

Roger Sloan Resigns

Roger Sloan Tuesday resigned as student body president, ending some speculation that such a move would be necessary by the end of the quarter.

He will be succeeded by Vice President Gary Gadwa, a sophomore from the Sumner-Puyallup area.

Sloan, in a letter to the editor, indicated that the pressures of playing basketball, raising a family, and running student government were becoming too much. His letter read:

Dear Editor:

It is with a great deal of thought that I have decided to resign my position as Student Body President, effective immediately. Several things have brought me to this decision. Because of a growing family and the financial burden that goes with it, it is necessary for me to work part time; along with my basketball activities this would be too much. Also my grades have suffered and would suffer even more if I should try to keep my position for the remainder of the year.

I have chosen this particular time to resign purposely; there are no more student body meetings until early January, and this would give Gary a little more time to get set up. I think the present officers have built a good basis with which Gary can complete an already successful year.

I would like to thank each member of the administration, faculty, and student body for all the help and consideration given me during my short, but rewarding time in office. I am reluctant in making this decision, however, in fact feel there was no actual decision to make.

Sincerely yours,
Roger Sloan

Gadwa will assume the position of president immediately, and act in that position for the remainder of the year.

"It will mean a lot of work, and a lot of responsibility, but since it's my job, I'll do the best I can," stated Gadwa.

The party will include games and Mr. (or) Mrs. Santa Claus plans to present gifts for those teachers who have been "extra good" to their students this quarter. Live music will also be presented.

The Highline Community College Management Club will be GRCC's guest for the event and everyone is invited to attend.

5. Jobs held
 6. Physical handicaps
 7. Three references (no more than one faculty)
 8. Campus activities

- Failure to prepare application completely will be grounds for disqualification, said Smith.

All students planning to take French, German, or Spanish are required to take the language placement test. These tests will be administered tomorrow, December 9, at the following times:

- 8:00 a.m. German

GRCC Lad Saves Youth

By RAY WATTS

Last Sunday evening Jim Sutter, 19, a freshman at Green River College answered a plea for help following a traffic accident outside Sumner, and became directly involved in saving a boy from possible drowning. Jim ("Tread" to his friends) was home-bound around 8 p.m. when he noticed two boys standing in the road, signaling for help. Apparently a car had left the road and landed nearly upside-down in the Stuck River.

Jim, a business major, peeled off his coat and waded into the river out to the car, where he found a third youth, Larry Courtney, 17, of Buckley, pinned inside. He crawled around, entered the wreck and held Courtney's head out of the water until help arrived.

Some 30 minutes later, Les Reynolds' wrecker arrived, accompanied by an ambulance and several state patrol cars. An attempt to retrieve the car caused it to over-turn completely with Sutter and Courtney still inside. Jim struggled to keep the injured youths' head above water while Reynolds pried the door open, freeing Courtney. After Sutter and Reynolds pulled the boy to safety, Jim picked up his jacket and without a word, got into his own car and left.

Pre-College Test To Be Given Dec. 16

A Washington Pre-College make-up test has been scheduled for those students who were unable to take the test two weeks ago at Green River and still need to take it. The test will be given in the Tacoma Community College Library, 5900 South 12 Street, Tacoma, on December 16 at 8:30 a.m.

Registration and the payment of the $7.00 fee must be handled through the counseling center at Green River prior to December 16, however, according to Dr. Don Isaacson, counselor.

Editor Needed

Anyone who wants to apply for editor of the Current for Winter Quarter should contact Mr. Ed Eaton before the end of next week.

Fruitless Criticism of Sloan To Enter WCA Contest Is Not in School Interests

The criticism recently leveled by a campus organization against ASB President Roger Sloan regarding his appointment of two persons to fill vacant Executive Council posts was hardly in the best interests of this school or of that organization.

It is well enough to level criticism if that criticism is directed toward an honest goal and if, as was not the case in the recent criticism, that act does not take the form of a personal attack.

To take the role of an antagonist merely for the sake of playing such a role would seem an inadequate and worthless position. It is, on the other hand, quite admirable for a responsible individual or group to act as a catalyst to enact change when and if that change is needed. In the recent tirade, however, the organization involved failed to demonstrate that need. The argument, instead, became an abusive attack upon an individual who clearly believed he had acted in the best interests of this institution.

