Vol. II - No. 7

January 20, 1967

Green River College, Auburn, Washington

Formal Slated Jan. 28

"Nuit D'Amour," this year's semi-formal dinner-dance, is to be held Saturday, Jan. 28, at the Edgewater Inn. The "Night of Love" dance committee is being headed by Mary Thomas. Assisting her on the committee are: decorations, Doris Beck; band, Jim Fair; programs and chaperones, Danny Zivanich; publicity, Ruth Haines; and clean-up, Casey Shiprek.

The evening's festivities will include dinner from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and dancing from 9:30 p.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Dinner includes: starter, entree, AuJus; potato, dessert, relishes, garden vegetables, rolls, butter, and coffee.

Music for the evening's dancing will be provided by the well-known Burke Garrett and His Orchestra. Pictures, two wallet sized, and two 4x5 colored pictures with covers are included in the price of the tickets which is $15.00 per couple.

The chaperones for the evening are: Mr. and Mrs. Nigel Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Ry, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Vincent, and honored guest, college president Mr. Melvin Lindbloom and his wife. Because of his many contributions to the Green River Student Body, Mr. Earl Norman and his wife have been invited to the dance as special guests of the student body.

Honor Roll -

Eleven Students Receive A's

Eleven students have received a 4.0 grade point average for the fall quarter of 1966 and have been placed on the High Honors List. Those who received High Honors are: Jerry W. Caban, Karen J. Christensen, Ellen M. Ericksen, Maeona M. Fitch, James F. Green, Gary P. Holm, Marion I. Kling, John H. Melton, Melvin L. Michael, Joann L. Peterson, and William C. Strang. All were full time students.

Honors going to those with a 3.0 grade point average or better are: Thomas C. Absher, Linda Aga, James T. Anderson, Mary R. Aney, Charles E. Anson, Colleen R. Babb, Gerald F. Baker, Norman W. Bartoo, Glenn D. Bearson, Doris E. Beck, Robert G. Bieker, Lynn E. Blomberg.

DeEtte Pravitz Named Editor

DeEtte Pravitz, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Pravitz of 216 Bowlin Street in Orting, has been named editor of the Green River College school paper, the Current.

Miss Pravitz, a 1966 graduate of Orting High School, was managing editor of the Cardinal News in high school. She was also a member of the Regal Flames chapter of the honor society.

Outside of school, Miss Pravitz is active in the International Order of Rainbow, currently serving as Grand Page to the Supreme Inspector in Washington and Idaho. The pretty Green River freshman is also the Chapter Sweetheart to a Demolay Chapter in Australia.

She is majoring in education and plans to teach math or business in high school following graduation. She is tentatively planning to attend Eastern Washington State College in Cheney following completion of two years at Green River.

KING-TV Features Instructors

Four Green River College instructors will be featured Sunday at 9:30 to 10:00 a.m. on KING-TV's Community Workshop as they discuss the comprehensive community college.

The instructors are: Arthur Binnie, chairman of the college's vocational technical program; Vern Loland, chairman of the humanities department; Miss Sandra Gallaher, counseling; and William Taylor, director of the evening classes; will answer questions asked by Mrs. Elizabeth Wright Evans, producer of the program who will moderate the panel.

The comprehensive community college is a topic of chief concern to legislators this session who must decide whether academic and vocational programs on the college level can best be combined in the community college or whether they should function as separate programs.

Ray Needham, dean of instruction at the college, has been serving as an advisor to the panel in preliminary discussions concerning the comprehensive program offered at Green River.

Questions on the program will concern defining the comprehensive college, the practicality of such a program, the need, the compatibility of academic and vocational programs and staff, types of programs offered, and community service.

No Refund Given After Tuesday

The last day to withdraw from your present schedule and receive any reimbursement is Jan. 24. If you withdraw before this date, you will receive a 50% refund, and a "W" will be recorded on your grade record.

After this date and up to two weeks before termination of the quarter, you may withdraw with a "wp", or "wf", (passing or failing, respectively) on your record, and receive no refund. There will be no withdrawal from classes after two weeks before quarter termination.

Idaho Scientist To Speak Friday

Dr. Malcolm Renfrew, head of the Department of Physical Sciences at the University of Idaho, will be a guest on the Green River College campus in Auburn, Friday, January 27.

Dr. Renfrew will meet with Green River science instructors, talk to various classes, and speak to a general assembly of the student body during his one-day stay in south King County. He will also visit Highline College during this stay.

