Green River College, Auburn, Washington

National College Queen May Be From Green River

One of the students, here on this campus, could be the next National College Queen.

The annual search is now underway to select and to honor "the nation's most outstanding college girl." Young women attending G.R.C.C. are eligible as candidates. The winner will receive more than $5,000 in prizes, including a trip to Europe and an automobile.

The 1967 National College Queen Pageant will be held in June, and this year Pageant officials will again award 50 free trips to New York City. One college girl from every State, including Alaska and Hawaii, will be flown to Manhattan to compete for high honors.

This Pageant is the annual event which gives recognition to students for their scholastic ability. It is not a "beauty contest." Judging is based on academic accomplishment — as well as attractiveness, charm and personality. The judges are seeking a typical American college girl.

For twelve years the National College Queen Contest has been growing, until it has become a tradition at hundreds of colleges and universities. This year, one of Green Rivers students can win and bring nationwide recognition to Green River College.

All undergraduate girls, from freshmen through and including seniors, are eligible. A candidate may send in her own name. Or, she can be recommended. Classmates, friends, or campus club groups can nominate the girl of their choice.

Here's one final reminder from the judges: "The student's academic record, her volunteer activities and her hobbies are important. The winner will be someone who is active in several phases of campus life. She does not have to be a scholastic genius nor have the beauty of a Hollywood movie star. The next National College Queen will be a typical American college girl — bright, alert and personable."

Only a few days remain, for students who wish to enter this year's competition. Applications or nominations must be received in New York City not later than February 28... so apply today by contacting the "Current" Editor or Advisor, Mr. Eaton.

Students Amend Constitution

The constitutional amendment proposed by the Associated Student Body of Green River Community College was validated in a special election held Wednesday, February 15. It now becomes imperative for all student body officers to maintain at least a 2.0 grade point average per quarter during their term of office.

Before the amendment, Article VI, section 1, letter D, of the constitution read, "must have maintained at least a 2.0 grade point average during their term of office."

In an election dealing with constitutional amendments, 60 per cent of the registered voters must vote in order to validate the election. Sixty per cent of those voting must vote in favor of the amendment for it to pass.

This last amendment, in which 166 votes were cast, needed 164 votes in order to carry. One hundred and fifty four affirmative votes were cast as opposed to 12 negative.

Students Improve Parking

Records reflect that the parking regulation discipline shows a marked improvement over previous quarters. Mrs. Winnie Vincent, Coordinator of Student Activities, commends the students on their willingness to comply with parking regulations.

Mrs. Vincent's comments also included a suggestion that students who will be parking a car only once or twice throughout the quarter, obtain a temporary parking permit, thereby alleviating from the probability of being cited with a parking violation.

The temporary permit may be obtained from one of the parking lot patrolmen or from the ASB Office.

Green River Ripples Center Needs Magazines

Magazines are needed for the counseling center. Anyone who has issues he no longer needs please take them to the counseling center.

February 24 — Film: Caine Mutiny in the library at 8 p.m.

February 25 — State Wrestling Tournament at Moses Lake.

ATTENTION STUDENTS! The English proficiency test for students who wish to qualify for English 101 will be administered Tuesday, Feb. 28, from 8-10 a.m. and from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Students wishing to take the test must register with, and pay a $1 non-refundable fee to Miss Sandi Nydeck at the admissions counter before Feb. 21. A description of the test is on reserve in the library.

Miss Mary Thomas, G.R.C.C. Sophomore was crowned Circle K Sweetheart at the Renaissance Week Finale Dance last Saturday night.

Renaissance Week Finale -

Mary Thomas Wins Sweetheart Crown

Miss Mary Thomas, 20 year old GRCC sophomore was crowned Circle K Sweetheart at the Renaissance Week Finale Dance on Saturday, Feb. 11.

Circle K president, Larry Bennett, presented Mary with a box of Valentine candy, appropriate to the sweetheart theme, upon announcing her the winner, and she received warm approval from the dance crowd.

Mary was selected from a field of 12 candidates who each received one vote per penny donation to the Renaissance Week Fund in their individual jars.

Mary, a vivacious blonde, has been active in student activities throughout her two years at Green River. As a freshman, upon graduation from Auburn High School, Miss Thomas served as Ski Club secretary.

The avid skier was over-all chairman of this year's Semi-Formal dance that was held at the Edgewater Inn.

"I really had no thoughts of winning the Sweetheart contest since the competition was so tough," stated Mary. "It must have been the tree I was hiding behind in my picture that did it!"

"And regardless of popular opinion, I didn't put my weekly paycheck into my jar," she added jokingly.

MISS PEGGY BARTELSON

Plane Crash Injuries Fatal To GRCC Student

Miss Peggy Jean Bartelson, Green River College student, who was injured in a plane crash near Everett, died last Sunday in an Everett hospital.

The plane had left Puyallup on a pleasure flight. It made a forced landing on Ebey Island in the Snohomish River east of Everett and struck a water main. Peggy was born in Parshall, North Dakota, and came to Washington 15 years ago. She lived in Seattle five years, in Lynnwood six years, and Fife for the last four years.

She was a graduate of Fife High School and attended Western Washington State College in Bellingham before transferring to Green River.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bartelson; four brothers, Dean, Byron, Douglas, and Kent; two sisters, Mrs. Everett Rogers, and Mrs. Richard Pratto; and her grandfather Alex Olson.