Personal attack and disgruntled references to persons holding student body offices hardly constitute an appropriate reason for a change or adjustment. And if there does, indeed, exist some need for changes in the present student government, those changes should be instituted through proper representative channels, not through an inane and totally senseless attack on an individual.

Besides being nothing more than a puerile, childish idiocy, a personal attack clearly involves no worthwhile, effective means of enacting those desired changes. Instead, it degrades—not the individual under attack—but rather the organization making that attack.

Green River Ripples

Is This a Puppet Paper?

Dear Editor,

In attending a modern college such as Green River, one is continuously bombarded with the concept of active student involvement. It is in fact purported by some to be the very key to knowledge and understanding. However, GRCC has become enmeshed in a web of unsure participation. The various departments are encouraging involvement, yet the administration is apparently successful in discouraging it.

Administration censorship, the most obvious weapon of the head office has manifested itself in two forms. The first of these is the bulletin board. I was recently attracted not by the content of a sign, but by a small, stamped block in the corner which indicated that the sign was faculty approved by Mr. Aubert. Assuring myself that this probably meant faculty endorsement, I found an ASB officer and was informed that the faculty must indeed approve all notices appearing on the bulletin boards. It seems that the front office is determined to prevent the circulation of anything even lightly subversive or not in the administration's best interests.

Notices must be pretty much true-blue and patriotic.

The second form of censorship shows up in the Current itself. A small statement on the second page asserts that opinions expressed are those of students only, and not of the school's administration. However, the extremely bland, non-committal nature of the articles (with the notable exception of the 17 November editorial; indicates to me that in reality, the student writers are very much swayed by administration opinion. In attending Green River for three quarters, I recall few articles even mildly critical of student government and none at all daring to question the administration.

The point is this: Bulletin boards and student newspapers can accomplish much more than simple reportage. They cannot exist as both active student voices and as puppet arms of the administration. It therefore rests with the Current to either attempt the beginnings of objective reports or to declare itself, like the bulletin board, to be just another tool of the main office.

Vocalist From Scotland Active Participant In Choral Activities

By Margaret Aldrich

There is a young man attending Green River College who seems to have a Scottish accent. His name is Brian Jones. The reason for the accent? He's from Scotland.

Brian was born in Wellington, New Zealand, but he moved to Scotland at the age of seven months. He lived in Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, which is situated 20 miles south of Glasgow, for 16 years. Finally, in May, 1966, he came to America.

He attended Renton High School last year. "Although I had graduated from high school in Scotland,

I decided to see what the American educational system was like," said Brian.

Brian's favorite sports are rugby, soccer, badminton, and swimming. "I am very interested in vocal music." He sang for three years in several choirs in Scotland and was a member of four vocal groups at Renton High School.

This year he is in choir and the vocal ensemble here at Green River. "I plan to attend W.S.U. and major in Police Administration when I finish school here," states Brian.

Art Students Invited To Enter WCA Contest

All Green River art students or any art students who are enrolled in Washington's other 22 junior colleges are invited to enter an art contest sponsored by the Washington Chiropractors Association, it was announced this week.

Students who enter the contest are invited to design a new insignia for the state chiropractic association, stated Dr. Paul K. Johnston, Seattle, chairman of the state-wide contest committee.

Winner of the contest will receive a $100.00 cash prize, said Dr. Johnston.

Rules of the contest are:

1. Each student may submit only one entry and the design is to be in black and white, on card stock approximately 8½" by 11". The design should be suitable for reduction in size to ¾" in diameter.

2. Each entry should be identified with the student's name, address and name of his college.

3. All entries become the property of the Washington Chiropractors Association and none will be returned. The executive board of the WCA will select the winner and award the $100.00 prize. The winner will be notified within 90 days. (Samples of other designs for chiropractic associations have been sent to all junior college art departments).

4. Entries shall be mailed before midnight of December 31, 1967, to: Paul K. Johnston, D.C., 3500 S.W. Alaska St., Seattle, Washington 98126.

Registration Now Underway

Students planning on returning to GRCC are encouraged to sign up for advising appointment as soon as possible.

December 18 and 19 have been appointed as the days for advising, although some teachers are holding their appointments now:

Students should make sure of the time and date of their appointments and do it SOON, according to Mr. William Merfield, counselor.