Dr. Renfrew started teaching at Idaho in 1932 as a teaching fellow after completion of his bachelor of science degree that year. He received his master's degree from Idaho in 1934 and his doctorate from Minnesota in 1938.

He has taught and served as a research chemist since 1932, working for DuPont, Essex Co., General Mills, and Spencer Kellogg. He has been professor of chemistry and head of the Department of Physical Sciences at the University of Idaho since 1959.

He has published numerous articles in his field and is an active member of various professional societies such as the American Chemical Society.

Are the Scales Balanced

Guest Editorial

Students Should Make Balance Between Studies, Activities

As we returned to school this quarter we learned that three student body officers might not be eligible for office because of academic difficulties.

Who failed? The students, the program, or the system?

Here are three possible answers and why these answers must be rejected:

1. The standards are too high. A student has to maintain only a 2.0 average and we'll admit it's higher than the standard demanded to stay on the basketball team, but we're talking about the leaders of our student government. Shouldn't the standard be high, or even higher?

2. We elected "stupid" leaders. Ridiculous! The three people involved have proved in the past they can perform in the classroom or any place they apply themselves. They definitely have the academic capability required of student leaders.

3. Extra-curricular activities such as student government are too demanding. This answer is perhaps closest to the truth, but the officers knew the demands when they were nominated last spring.

The answer is that they failed to achieve an effective balance between the demands of student government and the demands of the classroom. And this is a failing of many of our student body who should perhaps benefit from the experience of these three disappointed people.

Balance is a vital part of adjusting to our society. A student who loses himself in books and fails to see the other values of college has failed just as much as the student who loses himself in activities. His failure doesn't make headlines, however.

His failure is criticized as apathy — that most effective opponent to school spirit.

The student who pays too much attention to any one area — classes; activities, part-time work, as off-campus socializing — is neglecting part of his education and is failing to take full advantage of college.

Our suggestion: Join us in making a belated New Year's Resolution to apply this experience to our lives and try to achieve a better balance in all we do. — Edgar E. Eaton.

GRCC Challenges Worldly Women

By Ron Melchior

GRCC Campus, better known as the play-ground of the International set, and domestic Rivera of the Northwest does, in fact, constitute a rather noticeable sector of the most ravishing, voluptuous, worldly women of this era. This well-known and established fact has here-by been challenged, and this challenge has been relayed to you, the female population.

The United States has been aware of our stature for an innumerable number of years, but it is now necessary to let our victory cry resound throughout the steeples, streets, and shelters encompassing this apparently sceptical world of ours.

Ladies, ask not what GRCC can do for you; but, what you can do for GRCC.

On a more serious note, contestants for the title of Miss Auburn will be observed according to their personality, poise, intelligence, and talent. Any student (female perferably) can qualify for entry regardless of place of residence. There is, however, an age stipulation. Contestants must be 18 by 1 Aug. 67, and not beyond the age of 28, by 1 Aug. 68.

Board To Vacate

Student Council Offices

Three new student council officers will be appointed by the G.R.C.C. Executive Board on Wednesday, Jan. 24.

Upon recommendation of the Advisory Board, the Executive Board handed down a 3-1 decision, after a three hour debate Wednesday, to vacate the offices of vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

The present officers failed to maintain the necessary 2.0 grade point average for the fall quarter.

G.R.C.C. To Vote

All registered voters at Green River College will vote on the following amendment to the constitution on Wednesday, Jan. 24. Amend Article VI, section 1, letter D. "have maintained at least a 2.0 grade point average each quarter during their term of office."

Why Cigarettes Aren't Sold

Dear Editor:

Many persons are wondering why there is no place to purchase cigarettes on the Green River Campus.

The question of cigarette sales on campus was brought to, debated upon, and decided against by the administration. Because there are so many students on campus under the legal smoking age, the administration felt it would be of poor judgement to promote cigarettes through sales.

The administration pointed out, however, that this action was in no way an attempt to control smoking among the students. H.A.R.

Homework Copying Becomes Easy Now

The age-old statement made by students of "let me copy your homework" will soon become a simple matter of a ten-cent investment and thirty seconds of time. The Library will shortly have available to students a photocopying machine which will enable the students to obtain copies of needed library materials at minimal cost.

Over the Christmas holidays the library staff completely rearranged the bookshelves and made available to the students and faculty a vastly improved selection of reference materials including a large number of new books and a greatly expanded number of bound and unbound periodicals.