Services were announced Monday by Hill Funeral Home in Puyallup.

MR. HENRY SIEGL

Concertmaster Siegl To Speak In Library

Mr. Henry Siegl, concertmaster and assistant conductor of the Seattle Symphony, will speak in the college library on Feb. 21 at 1 p.m.

Before coming to Seattle in 1956, Mr. Siegl worked as concertmaster of the New York City Ballet Orchestra. While in New York, Mr. Siegl also worked with the N.B.C. Symphony, the Guilet String Quartet, the Galamir String Quartet, and the Saidenberg Symphoneta.

Native of Detroit

A native of Detroit, Mr. Siegl began his long musical career at the age of eight. In high school he occupied the first chair in the All-City High School Band and later went on to receive top honors in the National High School Orchestra in Dallas in 1927.

Upon completion of high school Mr. Siegl received a four year scholarship to the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia where he studied under the direction of some of the world's finest music teachers which included Artur Rodzinski.

1931 Debut

Making his debut in 1931 with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, he went on eventually to become concertmaster of the Michigan theater orchestra, three radio stations, Detroit Chamber Orchestra, and to be a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra for eight years.

What time Mr. Siegl finds free he spends coaching amateur string quartets. He also conducts the Symphony's King County school concerts during the spring and fall.

Mr. Siegl is a member of a string quartet which plays for more than 40 Seattle area schools a year.

College Will Remember Raiders for Long Time

The Renaissance Raiders will be remembered at Green River College for many months to come, as will the exciting events sponsored by the Circle K Club last week.

Spirit and enthusiasm knew no bounds as the Circle K Club, under the direction of Mr. Nigel Adams, advisor, embarked on Flood Florence Green Week to raise money to send to Italy for the restoration of Renaissance Art partially destroyed by the devastating floods this winter.

Not only was the $300+ raised during the week a symbol of the success of the undertaking, but so was the participation of the students in the activities throughout the week.

I salute Circle K Club for their efforts in helping to restore treasured pieces of art, as well as for their efforts to bring out the spirit of the students at the college.

The week was one of the most exciting and one of the most fulfilled that I can remember, and I would just like to say, "Thank you, Circle K, for a job well done."

What About That L.S.D. ?

Last Week I was privileged to be able to sit on the floor of the House of Representatives as the committee on Public Health and Welfare held the public hearing concerning four bills which have been proposed to regulate the drug LSD.

I would personally like to thank Representative Paul Barden of King County for the invitation extended to Dr. Lindbloom, John Jones, and myself. The entire group of Republican Representatives who invited the representatives from 36 schools across the state should indeed be commended on their foresight in seeing that the hearing would be of great interest to the students of the various schools, indeed, to each student in every school throughout the state.

Favor HB 353

Most of the 13 witnesses who spoke at the hearing voiced opinions that favor HB 353. Both sides of the issue had some strong arguments, and, as I left the hearing and the special news conference afterwards, I was still undecided as to what I thought about the proposed legislation.

I know that I don't believe any of the proposed bills really will take care of the LSD problem. I don't believe that prohibiting the sale, distribution, or possession of any type of drug solves the problem it really tries to solve. A specific law concerning LSD is definitely needed in the State of Washington.

LSD in the hands of the unexperienced can be a danger not only to the inexperienced user but to those with whom he is associated with during his "trip."

The magnitude of the use of LSD in Washington is difficult to assess. The best way to control it is through legislative measures, and yet the speech of Dr. Spellman from the University of Washington still stands out in my mind.

Syndicate Take-Over

Dr. Spellman insists that the legislation will drive the LSD into hands of the syndicate. It will help to contribute to the existence of impure LSD and to the increase of the unknown quantities of LSD in the state. It may increase suicide by thwarting any attempt the people using LSD might make to get psychiatric help.

Legislation would help provide an atmosphere of paranoia and other adverse atmospheres in which the drug might be taken. Where possession becomes a criminal matter, the people taking LSD will not seek the help they need when they take a "bad trip." Society would lose all the control it has now in LSD through this adverse legislation, and LSD would be put underground even more than it is now. Crimes of violence against life and property in the state would increase.

All this and more would be the result of legislation against LSD in the state.

Easy To See Effects

I think it is easy to see that in the case of the addictive drugs, legislation against the drug led to almost all the things Dr. Spellman advocated in his speech before the committee.

Certainly there is a problem arising. But, before any rash statements are made, I think we should wait until the legislature has acted, and then see the effects of an LSD law. If the efforts of the legislature are in vain, perhaps another solution to the growing problem will arise and the State of Washington will be better prepared to solve its LSD problem.

College Bills Now Before Legislature

There are six bills concerning community colleges presently before the house and senate in Olympia.

The major differences between HB 486, HB 548, HB 609, SB 276, SB 300, and SB 610 primarily concern the state-level organization, vocational - technical - occupational education, community college, district organization, nominating processes for the local board, election process of the local board, student tuition and fees, bonds for community college construction, and outstanding bonded indebtedness.

HB 486 and SB 276 establish a division for community colleges within the office of the State Supt. of Public Instruction under the State Board of Education while HB 548 and SB 300 authorize a state board of 7 members, appointed by the governor, to employ a director of the state system of community colleges, and give the board general supervision and control over the state system.