Students wishing to enroll in evening classes for winter quarter must sign up next week for appointments on the nights of Dec. 20 or 21.

Appointments can be made by either calling the college or reporting the week of Dec. 11-15. If appointments are not made, open evening registration will be held the nights of Jan. 2 and 3.

The registration lines for evening classes will be open from 6-9 p.m. on the specified dates.

Car Wash Raises $20

On Saturday, December 2, the GRCC Ski Club was scheduled to have a car wash in Auburn and Kent but Club President Mike Sheppard explained, "The Kent car wash was cancelled because of bad weather. We still had the one in Auburn and raised $20.00."

The money made from the car wash will be put into a fund for the Ski Club trip to be taken during spring vacation.

Pay Fines Today . . . Or No Grades

Students are reminded that all fines must be paid before they will be allowed to register for Winter quarter. A list of the fines is presently posted in the bulletin, and today is the last day in which they may be paid. After this, report cards will be withheld.

The Library will be closed from Saturday, December 16, to January 1.

Help Stamp Out Love

It happens every day. A young man goes off to college, leaving his home town sweetheart with vows of eternal love, and then he finds that he has outgrown her. What, in such cases, is the honorable thing to do?

Well sir, you can do what Crunch Sigafos did.

When Crunch left his home in Cut and Shoot, Pa., to go off to a prominent Northwestern College (Green River) he said to his sweetheart, a wholesome country lass named Mildred Bovine, "My dear, though I am far away in college, I will love you always. I take a mighty oath I will never look at another girl. If I do, may my eyeballs parch and wither, may my viscera writhe like adders, may my ever-press slacks go baggy!"

Then he clutched Mildred to his bosom, flicked some hayseed from her hair, planted a final kiss upon her fragrant young skull, and went away, meaning with all his heart to be faithful.

But on the very first day of college he met a coed named Irmgard Champerty who was studded with culture like a ham with cloves. She knew verbatim the complete works of Franz Kafka, she sang solos in stereo, she wore a black leather jacket with an original Goya on the back.

Well sir, Crunch took one look and his jaw dropped and his nostrils pulsed like a bellows and his kneecaps turned to sorghum. Never had he beheld such sophistication, such intellect, such savoir faire. Not, mind you, that Crunch was a dolt. He was, to be sure, a country boy, but he had a head on his shoulders, believe you me!

Crunch, as we have seen, was instantly smitten with Irmgard Champerty. All day he followed her around campus and listened to her talk about Franz Kafka and like that, and then he went back to his dormitory and found this letter from his home town sweetheart Mildred:

Dear Crunch:

Us kids had a keen time yesterday. We went down to the pond and caught some frogs. I caught the most of anybody. Then we hitched rides on trucks and did lots of nutsy stuff like that. Well, I must close now because I got to whitewash the fence.

Your friend,
Mildred

P.S. . . . I know how to ride backwards on my skateboard.

Well sir, Crunch thought about Mildred and then he thought about Irmgard and then a great sadness fell upon him. Suddenly he knew he had outgrown young, innocent Mildred; his heart now belonged to smart, sophisticated Irmgard.

Being above all things honorable, he returned forthwith to Cut and Shoot, Pa., and looked Mildred straight in the eye and said manly, "I do not love you any more. I love another. You can hit me in the stomach all your might if you want to."

"That's okay, hey," said Mildred amiably. "I don't love you neither. I found a new boy."

"What is his name?" asked Crunch.

"Franz Kafka," said Mildred.

"I hope you will be very happy," said Crunch and shook Mildred's hand and they have remained good friends to this day. In fact, Crunch and Irmgard often double-date with Franz and Mildred and have barrels of fun. Franz knows how to ride backwards on his skateboard one-legged.

High School Games Here to Be Rated On Sportsmanship

Tonight Green River College plays the first in a series of doubleheaders throughout the season with Auburn High School.

The combination of a high school game and a college game on the same night will have a double purpose, as far as the college is concerned. It will mean more fans will be on hand to see the GRCC game, as well as the high school game. Also, it will mean that more local citizens and more high school students considering college (from Auburn and the schools they play) will see the Green River College campus and perhaps make plans to enroll in future years at the college.