The card catalog, which some students had previously found complex, has now been separated into several sections, namely: a subject catalog and an author-title catalog.

Mr. Orval Hansen, librarian, has stated that evening division students have the same library privileges as the regular day students. Evening students are required to show some sort of identification when checking out library books.

A.A.E.S. Sponsors Annual Workshop

Approximately 375 secretaries are invited to Auburn tomorrow for an annual workshop being hosted by the Auburn Association of Educational Secretaries.

Sessions following a space age theme will begin at 9 a.m. at Auburn High School (after general session and opening) and continue until 4 p.m., according to Mrs. Florence Shinn, chairman of the workshop. Mrs. Diane Ryan, secretary to Ray Needham, is president of the Auburn local.

Workshop sessions will be conducted by Darrell Sharrard, a teacher at Olympic Junior High; Mrs. Elizabeth Leonard, director of a Seattle charm and modeling school; and Howard Fryett, Stephen Sauers, and Miss Geraldine Mertz, Green River College instructors.

"Technological Horizons in Office Machines" will be discussed by Mr. Fryett, director of business administration at the college. He will talk about new machines and developments in the field of secretarial science.

Mr. Sauers and Miss Mertz will conduct a session on "Skills for a World of Work."

A highlight of the conference will be an address by Mrs. Juan Huseby, president-elect of the National Association of Educational Secretaries, who will give a "message for the future" entitled, "NAES Lights Your Way." Mrs. Huseby is administrative assistant for the Auburn School District.

Douglas To Speak At Highline College

Justice William O. Douglas, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, will be speaker on the Highline College campus at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, January 22. The community is invited to attend this event, one in the Artist Lecture Series. The program will also be the opening for the Kan-E-Yas-O Week, the campus mid-winter festival.

With the topic, "The Supreme Court in American History," Justice Douglas will lecture for 60 minutes and then allow questions and answers.

EARL NORMAN

Dean Earl Norman Nominated for Man of the Year

Earl Norman, Dean of Students, is one of six men nominated for Auburn's 1966 Man of the Year who will be named to-night at a Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Dean Norman is the first Green River College representative ever nominated for the honor.

Also being considered are Ken Schoenfeld, Ron Swift, Ernie Bailey, Dan Simmons, and Pat Gailey.

Council Suggests Changes

That a petition should be sent to the dean of students, Mr. Earl Norman, to remind all faculty members that classes dismiss at ten minutes to the hour was a resolution passed by the Student Council on Jan. 11.

A petition to reveal student support for the right to use the student's own intercom system was also suggested.

The idea that during the ten minutes between classes the bulletin might be read and any other news might be stated was recommended. Thus, communications between student, student government, and faculty might be closer.

'Youth' Memberships In YMCA Available To College Students

Gordon Dick, director of the Auburn YMCA, announced today that college students are eligible for "youth" memberships at the "Y", even though they are also eligible for all of the "Y" adult-only swim periods.

The local YMCA pool has recreation swimming (open to all ages) daily, a special Wednesday 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. time period for college-age swimmers, and Tuesday and Thursday sessions, 9:30 to 10:30 p.m., for adults only.

A youth membership to the "Y" is $17.50. More information is available at Mr. Dick's office, TE 3-2770.

The Current Undertow Rise and Fall of DeGall

By D. Z.

Over the Christmas holiday I spent my vacation in an obscure hamlet known as Meditaonia. While there I was again fortunate enough to meet Mr. Hugh Manety. It had been nearly a year since I'd had the pleasure of his company. The last time we met he had related his adventures on the Isle of Extermination, and this time he had another exciting adventure to relate.

His adventure began after our last meeting. Upon leaving me he had proceeded to an airport and boarded a private plane bound for Europa. His exact destination on this continent was the country of Franks, a seafaring nation with a long history and proud tradition. During the last great war, in which Franks defeated Germia, a general named Charels DeGall rose to power.

World Power

Mr. Manety then further explained, "Mr. DeGall had visions of restoring Franks to her position as a world power." I flew to Franks at his request. He offered me the job of chief advisor to the cabinet. At first I consented, but after a few weeks I realized that DeGall was a man living in the past and I resigned. I would have left then except my curiosity got the better of me and I decided to remain and see if he would be successful.