Meanwhile, HB 609 and SB 610 authorize a state board for community colleges of 7 members appointed by the governor to employ an executive director to serve as chief administrative officer of the state board, and gives the state board general supervision and control over the state system of community colleges.

All bills create 20 or 21 college districts with a five to seven member board of trustees.

H. B. 486 and SB 276 state that board members are elected from trustee districts within the college district with 6 year terms for the trustees. HB 548 and SB 300 state that the governor appoint board members with trustees serving 5 year terms.

HB 609 and SB 610 provide for initial boards appointed by the governor with subsequent board members to be elected at large from each college district with 4 year terms of office.

The Legislation would repay school districts annually for the amount expended for the payment of interest and principal in retiring bonds issued by the school district for community college purpose in HB 486 and SB 276.

While HB 548 and SB 300 have no provisions for restoring bonding capacity to local school districts, HB 609 and SB 610 propose state bond elections with the proceeds credited to the bond redemption fund of those school districts having outstanding bonds issued by the school district for community college purposes.

College Leaders Attend L.S.D. Hearing

Dr. Melvin Lindbloom, Green River College president, John Jones A.S.B. president, and DeEtte Pravit, "Current" editor, recently attended the public hearing on house bills HB 45, HB 353, HB 467, and HB 536 concerning L.S.D. and other dangerous drugs at the state legislature in Olympia.

Representative Paul Barden hosted a banquet which Dr. Lindbloom, John, and DeEtte attended before the hearing. Following the dinner, Representative Barden's guests joined A.S.B. presidents, editors, and other student representatives from 36 colleges, universities, and high schools throughout Washington, all of which were invited by Republican State Representatives from the various districts to attend the hearing.

Floor Seats

The editors and A.S.B. presidents sat on the floor of the packed house chambers throughout the hearing, and a special news conference was held for the editors afterwards by the House Committee on Public Health and Welfare which held the hearing.

The main issue covered by the 13 witnesses was not the mind expanding possibilities of the use of drugs, but the proposed expansion of the powers of the state Board of Pharmacy.

"The mind expanding properties of L.S.D. present a pharmacological potential never before known," Dr. J. M. Dille told the committee. Dr. Dille, from the University of Washington School of Medicine, said, however, "It is my belief that the indiscriminate distribution and irresponsible use of the group of drugs known as the hallucinogens represent a present and potential danger to society and therefore should come under regulation by the establishment of appropriate laws."

Prefer Federal Regulations

Dr. Audrey B. Halliday, a psychologist, said she preferred the state adopt federal regulations on the matter and grant the pharmacy board powers as a second choice. She was joined in this by Dr. Dille who said he couldn't believe three pharmacists are competent to select drugs that are harmful.

Dr. Halliday opposed setting strict penalties against possession but said, "No therapeutic value has been found in L.S.D. that outweighs its dangers."

A member of the U. of W. history department, Dr. John Spellman, a flamboyant speaker, said he was making a study of 1000 persons in Seattle, Bellingham, and other places who took L.S.D. He said 85 per cent of them reported use of the drug beneficial in some way.

Chet Sprinkle, Seattle detective, said, "Society has created an atmosphere of demand for drugs."

Deputy Chief C. A. Rouse, Seattle Police Department, presented a statement signed by a number of public officials endorsing HB 353 because of "present abuses of hallucinogenic drugs."

Club to Award Scholarships

The management club, under the advisory direction of Mr. R. Passage and Mr. W. Dickson, is, through utilization of their treasury fund, awarding partial scholarships to selected high school students.

In addition, similar scholarships will be awarded to student-freshmen presently attending GRCC.

The club officers and members are now in the process of selling "Who's Who" booklets and "Deca Pocket Calendars" in the upper lounge of the campus in an effort to increase the treasury fund; and thereby are making the awarding of the scholarships possible.

The stipulations involved in the selection of recipients of the scholarships are as follows: Grade point average, participation in Community projects, membership in school and/or community organizations, and lastly, yet primarily, an intentional pursuit of a managerial degree.

Applications should be submitted, in letter form, to either of the advisors.

A personal interview, prior to selection, will proceed following application.

Passage Speaks Before Chamber

Mr. Richard Passage, was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Puyallup Valley Chamber of Commerce on Feb. 13. Economic trends in Retailing was the topic of his speech.

Mr. Passage spoke on the developments toward large size variety-supermarket combinations such as Hi-Ho in Puyallup, and the new development of the Ben Franklin stores of which there will be 200 in 1967.

The expansion of existing chain corporations into new fields such as J. C. Penney's expansion into the insurance and high fashion fields, the recent growth of downtown business districts, and the big changes in discounting in the discount stores as they develop into a general merchandising department store were also main points stressed in Mr. Passage's speech.

Upon concluding his speech, Mr. Passage challenged the Valley businessmen to think young, think growth, and be ready for change.

Student Urges Restrictions

by Bob Petet

Yes, this is America the land in which many dreams have been fulfilled and many prayers answered. We are the leaders of the free nations and the supreme rulers of atomic energy. America has sacrificed many young and gallant soliders to the god of war to make our land free, to give each American today equal and just rights so that we can worship, live, and work as we want. We have a chance to express our feelings and attitudes on the way our government is run and who our leaders will be. Yes, we are Americans, but what are we as individuals contributing to our nation? As it was said by a great man "It's not what your country can do for you but what you can do for your country."