However, the arrangement also presents possible problems. The high school cheering sections are rated during every game on sportsmanship with a trophy given to the winning school at the end of the season.

Since college basketball fans will frequently be on hand for the high school games, Auburn High School Vice-Principal, Albert Wedekind this week reminded fans of points they will be rated on. The school can lose points for fans, yell leaders, or team booing or heckling the referee's decisions, for "derogatory" attitudes following the game that could result in the "destructive action" and for artificial noise-makers such as horns, bells, or whistles "which cause confusion in game proceedings."

ASB Cards Arrive

Students who do not have their student body cards are to pick them up in the registrar's office as soon as possible, according to Mr. Richard Barclay, registrar.

Rally Successful

By KATHY PEKIE

Last Friday, many of GRCC's students risked muddy shoes and cold feet in order to attend the first annual kick off bonfire.

With flames bursting into the air, the clamour of voices and inspiration filled the atmosphere.

When the flames lowered, the students went inside the gym to watch the Gators victory over Yakima, 84-72.

Coordinator's Secretary Enjoys Active Schedule

Working with the students from the activity end at Green River College is Mrs. Virginia Ehresman, secretary to Mr. Bob Aubert. Working under one of the busiest men at Green River she has an "exciting, yet challenging" job.

Her duties are varied in being secretary to Mr. Bob Aubert, the director of student activities. The job entails general office work, typing, filing, setting up appointments, etc., helping the students with activities, taking care of lost and found, and, in her spare time, doing extra work for some of the other P.E. instructors.

Commenting on the student body and faculty she said, "We have a fine student body and I enjoy working with them," also, "the faculty at Green River is the best. Everyone has been so good to me and they have helped me so much in learning how things are done here at the college."

Before starting work at Green River this year, Mrs. Ehresman spent eight years at the Boeing Aircraft Company in the Electrical-Electronics group in both the 707 and KC-135 projects.

Coming from her hometown of Mobridge, South Dakota, she resides in the Auburn area with her husband, Oscar, and three boys; Terry, 13 years; Gary, 12 years, and Jerry, 6 years.

Vet Group Seeks Race Contestants

Sunday, December 17, the Veterans Association will host the second annual Road Rally, according to Jim Smith, Vet's Club vice president. The road rally, being sponsored by Louie's Shell, will cover a course of approximately 200 miles. The race will begin at noon in the faculty parking lot and be over sometime before dark.

Late registrants may sign up between 11 and noon on Dec. 17. The fee is $2.00.

All entrants must have auto insurance and an insurance release must be signed before the race.

Carols Planned During Finals

A new idea will be introduced this year during finals week. According to Jim Meyer, sophomore class president, Christmas Carols will be sung in the Little Theater between finals.

The testing schedule leaves an hour between finals for students to relax or study.

"All students interested in relaxing and singing Christmas Carols are invited to join the fun," said Meyer. "We thought this might be an easy way to get the bugs off your mind or to forget how much you should have studied."

Iraq Visitor Speaks To MUN Class

Ismail Ahmad, foreign exchange student from Iraq was on campus recently to speak to the Model United Nations class who are this year representing Iraq at the National convention in Arizona. Mr. Ahmad is presently completing his doctorate in Economic Geography at the University of Washington.

He gave a brief speech to the class on the historical background of Iraq. "Main exports from the country are oil and dates," stated Mr. Ahmad, whose birthplace is Sumar.

Mr. Ahmad spoke briefly of the present crisis between the Arabs and the Israelites, basically taking the Arab point of view, and he gave some factual information about the city of Jerusalem. He stated that the city contains three different religious sects: Christians, Jews and Moslems, but that the city has basically been overtaken by the Israelites.

Unitarians Host Youth Discussions

The First Unitarian-Universalist Church of Seattle is sponsoring a liberal religious group of college age young people meeting every second and fourth Tuesday evening at the church, 1250 South 258th, Des Moines, near Salt Water State Park.

Every college age individual is invited to attend the 7 o'clock meetings which concentrates on a program that can enrich the mind through discussions, according to Rev. Theodore Kennedy, minister of the church.

Further information regarding this liberal religious group is available at UL 2-0261 or Pat Ball, CH 4-4828.

MRS. EHRESMAN

As far as her future plans are concerned, she commented, "I enjoy working at Green River very much and hope my stay here will be long."