At this point Mr. Manety sipped his Cognac and relit his pipe and after several puffs he continued, "The first thing DeGall did was to form a Common Mart. This was an excellent idea except he wanted Franks to completely dominate the Mart. Then he proceeded to worsen relations with his two strongest allies, Britland and Usa; to further complicate his foreign policy he began to support Russoviet and Bloodchina, both of which had been enemies for years. Abroad he was gaining a reputation as a senile old man, but his propaganda ministry convinced the Frankians that he was a glorious leader and he soon became known as the Big Frankfurter."

DeGall's Greatness

At this point we were interrupted by the waiter. Mr. Manety ordered a bottle of Port before continuing. "Soon the walls of Pars, the Franks capital, were covered with posters proclaiming the greatness of the Big Frankfurter. At this point it appeared that his plans were on the verge of success."

Becoming impatient I interrupted and urged him to speed on. He smiled, tapped his pipe on the edge of the ashtray, and then explained, "His plans failed as they were destined to; you see it is the misfortune, or fortune, of all those who desire the world as their empire he failed. Discontent soon spread throughout the land and his absolute control began to dwindle."

Puzzled I asked, "If he had such a good propaganda ministry, how could he fail?"

Why Did He Fail?

His hands were busy with pipe and pipe cleaner as he replied; "He failed because he did not heed a warning issued by one of the statesmen many years ago, 'You can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time.' The Frankians realized that DeGall's road led not to glory but to destruction. Discontent was so high when I left that he was no longer called the Big Frankfurter but the Little Wiener."

Mr. Manety rose and began walking toward the garden, lighting his pipe as he walked. When the flickering match died, Mr. Manety was engulfed in the darkness of the night.

As I write this tale, I cannot help but wonder what new adventures are in store for Mr. Hugh Manety — only time and he will tell.

By Danny Zivanich

This year marks the first year that Green River has officially entered teams in the community college league. The predominant sport on campus is basketball with track, wrestling, and swimming being secondary.

Turning our attention to basketball we find that the Gators are living up to the axiom that first year teams are losers, with a 1-9 record. A closer scrutiny then shows that the Gators have played a tough schedule, playing Seattle Pacific and University of Puget Sound Frosh teams. Another look shows that Tacoma Community College is the only other league team faced with the dismal prospect of playing teams which have not only experience in playing together but greater bench depth.

After last Friday's loss to Tacoma, 72-67, cheerleader Kathie Pekie said concerning Titan School spirit, "Tacoma deserved to win because they had spirit from the kids, and they tried harder."

Realizing that Kathy was right about the lack of student attendance at the games we must ask ourselves. Why? A vicious circle exists. Students won't go to the games until the Gators begin to win and the Gators need the support to win. The cheer staff is responsible for the ideas to induce students to the games; the fault does not lie with the team.

As for the team not trying, a school could never hope for a more dedicated group of players as Green River possesses. Sure the record shows they are losers, but they come back every week and fight like winners.

Each one of them, Vern Hoffer, Dave Borden, Greg Brovold, Roger Sloan, Jack Boyett, Larry Gatter, Randy Rogers, Dave Olson, Terry Beckler, and Steve Powell have shown that Green River is only a year away from being a serious contender.

Besides having a dedicated team, Green River is fortunate to have two able coaches in Mr. Bob Aubert and Mr. Nigel Adams. One tribute to their ability is the improvement which has taken place in Steve Powell. After a poor start, Steve has come alive and scored 19 points against Shoreline and 13 points against Highline.

A suggestion to the students might be that before the student complains about our "rotten team" or ranks Powell, Hoffer, Borden, Gatter or the rest, he might attend the next home game and try to support the Gators. It may be hard to support a loser, but remember that only rats desert a sinking ship without trying to save it.

Gillespie Wins, But Gators Lose

Skagit Valley's Cardinals scored a 28-15 victory over Green River's wrestlers Wednesday at Mt. Vernon.

Mick Gillispie, wrestling in the 191-pound division, pinned his opponent for the Gators' only win, other than two victories by forfeit.

Since the wrestling schedule is set up on a different basis than basketball, it was a non-league event for the Gators. Tonight they return to conference competition by traveling to Longview to meet Lower Columbia's Red Devils. The Gators lone win of the season was against Lower Columbia here earlier in the year.

Waldron Heads W.A.A. Region

Mr. Rex W. Waldron, chairman of the Division of Art, has been appointed Regional Director of the Washington Art Association.