What are you doing for your country as a young American and future leader of a strong nation? You are tomorrow's leaders and you prepare yourselves for this task by going to college not to gain knowledge but to be a leader in all social activities and to be a regular member of the new immorality club. This club's constitution reads: Members are required to have regular attendance at all functions or parties which consist of sexual activities and wild and lewd acts that are spurred on by heavy drinking to build up instant courage and supernatural reflexes.

These freedom fighters battle it out every day for the front page picture in every major newspaper. Their appearance varies from long hair and beards on the male, to tight mini skirts and straight hair on the females. But, this type of apparel does not tell the whole story. The normal looking college student, in fact the person sitting next to you could be one of these happy-go-lucky people.

We are today's students preparing ourselves for tomorrow's leaders. We want to be non-conformists and treated as adults but yet we conform to a group of hell raisers who scare the Mafia. The only interest these sadists have in school is sex, booze and good times before their number is called to serve this country which gives the freedom to live like animals and guarantee them when they are ready to conform to the norms of society they will be accepted and treated as if they had helped our country in growing into a bigger and more flawless nation.

Each of you, with an effort, could place our names back on the role for tomorrow's leaders. Thus ensuring future generations that college is a place to obtain a higher education, not a place to lodge draft dodgers. Ban these maniacs from your groups or change your group to friends that want something out of life besides good times. It's not too late to change your ways. Start petitions around to present to your class representative to ban these immoral beings from filling a chair when some student who wants to get an education to benefit the country could be using it. Your effort today could mean our freedom tomorrow.

Think and act now, tomorrow could be too late.

Soph. Class Looking For Ideas

Sophomore president Steve Hendricks announced today that anyone with an idea as to what the sophomore class could give to the college this year should take his idea to any sophomore class officer.

Also, anyone wanting to help with the sophomore-freshman Semi-formal to be held in April or May should contact any one of the officers.

The other sophomore class officers are vice-president, Jim Grafton; secretary, Sandy Lumburg; and representatives, Ruth Haines and Kathy Morris.

A sophomore class meeting will be held at a later date this quarter, and Steve urges all sophomores to be on the lookout for the posted date and to be at the meeting.

GRCC Club Sponsors Banquet

The annual employer-employee banquet sponsored by the Management Club will be held at Meeker's Landing on April 17.

The purpose of the annual get-together is to honor employers of Green River College students and to create rapport between employers and student employees. An "Employer's of the Year" award will be given as a highlight of the banquet.

Mr. Fred Wilson, management consultant from Boeing Co. will be the guest speaker for the evening. He will speak on the art of listening.

Steak Dinner

Any student at Green River may invite his employer to the banquet which will begin at 7 p.m. for a steak dinner at a cost of $3.50 per person.

Any student who feels his employer should receive the "Employer of the Year" award must submit a one to two page letter to Mr. Richard Passage, management training coordinator, by March 20 telling why he thinks his employer deserves this high honor.

Last year's "Employer of the Year" award went to the employer of Dick Smith who is presently a sophomore at Green River.

Special Guests

Special guests will include 50 local businessmen who have participated in the Management Seminar this quarter and various distinguished state officials and college administrators.

Toastmaster for the evening affair will be Doug Evenson, president of the Management Club.

Pearl Harbor Was Day of Infamy

By John Rienking

Pearl Harbor! Day of infamy, a day which still lives in the mind of a man who was there.

SFC John Conrad, USA (Ret.), sat in the crowded and noisy student center, and told me his story of the attack on Pearl Harbor. John was a Private in those days. "Heck, you couldn't expect to make PFC in less than two or three years."

He was a member of "B" Co. 19th Infantry, "The Rock of Chicamaga".

"I was on sabotage guard duty on Kale Kale Pass, which is about 15 miles from Pearl. That morning we heard a large group of fighter planes flying quite high above us. They were hard to identify because of their altitude and because their engines had Pratt & Whitney engines in them. They sounded just like ours."

"The formation broke up into two parts. Half of the planes bombed Pearl and the other half strafed and bombed Scofield Barracks and Wheeler Field. I lost a buddy at Wheeler Field. He was cut in half by a strafing plane," said John.

"From where we were on duty the attack sounded quite similar to a small earthquake (they had a lot of small earthquakes then), so we didn't suspect an attack. We knew that the Japanese were likely to pull one but we didn't know when. We found out that Pearl and the island had been attacked over our field telephone."

"The announcement said that the Japanese had landed their planes and that their crews were wearing the same type of fatigues as we wore in those days. That report turned out to be untrue.

"Some seven B-17's were flown out to Hickam Field to boost the air strength of the island, but they were forced away from the field by the enemy aircraft. One of the bombers crash-landed on a golf course right next to us. The crew ate supper with us later that evening. Their plane had taken over 700 hits and still flew."

"The captain of the aircraft later told us that they had had armament and guns on-board the bombers but that they had not been issued any ammunition."

"After the attack, the army really fortified the harbor and the islands against another attack. We had put up barbed wire, machine gun nests, and observation posts all over that island."

"Course we couldn't have done too much fighting; we only had 96 rounds of ammunition apiece."

