly — might facilitate greater student involvement in contemporary affairs. The opportunity would exist for the creation of seminars, symposiums, group discussions, and campus debates on a wide range of student and community related topics. These could be designed to fill in those times during which no Artist-Lecture presentations are scheduled.

The fact that no such specific time allotment has yet been made is a disservice both to the students and faculty of Green River College, and to those persons involved in the Artist-Lecture presentation.

Until such time as those persons who administer student destiny act to remedy this absurd situation the outright contradiction and deliberate deficiencies of the Green River College Artist-Lecture Series will persist.

Ripples On The Current

Should 18 Year-Olds Vote?

Dear Editor,

At the last session of the legislature a state-wide ad hoc committee was organized to gain the right to vote for 18-year-olds. After much painstaking work the bill came to a vote — it went down to defeat by 2 votes. For the coming session of the legislature we are again organizing a state-wide grassroots assembly to acquire the 18-year-old vote. This new committee will have the benefit of the groundwork laid by the former one and will be able to profit from the earlier mistakes.

Below are some of the arguments for the right of 18-year-olds to vote:

1. They (18-year-olds) are subject to the military draft (conscription without representation?).
2. Young people must pay income taxes and all other taxes (taxation without representation?); they are treated like adults in court proceedings; they marry and have kids. In fact, they are effected by all facets of life — BUT THEY CAN'T VOTE!
3. Young people are often as well informed as their parents and elders.
4. Civics courses, world problems courses, and many other courses will have an added relevancy to the student once the issues really concern him directly and he is able to take a more active part in making decisions regarding the issues.

Indeed, all parts of the students' and 18-year-olds' lives will acquire more relevancy.

5. If the 18-20 set could vote, our society would be much more dynamic. As Senator Jacob K. Javits, Republican from New York says: "To me the most compelling reason for lowering the voting age is that American politics needs the transfusion that younger voting would give it."

We would like you to help organize a committee in your area or at least give us the names of contacts in your area interested in the 18-year-old vote and who will do such work. As stated above, this will hopefully be a state-wide assembly. The Tacoma group will act as coordinator of the state committees. Our immediate plans are to organize thruout the summer — find sponsors, raise money, write an acceptable bill, organize well coordinated committees, etc. — and then launch a full scale campaign when school begins again in the fall.

We would appreciate hearing from you as soon as possible.

Yours,

GATHERING AROUND Elmer Moore, second from left, following his address at the Management Club banquet were several businessmen and students who talked for sometime after the banquet with the head of the Secret Service Seattle office. One of those listening was Ken Farthing (leaning on podium), manager of U-Haul in Auburn who was named "Boss of the Year" at the banquet.

Management Club Selects Farthing as 'Boss of Year'

Kenneth Farthing, manager of U-Haul in Auburn, was named "Boss of the Year" at the annual Management Club banquet held March 18 in Puyallup.

Farthing was nominated by Green River management student Dan Burwell.

Featured speaker at the annual affair was Elmer W. Moore, head of the United States Secret Service office in Seattle. Moore talked about counterfeiting, but stayed after the banquet for some time and talked informally with students about the investigation of the Kennedy assassination. During the investigations, Moore was officially assigned to work with Chief Justice Earl Warren.

During the banquet, certificates of completion were presented to all those who completed the 10-week Tuesday morning seminar sponsored by club.

On hand to present the "Boss of the Year" award to Mr. Farthing were Charles Hoenhaus of Willow's Lumber in Puyallup, last year's award winner, and his student employee Richard Bartel.

Raft Race Set For May

The third annual Green River Raft Race has been scheduled for May 18, according to Larry Knipschild, chairman of the event. The race, sponsored by the Associated Students of Green River Community College, will again this year begin at Issac Evans Park in Auburn at noon and end near Kent at 3 p.m.

The winners will be presented trophies following the raft race and a celebration dance will be held in the college gymnasium.

Any college student may enter the race. According to Knipschild, the rules have not been officially established yet, but they will follow the same general outline used in past raft races. New rules to be established include: All raft designs must be submitted to the chairman for approval before construction; Crews must propel the rafts from above the water level.

Invitations have been sent to all colleges in the area, and all students affiliated with these colleges is eligible to enter.

Scholarships Announced

The Soroptomist Club of Kent, recently contributed two scholarship grants to Green River College to be used in the scholarship and loan fund, according to Mrs. Winnie Vincent, coordinator of financial aids.