Students Visit Pacific School, King County Jail

By Mary Heindel

Mr. Paul Lewan, Psychology instructor at GRCC, and a group of students in his Psych. 100 and Adjustment Psych. class recently visited Pacific School, located in Seattle, and the King County Jail. The main purpose of the trip was to allow the students to observe the children, which ranged in age from 7-18, and to get an idea of the progress being made in the area of helping the mentally retarded.

Mr. Aude Auld, boys counselor of Pacific School, was on hand to explain what was being done at the school, and also answered any questions the group had. The group had lunch at the school which was prepared by the older students themselves. Mr. Auld said that this procedure taught the students to make and sell their own things.

The second stop for the group was the King County Jail, where the Captain gave a brief explanation and a guided tour through the jail. The tour included a look at the cell blocks, chapel, library, kitchen, solitary confinement area, and recreational area where the prisoners were deeply engrossed in "The Fugitive."

SPC Frosh Invade Gator Territory

Tonight Green River plays the Seattle Pacific Frosh. The Gators warmed up for tonight's contest by running past Yakima and Bellevue Community Colleges last weekend. Marion Bozman and Tim Cummings led the Gators past Yakima 84-72. Bozman ripped Yakima's inside defense with 23 points. When the Indians moved in to stop him, Cummings' dead eye tore the outside defense for 18 points. The Gators built an eight point lead before Dick Robillard scored for Yakima. Bozman ran into early foul trouble and was replaced by Jack Boyett. Boyett played aggressive defense and the Indians found themselves unable to capitalize on Bozman's departure. With 13:16 left in the first half Boyett got a picture perfect tip-in for two of his four points.

Wrestlers Wallop Shoreline; LCC Next

Tomorrow the Green River Grapplers take to the mats to wrestle Lower Columbia in a meet at Longview. This will be the second meet of the season for the Gators. Last Tuesday the Gators decimated the Shoreline Samurai in a meet at Butler Junior High. The Green River wrestlers picked up 20 points on pins, and another 20 on forfeits. Scoring pins for the Yakima rallied to tie the score at 29-29 with seven minutes remaining. Cummings and Duane Barnette then pumped in seven straight to give the Gators a lead they never again lost. By halftime the score was 46-35 with the Indians on the short end. Yakima took advantage of various Gator miscues and defensive lapses to rally. But the Gators had too much poise and too many guns for the shorter, but game Indians.

Green River To Sponsor Skiing Class

Green River College will be sponsoring a ski class winter quarter for those interested in skiing. The first meeting will be January 4 at 3:30 p.m. in PE-7. From then on it will be "Hit the slopes!" The place is Ski Acres Wednesday from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. According to Mr. Richard Barclay, costs will include $25.00 for the class and $30.00 for the bus. The skiers will be required to buy their own lift tickets. Students taking this course will receive one PE credit.

Hoopsters Defeat Bellevue

Saturday night Green River scored the most points in its history as the Gators misguided the Bellevue Helmsmen 99-89. Again Bozman and Cummings led the roaring Gators, with 16 points apiece. John Harrell and Greg Brovold contributed 15 and 12 points respectively for the hungry Gators. Lee Edmonds led the Helmsmen with 20 points. Green River led by as much as 12 points in the first half. By the half's end the Gators led by only one 48-47. The score is misleading as Coach Aubert played his entire second unit the last seven minutes. The Helmsmen tied the score four times and even led twice, first at 82-79 and then at 85-83. At this point Bozman and Moses Taylor put in six straight to take the fire out of Bellevue. The Gators then ran the clock out with some fancy dribbling by Cummings. Duane Barnette was intentionally fouled as the buzzer sounded and made both to put the Gators one away from the century mark.

GOOFY GATOR: The huge cartoon mascot, now decorates the east wall of the gym.

'Goofy Gator' To Adorn Gym Wall

"Goofy Gator," a colorful alligator drawn on a 4x8 piece of plywood, will be displayed permanently on the east wall of the new college gym. "Goofy Gator," the product of Student Body President Roger Sloan's imagination and his wife's artistic ability, may be the forerunner to a life-size sculpture of a gator that the art department may produce to be displayed just outside the gymnasium. Mrs. Sloan was an art major at Washington State University and won blue ribbon awards three consecutive years in high school.