It was really ironic, you know... I was on duty in Japan in 1952. I was working with a Japanese National Policeman when I met a Japanese man who told me that he had been the man who had led the attack on Pearl Harbor!! He said that I probably hated him, but I didn't. Heck, the war's over."

John retired from the Army in April 1965 with over 26 years of active duty. At the time of his retirement he was attached with the 296th Military Police Company, with assigned duty as NCOIC of the Administrative Branch of the Provost Marshal's Office.

"Say, did I ever tell you about my first trip to Pigalle?" No sarge, not this time you didn't."

Little Boy Johnson Is Curiosity Item

A curiosity item among the officials at the Pentagon is one of the most bitter pieces of student satire yet to be spawned by the Viet Nam war. Built around a takeoff on the Gettysburg Address, the piece is called Gettysburg East.

The central character in it is "Little Boy Johnson," grandson of a former President. Little Boy is now the President, the year is 2052 and the war in Viet Nam is still going on.

In a speech at the American military cemetery outside Saigon, the President begins, "Foah score and seven yeahs ago, my grandfather brought forth upon this continent of Asia a new political concept, conceived in expediency and decided to the proposition that we are better dead than Red..."

"We are met on a great battle field of that war, a battlefield where Gen. Ky was overthrown by Gen. Hee; where Gen. Hee was overthrown by Gen. Me, and so forth through the 56 different coups that finally culminated last spring in Gen. Flea's government, which we are now convinced is in a position to bring to this nation the political stability that is so necessary..."

"We have come to dedicate this battle field as a fitting memorial to the light to moderate losses that our forces have sustained over the past 87 years so that my grandfather and his successors could test the theory that the way to bring Hanoi to the peace table was to escalate further."

"It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this, and anyone who thinks otherwise is a Nervous Nellie and probably a traitor besides, and simply helping to prolong the war."

President Little Boy then observes that the world will long note and remember that we did here, "but the world will probably never understand why we did it."

The point is, he says, "we are here. It's too late to pull out now. We are going to stay and escalate."

He concludes with the promise that he will not withdraw, that this nation "shall have a new birth of conformity," and that "government of consensus, by manipulation for the sake of saving face shall not perish from the Earth, although admittedly the population might."

The Current Undertow

New Tax Plan Proposed

By D. Z.

The recent Renaissance Week on the Green River campus proved to be very successful and raised over $300. This fund raising event has given birth to a new idea. With the Governor's new tax program in danger of being amended I have been approached and asked for advice, at first I was stumped but now I am about to unfold a complete new tax program.

I, the Undertow, propose that we abolish taxes altogether. I also suggest that instead we introduce a state wide month in which various elements within the state band together for the sole purpose of raising tax money.

This group shall be known as Green Guard and shall extract funds from the citizens of this area. One of the ways in which we can raise money is to tax all those who work at Boeing $5.00 to park their cars. Another method of arriving at the needed funds to run our state is to sell lemons for 25c each on Thursday - this would be for the Thursday morning lemon suck which would become a weekly event. Another way to profit would be to train monkeys to pick apples and use the saved money to go into the farm program.

Other ideas might include selling bait to the fishermen at Westport and renting chains on the passes.

I suspect that we could raise $4 million annually and that if this program was a real success we could introduce it into the national budget. This plan to raise money would save the taxpayer the trouble of filing 1040's and W-2's and would create a feeling of tranquillity around April.

If the program is successful in the nation we might try to introduce it into the world market, although I suspect we might have trouble selling our idea to the communists and DeGaulle.

I certainly hope you give my proposal serious consideration as I have sent a copy of this off to Olympia and Washington, D.C. I am curious to hear your response to this idea.

Psychology? —

Science Thrives At GRCC

The exploration of the wonders of science thrives undaunted here at GRCC. It seems that neither man nor mouse is exempted from exposure to the protruding probing eye of science.

Upon wandering into the Journalism room, for instance, which oddly enough seems to be the Psychiatric Cape Canaveral on campus at present, one might find a variety of species of the rodent family, augmented with any number of psychology students, all eagerly competing to illustrate their particular perceptual abilities in solving contrived, hypothetical problems under controlled conditions.

Eliminating some of the professional jargon, this means simply that the students are looking at pictures extracted from all sorts of periodicals ranging from Newsweek to Playboy while cameras and various other scientific paraphernalia are calibrating and evaluating their responses.

Perform Tasks

Or, in the case of the lower animals, the rats, guinea pigs, and rabbits are competing with each other in performing tasks such as pushing on a metal bar within a cage, which thereby gratifies them with some delectable morsel of rodent food, or whatever else might be present, such as bird seed and Grapenut Flakes.

Dizzy D.Z.

By Danny Zivanich

'Mag Seven' Excel

The end of the basketball season is almost here and many editorials have been written about student participation, the high scorers, high rebounders, and other starting members of the game. Little has been said about an elite group — that group is the Magnificent Seven.

The Mag Seven is also known as the "bench squad." This group consists of Steve Powell, Larry Gatter, Randy Rogers, Terry Beckler, Daryl May, Dave Olson, and Jim Linford.

Turn Out Faithfully

The Mag Seven are the players who turn out every night fully aware that they are not going to see very much action, let alone start; but nevertheless, they are at every practice and game.