The club, a service organization of Kent business women, contributed the money to be used for spring quarter at the College.

The scholarship and loan fund grants approximately 90 loans per quarter to Green River College students for tuition and books. It is a revolving fund designed to aid students in their quest for higher education.

Approximately $6,000 is loaned per quarter to students who pay the loan back on a monthly or weekly basis by the end of each succeeding quarter. Students borrowing from the fund arrange their own terms of repayment.

Donations from private individuals, service clubs and various other sources made to the college are put into this special service fund. Any student may apply for a loan by contacting Mrs. Vincent.

Green River College's Who's Who is presently on sale in the lobby of the Holman Library. Price for the Who's Who is 50 cents.

This year Who's Who is sixty-three pages long and contains the names, addresses and phone numbers of all students now enrolled at GRCC.

Vocational Studies Cause Stir

A move to place vocational-technical education under community college rule and out of local school board jurisdiction again appears to be causing a stir among educators.

Only partially blocked in the 1967 State Legislature, the attempt did get authorization by lawmakers, but was rendered virtually meaningless by inclusion of a provision allowing individual school districts the option of going either way. Now it appears that an attempt is being generated to remove that 'local option' provision from the law.

Oscar F. Anderson, director of the Renton Vocational-Technical Institute, said a hearing held by the subcommittee on occupational education of the Joint Committee on Education of the legislature, at the Renton Facility allowed proponents of anti-community college rule to present their case once again. At issue is an attempt to place under community college jurisdiction all vocational-technical education. The institutes barely escaped this in the 1967 session when a 'local option' provision was written into Substitute House Bill 548.

Following the 1967 session, the Renton School Board did exercise its option to retain control of the Renton institute. Five other school boards — Tacoma, Clover Park, Lake Washington, Olympia and Bellingham, reacted similarly.

The move to grant community college rule of vocational-technical institutes is being led principally by Sen. Mike McCormack, Richland Democrat, and Marjorie Lynch, Yakima Republican, according to Anderson.

Instructors Participate In Science Program

Four Green River Community College instructors have been selected to participate in science programs during the summer months at Western Washington State College, Pacific Science Center, and Oregon State University.

Phil Heft, mathematics instructor, Dennis Regan, Phil Manson, and Marv Nelson, science instructors, have received grants from the National Science Foundation for continued study in their particular fields.

Heft will study number theory and differential equations at WWSC beginning June 17. The course is approximately nine weeks in length.

Manson will spend six weeks beginning June 17 at Oregon State attending an institute in chemistry designed for community college instructors. He will be studying instrumental analysis, organic mechanisms and theories and one of two more topics in organic chemistry.

The Pacific Northwest Association for College Physics in Community colleges has selected Regan and Nelson for studies in electricity and magnetism theoretical mechanics and applied mathematics in a four year sequential summer course. They will begin studies at the Pacific Science Center in June and will attend summer sessions for four consecutive years.

Heft, Manson, Regan, and Nelson are among 30-35 college instructors in each category chosen by the National Science Foundation from throughout the United States for these studies.

Pre-College Test To Be Held May 4

The Washington Pre-College Test, required of all students entering college in the fall, will be administered in the Holman Library at Green River College beginning at 8 a.m. May 4.

The all-day test will be given only to those who have paid the $7 fee prior to April 30, according to William Merifield of the GRCC Counseling Center. Students reporting for the test MUST have a paid receipt.

The next test dates for the General Educational Development (GED) test at Green River are April 6 at 8 a.m. and April 7 at 7:30 p.m. Those taking the GED tests must attend on all three dates (including last Wednesday, April 3) at 7:30 p.m. in order to complete the test. Enrollment information is available at the college Counseling Center. A $7.50 fee must be paid prior to the date to assure enrollment. Since there is a special procedure for anyone under age 21, it is important that the Counseling Office be contacted before enrollment, Merifield stressed.

John Ruppert Wins NSF Research Grant

JOHN RUPPERT

John Ruppert, a Green River College freshman from Black Diamond, has been awarded a National Science Foundation undergraduate research grant for this summer.

The 26 year-old Air Force veteran was informed of the grant by Dr. Malcolm M. Renfrew of the University of Idaho at Moscow where Ruppert will spend nine weeks in full-time research.

From June 3 to August 2 he will work in weekly seminars and with individual research groups in chemistry. The grant provides $540 for the nine weeks.