Mr. Waldron explained that the association will study and recommend to the State Board of Education several plans by which additional studies in the Art field could be instituted on the elementary and secondary school levels.

Quarterly Available

Ralph Rosencrans, editor of the forthcoming student quarterly, has announced that due to printing difficulties in the color processes the quarterly will not be available on the date originally planned.

The quarterlies will be available "anytime" after today.

FACULTY GAME — Bill Taylor, flashy guard for the Faculty's "Six Iron Men," whipped the ball to a teammate in the faculty-student game last week. The faculty, playing with only six men, won, 29-23. Coach Emyln Jones labeled his stalwarts (who failed to defeat the students in two games last year) his "Six Iron Men."

Faculty Outclass Student Upstarts

Proving that the English Department is not to be reckoned with, Mr. Vern Loland pumped in 13 points and sparked the Faculty All-Stars to a 29-23 upset over the Student Studs.

The students seemed to be keying on Mr. Nigel Adams, who failed to live up to scoring expectations. This enabled Loland to work himself free under the basket for easy lay-ups while Adams controlled the backboards in getting rebounds.

One of the more unusual calls of basketball history was made by referee Mr. Richard Passage.

With 53 seconds remaining to play, Santorno deliberately fouled Dr. Melvin Lindbloom. Referee Passage then evicted Santorno from the game, did not give Lindbloom the foul shots, and decreed that the Studs must finish the game with only four men on the floor.

Faculty scoring: Lindbloom, 5; Loland, 13; Norman, 2; Adams 7; Nelson, 2; Taylor.

Stud scoring: Mettler, 2; Siverts, 6; Staples, 2; Dorn, 7; Santorno, 4; Zivanich, 2; Bertram; Ferguson, Baker, Weickle, Petit, Almos, Knipschield.

Team Record Shows Recovery

Since the last edition of the Current the Green River Gators have lost six of the last seven games.

Sparked by Bill Owen, the Seattle Pacific Frosh flew by the Gators, 91-75. Owen led the Falcon attack with 32 points. Greg Brovold led the Gator scoring with 23, Vern Hoffer hit for 20, and Dave Borden had one of his better nights hitting for 21.

Two nights later the Gators took the term "Dead Week" literally and scored only nine field goals in losing to the University of Puget Sound Frosh, 65-49.

The next game saw the Gators recover against Tacoma Community College, dropping the Titans 92-73 for the only Gator win of the season.

The Gators then took their one game win streak to Everett where the Trojans proved to be very rude hosts as they snapped the streak, winning 92-66.

The first game of the 1967 year was played with snow on the ground but the Gators found the Shoreline Samurai hot and lost, 72-67.

Everett Scores Easy Win

Green River was unable to take advantage of an 11-1 lead and lost its seventh league game to Everett, 84-51. The Trojans, who lead the league, were cold for the first five minutes of the contest scoring only on a free throw by Dick French. The Gators jumped to the lead on baskets by Greg Brovold and Dave Borden. Brovold finished the night with 21 points to lead all scorers.

The Trojans finally got untracked with quick baskets by Howard Clark, Ron Fife and Mike McGrath. With 11:27 remaining in the first half Clark scored to give the Trojans a 14-13 lead.

The Trojans then opened the gap to four points before the Gators finally began to hit. Both teams exchanged baskets for the next six minutes. Shortly before the end of the first half the Trojans went into a full-court press, the result being a 33-22 half-time lead.

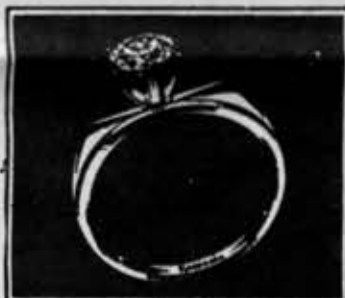

Vern Hoffer started the Gator attack in the opening minutes of the second half with a quick bucket. But McGrath, who finished with 19 points, kept the Everett attack on the move and the Gators were never able to challenge the Trojan lead.

Wednesday's tilt marked the beginning of the toughest schedule the Gators will have as they play six games in eleven days. Tonight they travel to Pacific Lutheran University for a 6 p.m. match with the Lute Frosh, then tomorrow they venture to the domain of the Skagit Valley Cardinals. Next Wednesday they play Shoreline at Auburn. The following Friday they play Highline at Highline and then travel to the University of Puget Sound the next night.