At practice they run all the drills and try to help the starting unit. They are called the "Whites" at turnout and are forced to compete with the "Greens."

At times they can be heard mumbling about the starters and the unfairness of the coach. But one must remember that this is the only consolation these players have. They really don't mean what they say or they would quit turning out.

Relieve Tired Players

In the games they spend their time on the bench cheering the "Fighting Five" on. Once in awhile the coach will beckon one of the Seven to relieve a tired player or to replace a member who has fouled out.

The substitute will go into the game tighter than a soldier on his first mission. He knows that if he hopes to remain in he must play superb ball and that the other players lack the confidence in him that they hold for the starters. He tries to run the patterns, feed the man under the basket, and hustle on defense.

His friends will make jokes about his not being able to play, they will ask him why he continues to turn out, and they will harass him when does get to play.

Melt into Shadows

When the season is over these players will melt back into the shadows of the starters' limelight. They will not be mentioned in the post-season press releases and they will not be nominated for All-Conference mentionings.

What they will have is the satisfaction of knowing that they didn't quit just because they couldn't start. They will also know that the Starting Five could not have done a thing without their aid and support.

Armed with this knowledge, we salute the Magnificent Seven.

Gator prediction comes true as the basketballers trounced Skagit Valley, 82-54.

Taking the sign to heart, Dave Borden lays up two of his 22 point production to lead the Gators to a 82-54 upset over high-ranked Skagit Valley.

Gators Upset Skagit

Tonight the Gators will seek to put Tacoma in the cellar of the Northern Division. The Green River five are seeking to win their fourth game of the season after they dropped a game to Highline Wednesday night 91-60.

The Gators went into the game fresh from an upset victory over Skagit Valley. Unfortunately the Gators could not play the brand of ball they played against Skagit as Highline completely outclassed the hapless cagers.

Monday night the Green River Gators tarred and defeathered Skagit Valley 82-54. The Cardinals went into the game seeking a first place tie and came out completely humbled and defeated.

Dave Borden, the "Orting Whiz", pumped in 22 points to lead the Gators to their third win of the season. Mitch Adams led the losers with 19 points.

The Gators trailed only once at 3-2 with 18:06 left in the opening period. After a burst by the Gators, the Cards suddenly found themselves down 13-3. Adams then rallied the visitors to within four points before the tight Gator defense put a lid over the basket. This, coupled with hot hands by Borden and Vern Hoffer, enabled the Green River cager to lead 33-26 at half-time.

The Gators ripped out of the locker rooms and almost seared off their net with a flurry of points. The Skagit squad threw a variety of defenses at the attackers but the GRCC five refused to falter.

This was undoubtedly the Gators finest effort as they were superb on both defense and offense. Greg Brovold and Steve Powell grabbed 11 rebounds to give the Gators control of the Boards.

Gator Scoring: Brovold, 15; Hoffer, 17; Powell, 1; Borden, 22; Sloan, 13; Rogers, 2; Gatter, 2.

Rick Ancheta layed 20 eggs to lead the T-Birds to their win. Greg Brovold led the losers with 17 points.

Highline only trailed once — with 18:45 left in the first half the score was 4-2.

After that it was all T-Birds as they literally flew over the sluggish Gators.

By the end of the opening period the Gators were behind 51-28.

The second half found Harold Ross and Ancheta again leading the Birds over the Green River squad. But even trailing by 30 points the game Gators refused to let down and continued to battle Highline down to the final buzzer.

Gator Scoring: Borden, 5; Sloan, 6; Brovold, 17; Hoffer, 10; Boyett, 10; Rogers, 2; Gatter, 4; Powell, 6.

Gator coach Bob Aubert insists he never really doubted that Green River could beat Skagit Valley.

Wrestlers Stretch Streak To Two

GRCC's next conference match will be tonight at Grays Harbor. This is to be the last match before the State Tournament. That is to be held February 24 at Big Bend College in Moses Lake.

Green River's continually improving wrestlers scored a decisive win over Centralia College Friday, Feb. 3. The Gator grapplers followed this with a squeaker over an excellent team from Clark College Feb. 10.

GREEN RIVER 33 CENTRALIA 11

- 123 Walt Pedeferri (GR) pinned Breckenridge (1:42)
- 130 Dick Presley (GR) pinned Anderson (5:56)
- 137 Gary Baird (GR) won by forfeit

- 152 Arland Hagadorn (GR) was decisioned by Frazier, 3-5

- 160 Dave Bartlett (GR) was decisioned by Riffe, 2-8
- 167 Anthony (C) won by forfeit
- 177 Jim Olson (GR) won by forfeit
- 191 Don Edwards (GR) pinned Bowler (4:56)
- HVY Mick Gillispie (GR) decisioned Hilleary, 6-4

GREEN RIVER 19 CLARK 17

- 123 Walt Pedeferri (GR) decisioned Mike West, 6-0
- 130 Dick Presley (GR) was decisioned by Del Lee, 2-10
- 137 Gary Baird (GR) won by forfeit
- 145 John Pedeferri (GR) decisioned Jay Demme, 2-0
- 152 Arland Hagadorn (GR) was decisioned by Jock Demme, 8-12

- 160 Dave Bartlett (GR) decisioned Bruce Claiborne, 8-6
- 167 Jim Olson (GR) was decisioned by Dalton Hatcher, 0-4

- 177 Don Edwards (GR) pinned Gary Wiser (7:30)
- 191 Fred Fulmer (C) won by forfeit
- HVY Mick Gillispie (GR) was decisioned by Jim Gren-dahl, 2-3

Brovold Leads All Gators In Statistics

This is the first year of conference basketball at Green River College so the records set this year will be the marks for future Gators to shoot at. If the rest of the season goes like the first 16 games, Greg Brovold will completely dominate those Green River basketball record books.