Normally such grants are provided only to sophomores, but Ruppert is an honor student at Green River where he has received only one B in two quarters of work. He was 4.0 (straight-A) fall quarter and 3.66 winter quarter. He was highly recommended for the research position by Dr. Edward Fohn, head of the college's Division of Science.

Ruppert will return to Green River in the fall where he is majoring in chemistry. He wants to go into full-time research following graduation from college.

Unlike most college freshman, the enthusiastic young student saw much of the world before entering college. While in the Air Force he spent seven months overseas in Spain and Germany. After discharge he went to work for RCA in Greenland on the ballistic missile early warning service. He worked seven days a week without leave for two years in a land that has six months of daytime and six months of night. "We didn't have a lot to do," noted Ruppert. "The job had to be very important to me or I would have never been able to hack it. But I saved enough money to put me through college."

Clearing Coming Soon

A student literary magazine, The Clearing, will be coming out around the end of May, according to Mr. Wayne Luckmann, English instructor. The Clearing is a student accomplishment under the advisorship of Mr. Luckmann, Mr. Waldron, and Mr. Bleha.

All writing was done by GRCC students. It includes poetry, short stories, satire, autobiographical work, plus a variety of essays. The art work includes photography and pictures. The pictures consist of still-life, drawing, and designs.

Interviews Scheduled

A.J. Luberts of Ederer Corporation of Seattle will be on the Green River campus Tuesday, April 9, to talk with mechanical engineering technology students.

MET students interested in investigating employment opportunities with the Seattle firm can sign up for an appointment in the Placement office in the Renton Center.

There will be a representative from the Renon Branch of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on campus today to interview students 21 years or older with a two year Business Administration Degree or a two year Management Degree and who may be interested in the field of the insurance business.

All those intending to speak with the representative should sign up for an interview in the counseling center immediately.

Petroleum Advisors Discuss Training

A representative from the Petroleum Industry and Automotive Supply Industry will meet with the vocational-technical, business, and administrative divisions on campus April 22. The meeting is designed to develop an advisory committee and to discuss a proposed program to train young men and women (but primarily men) in the field of management positions in the Petroleum and Automotive Supply Industries.

Graduates from Green River College in this program would have a two year apprenticeship in Management on the job, to be followed by management training and development in the fields of their particular interests and abilities.

Those attending the meet include dealers in the business of: The Washington State Gasoline Dealers Association, Phillips, Mobile, Standard, Union Gulf, Douglas, Shell, Atlantic Richfield, the National Automotive Parts Association, and the American Petroleum Institute.

Anyone interested is invited to attend.

GRCC Students At DECA Meeting

The Chinook Hotel, located in Yakima Washington, was the site of the Twenty Second Annual Leadership Conference for developing future leaders for marketing and distribution. The three day meet, held March 24, 25, and 26, included open forums, discussion groups, an awards banquet, and contests. With several entries in the contests, Dan Burwell placed first in Individual Marketing Improvement, Bill Sutton (2nd) in Training manual, Bill Collie (2nd) in Individual Marketing Improvement, Mike Willis (3rd) in Prepared Speeches, Steve Rhodes (3rd) in Individual Marketing Improvement and Bill Trimm (2nd) in Impromptu Speeches.

Also held were DECA club state elections for the coming year. Of the four students from Green River College who were participating in the elections, Chris Stowe was elected State Secretary.

Highline's Ray Shaw edged Steve Rhodes of Green River, 18-15, for the job of state president.

"Evening In Athens" Dance April 27

A gothic atmosphere will set the mood for an "Evening in Athens" at Green River College's spring semi-formal dance to be held April 27 at the Renton Inn.

Tickets for the dance will go on sale soon, according to Gordon Ip, general chairman of the event, at a cost of $4.00 per person. The dance will begin at 9 p.m. and end at 1 a.m.

Beard Contest Underway

It is now distinctively unsporting to be a clean-shaven Green River male. Green River Student Body President Gary Gadwa announced this week that the Associated Student Body Beard Growing Contest is now officially underway. The contest is for full beards, Van Dykes, and moustaches, competition is open to both the faculty and the student body.

Contest divisions will include categories for the longest beard, the best styled beard, the neatest and the grubbier. Cash prizes will be awarded to winners in each division.

An entrance fee of 25 cents can be paid at the Student Activities office. The contest will run from April 3 until April 24.