Brovold, a freshman from Enumclaw who last year led the Puget Sound League in scoring, leads Green River in total points, most field goals, most foul shots, most attempts from the foul line, field goal shooting percentage, Brovold has made 111 field rebounds, and he has even committed the most personal fouls.

Greg trails in only two departments: Dave Borden has a better percentage at the foul line and Vern Hoffer has taken a few more shots from the field. But in the 82 attempts for 87 percent; Hoffer is much less impressive with one else on the team is even a serious challenger.

310 Total Points

Brovold has 310 total points, Hoffer 254, and Borden has 209. This is really the big three in all points per game and is one of departments.

the league's top five scorers. Hoffer has a 15.87 point average and Borden has a 13.0 point per game performance.

In the rebound department, not even 7-foot Steve Powell competes with Brovold (who is 6-5). Brovold had taken 236 rebounds off the boards compared to 111 by Jack Boyett and 98 by Hoffer. Powell is fourth on the team with 79.

Brovold has committed 64 personal fouls; Boyett 49; and Borden 47.

Grapplers State Bound

WRESTLER TEAM — Members of the wrestling team at Green River include: (standing), Coach Doug Carr, Don Edwards, Carl Kohl, Mick Gillispie, and Ken Marshall; (kneeling), Walt Pederfferi, Rich Presly, John Pederfferi, and Dave Bartlett.

State Tournament Slated Next Week

Tonight the Green River Gator wrestling squad will travel to Grays Harbor where they hope to strangle the Chokers for their third straight win and their fourth win of the season. The Gators are currently riding a two match winning streak after defeating Central 33-11 and Clark 19-17.

This will be the last match of the season before the state tournament which will be held in Moses Lake on February 24. Big Bend College will be the host school for the event.

The Gators hope to go into the tournament with a 4-10 record. Although the Gators have done rather badly in the season they have done exceptionally well in tournaments. At the Grays Harbor Invitational they placed fourth and then went on to place sixth in the University of Washington Invitational.

The Gator line up for the state tournament will be:

Wt.
123	Walt Pedferri
130	Dick Presley
137	Gary Baird
145	John Pedferri
152	Arland Hagadorn
160	Dave Bartlett
167	Don Edwards
177	Jim Olson
191	Mick Gillispie
	HVY Forfeit

Gator coach Doug Carr singled out Walt and John Pedferri, Dick Presley, Don Edwards, and Mick Gillispie as the serious contenders for tournament honors.

When asked how he felt about this years grapplers Coach Carr answered, "We haven't won many matches but we go out there to wrestle."

Dr. Jones To Attend D.C. Meeting

Dr. Emlyn Jones will fly to Washington D.C. March 16 to attend the meeting of the Nominating Committee for the National Council of the Social Studies.

The duty of the committee is to chose candidates for the top offices of president elect, vice-president, and three members of the Board of Directors, the top policy making group for the council made up of a total of 16 members, to serve for three years.

Members Appointed

The committee members are appointed by the president for three years. Two members come from the West-Coast, two from the Mid-Coast, and two from the East. These persons are selected because they know what is going on in social studies, they have been active in the Council in the past, and they would provide the necessary leadership for the Council.

In 1961 Dr. Jones was President of the National Council. He was a member of the Board of Directors for nine years, and he was the first man to be elected from the West Coast.

Began In 1931

The National Council for the Social Studies was started in 1931. It is composed of elementary, secondary, and college teachers in the fields of geography, history, government, anthropology and sociology.

Usually there are about 3,000 teachers who attend the forum. There will be displays of the latest text books, films, maps and equipment needed in the social studies.

Those who attend will be able to hear speakers giving reports on the most effective methods of teaching, and results of research in their field.

This is the largest organization having to do with the Social Sciences in the nation.

Gators Don Ferguson and Larry Knipschield join Auburn High's Chris Walker for a dip prior to a Gator swim meet.

Swimmers All Wet

This year marked the second year of competition for the Gator swimmers. The Gators finished the season with a 0-5 record. The Gators lost to Everett J.C. twice, and were defeated by Mt. Tahoma, Lakeside, and Auburn high schools.

The Gators were coached by Mr. Jim Farrell who also coached the Auburn High School swim team.

Competing for the Gators were:
Dennis Dole — Free sprints
Don Ferguson — 200 yd. free style
John Jones — 400 yd. free style
Jim Bemis — 100 yd. backstroke
Greg Williams — diving and 100 yd. free style
Larry Knipschield — 100 breast-stroke
Jim Fair — 100 yd. backstroke

Dennis Dole proved to be the most successful Gator swimmer as he won the 50 free against Mt. Tahoma and Auburn, the 100 free against Everett and Auburn, and the 200 individual medley against Auburn.