PRESENTING A $700 CHECK to Mrs. Doreen Lorenz (center) of Green River College is Mrs. Erla Hogan, president of the Graduate Nurses Club of Auburn. Looking on are members of the club.

Student Nurse Grants Made

Thursday evening in ceremonies at the Green River Community College Performing Arts Building the Valley Graduate Nurses Club presented a check to the college to be added to the scholarship and loan program for student nurses.

The Nurses Club, through plant sales, candy sales, calendar sales, and rummage sales, raised the donation for the purpose of furthering the education of future nurses.

The club was formed in 1937, and was first organized as the Auburn Graduate Nurses Club to raise scholarship funds.

Aster Kappel, Maxine Burson, Barbara Fry, Ruth Jones, Florence Allen, Blanche Vern, Doreen Lorenz and Erla Hogan, president of the club, made the presentation to Mrs. Doreen Lorenz of the Health Occupations department at Green River.

Wanted: One More GR Golfer

"Somewhere among nearly 1500 students on this campus during the day there must be another golfer," insists Green River golf coach Dick Joy, former GRCC student who is now the assistant pro at Northshore Golf and Country Club in north Tacoma.

The Gator golfers opened the 1968 season last Friday with only three men against Everett and, of course, lost the match. This morning they left for Pasco to meet Columbia Basin and at last report Coach Joy was still not certain he had nailed down that fourth man for his team.

On the team are Paul Longwell, Ed McGee, and Mike Henry, but it is even uncertain whether Henry is going to be able to continue going to school, work to support his family, and play golf, too.

"Actually, we could use a seven-man team," said Joy who directs golf workouts with the team at Northshore every afternoon. Anyone who can shoot under a 100 on 18 holes has a chance to make the team, the way it stands right now, according to Joy.

Longwell scored an 83 against Everett last week and could break 80, the coach indicated. McGee, out of practice after three years in the service without any regular golf action, scored an 86 Friday and hopes to get his score down below 80. Henry, able to work out only once a week on his current schedule, had a 104 Friday.

All those interested in golf should contact Bob Aubert's office in the lower lounge ("The Trailer") behind the gymnasium.

RICH SCORE, left, and Ken Ghorley, both of Puyallup, talked informally before the opening game of the season last Saturday at Bremerton. Although Green River lost both ends of a doubleheader to Olympic, Ghorley broke up a no-hitter in the first game with a fourth-inning double.

Gators to Host Grays Harbor

Green River will play a doubleheader tomorrow at 1:30 in the Kent Memorial field against Grays harbor.

Randy Hatfield and Dan Barret will pitch the first game. Chuck Possenti and Ron Tocbi will share the second. Coach Nelson hopes to let his entire twenty-man squad see action during this game.

In past action Green River dropped a doubleheader to Olympic Saturday. The Rangers took the first game, 11-0, but Gator Gary LaBrie doubled in the fourth inning to spoil Olympic's potential no-hitter. Green River also committed three errors, two of which gave Olympic four unearned runs.

During the second game the Gators improved but lost 5-2 in a game that saw

Green River runners stranded on second and third three times. Ken Ghorley hit a double in the fourth inning with the bases loaded to push in the Gators only two runs.

Next Tuesday the Gator batmen will play their first league game against Skagit Valley at 3 p.m. here.

Fruit Bowl Scheduled Tomorrow

Saturday April 6, Green River's track team will participate in the Yakima Fruit Bowl, a ten school invitational meet. The team will have two new faces; Tim Cummings will compete in the pole vault and Jerry Grant in the hurdles, javelin and triple jump.

On Saturday, March 30, the gator trackmen were at a meet with Yakima and Wenatchee. The final scores were Yakima 94, Wenatchee 66, and Green River 18.

Guy Woods finished first in the mile with a 4:32.2 time. Dave Cariegel was third with 4:49. Woods also topped the 2 mile run with 9:58.8; Dennis Jones was second with 10:06 and Cariegel was fourth. Al Fern finished third in javelin with a 170 foot throw to wrap up Green River's scoring.

Student Lands 30 Lb. King

A Green River College student, Mrs. William Hawkins of Kent, struggled for 35 minutes before finally landing a 30-pound King salmon near Sekieu March 24.

The fish, measuring 41 inches, was reportedly the largest King pulled in this season and the thried King salmon caught.

Mrs. Hawking said that landing the big King was one of the most thrilling events she has experienced and that she would be happy to show anyone interested how big the 'one that didn't get away' was.