The Gators will boast six re- turning lettermen next year as all but John Jones are freshmen. This will add definite strength to Coach Farrell's team.

Students Urged To Take Tests

The chief of the State Selective Service System Tuesday urged graduating high school seniors and college students who have not done so to take the College Qualification Tests soon.

The tests, used by draft boards to determine whether students should be considered for deferments, have proved invaluable, Navy Captain Chester J. Chastek said.

The tests will be offered in Washington March 11, March 31, and April 8.

Circle K Floods Florence Green

Basketball game? No, turtle race!

Raiders Collect Taxes

The Renaissance Raiders, Circle K Club members, made the college campus their stomping grounds for an entire week as they collected taxes from the students at Green River for unGRCC-like actions.

Among the fund-raising activities were included: Stopping cars going to and from the parking lots, charging restroom privileges, selling pickles, and assessing taxes on anyone in sight.

Have a pickle, Dean Norman.

Is that you, D.Z.?

Dr. Luther Jerstad drew a packed house as he spoke to students and faculty alike in the library on the Friday of the Renaissance Week. He spoke of his adventures on his way to the top of the highest mountain in the world, Mr. Everest, in the American ascent. He also showed slides of the perilous climb to the summit, and he gave a magnificent speech about the troubles and good times he had. Many Green River students commented afterwards that Dr. Jerstad was one of the most fascinating, interesting, and well-versed speakers they had ever listened to.

A huge crowd gathered in the upper lounge for the much publicized turtle race in which 14 entrants vied for the coveted "500" Classic Cup and the title of 1967 Turtle Race Champion.

Turtle Race Electronics' "Philo" Wins Classic Cup

Philo, the superlative running turtle sponsored by electronics won the coveted Green River "500" Classic Cup with little competition from the other entrants. Several experts stated that they felt Philo would have shattered the world's indoor record if he would have been pushed at all.

Putt-Putt, the ten-to-one pre-race favorite, found the going tough on the domed indoor track at Green River, and was eliminated in the first round by the secretaries.

Argo Places Second

Argo, often referred to as the grand old man of turtle racing, sponsored by the Ski Club, did a tremendous job as expected and easily walked off with second place.

Following Argo was Yancy Emerson, a hi-bred turtle from the San Francisco area, in third place, while Fenton of the Green Guard, and Latsie of the Deserets tied for fourth spot.

Local Favorite

Though a local favorite, Putt Putt, who had just recently been selected as racing turtle of the month by the World Turtle Racing Association, finished a dismal 12th out of a field of 14.

Her sponsors, the "Current" staff, saw her real beauty in her lady-like manners and good sportsmanship, and entered her in the Circle K Sweetheart contest. However, only the winner's name will be announced in the contest, and Putt-Putt's final position in the contest may never be learned.

Professor Proposes Giving Free A's To Beat Draft Pressure

A Columbia University professor has proposed that all male students receive an A in courses in order to beat the draft, the Falcon Times, Miami-Dade Junior College, noted in an editorial.

The Falcon Times said that Seymour Melman urged all faculty members to intensify their teaching efforts to permit students to "earn" A grades, citing the illegal nature of the war in Vietnam as justification for refusing to comply with Selective Service policies. The newspaper continued:

Melman's statement was soundly rebuffed by other faculty members, who reasoned that a college or university shouldn't foul up its educational system to elude government orders.

We are in complete agreement with those faculty members, the newspaper continued, that a letter grade, in both war and peace, should be earned rather than given away. A grade that is not earned hurts the school, the teacher, the public and, most of all, the student himself.

The school is hurt when a graduate applies for a job and is turned down because he isn't qualified, despite an impressive academic record. The teacher's integrity suffers when he gives out the grade; the ability to evaluate a student's work is questioned.

Society suffers when an institution turns out a student who has floated through college without any real effort. But the student suffers the most; he has spent his money or his parents' money on an education he never received.

Examining produce in an open-air marketplace in Lisbon is one way to broaden one's knowledge of the ways of the Portuguese people. These girls found exploring the markets of cities around the world a relaxing change from studies undertaken during a semester at sea on Chapman College's floating campus—now called World Campus Afloat.

Alzada Knickerbocker of Knoxville, Tennessee,—in the plaid dress—returned from the study-travel semester to complete her senior year in English at Radcliffe College.

Jan Knippers of Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, a graduate of the University of Tennessee, and a former Peace Corps Volunteer, first pursued graduate studies in International Relations and returned a second semester as a teaching assistant in Spanish on the world-circling campus.

Students live and attend regular classes aboard the s.s. RYNDAM, owned by the ECL Shipping Co. of Bremen for which the Holland-America Line acts as general passenger agent. In-port activities are arranged to supplement courses taught aboard ship.

As you read this, the spring semester voyage of discovery is carrying 450 undergraduate and graduate students through the Panama Canal to call at ports in Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Nigeria, Senegal, Morocco, Spain, Portugal, The Netherlands, Denmark and Great Britain, returning to New York May 25.

Next fall World Campus Afloat—Chapman College will take another 500 students around the world from New York to Los Angeles and in the spring, a new student body will journey from Los Angeles to ports on both west and east coasts of South America, in western and northern Europe and as far east as Leningrad before returning to New York.

For a catalog describing how you can include a semester aboard the RYNDAM in your educational plans, fill in the information below and mail.
