Seeking work: Job Placement can help

by Mike Scruggs

For those students who are finding it financially difficult to stay in college or find themselves trapped in a part time job that is outside their field of interest, the Job Placement Center is worth looking into.

The job development program is set up to aid the growing number of students that find it necessary to work part time to stay in school. The program coordinates students with employers in their field of interest. The full spectrum of employment is covered by the program from resumes and interview assistance to full follow-up programs.

In 1979 over 6,000 jobs were processed through GRCC's Job Placement

Center, and in March alone enough part time jobs were found to produce over $42,000 annual income.

It is the job of Fray Breckenridge, Director of Job Development, to talk to employers and find new jobs for placement of as many students as possible.

"It's getting tougher to find new jobs with the tightening of the economy," Breckenridge claimed. She is now involved in researching job availability in varying fields so that she can place students appropriately.

The Job Placement Center is located upstairs in the Lindbloom Student Center and will continue operation through the summer

Exercise trail open for business

by Tim Hyatt

About two years ago, Doug Carr of the physical education department tried to put together a trail system which could be used for exercise. Originally the project was to have been a joint effort between the Forestry, Art, and Physical Education Departments. Unfortunately, the project ran into some money snags and seemed doomed for the circular file.

After the unsuccessful attempt at the group effort, Carr began to snoop around for some other form of backing. Carr found an interested party in the J.C. Penney Co. of Auburn. With the help of the J.C. Penney Co. the project was once again on its way.

The GRCC Foundation was also involved with the trail system and came forward with some much needed monetary support as well as donating materials to keep the project going. The Auburn Noon Lions Club was another major contributor to the cause.

Alex Kamola, a forestry technician, worked with Carr on the design of the trail. The course was designed to allow people to establish their own type of exercise program. At strategic locations along the track there would be exercise stations picturing various physical activities to be done there. There would be seven stations in all, along the trail. At the beginning of the course there is a seven exercise prelude to help the jogger 'stretch out' before running.

With the help of many people, the thought of an exercise trail winding through the Evergreens has finally become a reality.

Benson wins in record voter turnout

In a record breaking turnout, Ben Benson emerged as President and Mary Neil was elected vice president during the spring elections April 23 and 24. Benson and Neil defeated Bill Everts, presential candidate, and John Nymon, vice presidential candidate, for the top two spots in student government.

Jill Donahue, Jim Hansen, Melinda Cecchi, Cheryl Hansen and Michelle Price won the Sophomore Senator seats. Mark Hanson and Greg Vert were elected to the Senator at Large positions.

According to J. Douglas Anderson, ASGRCC president, the total votes cast numbered 1,156. Anderson believes two reasons exist for the overwhelming turnout during the election.

"The candidates campaign issues were pertinent to the student body. Most issues were major concerns. This sparked interest to get out and vote," he explained.

In addition, voters were awarded a free 30 cent coupon good for pop or coffee redeemable at Food Services and became eligible to win 6 dinners for two sponsored by area restaurants. The random drawing for the six dinners was held April 25 in the main dining area at noon. The following won a dinner for two: Tim Hunt, The Jolly Ox; Roy Reid, Rossi's 401; Ed Hubeck, The Old Spaghetti Factory; Kathleen Stange, H.D. Hotspurs; Sarah Duncan, Andy's Tukwila Station.

The state record was set two years ago, by Fort Steilacoom Community College, which Green River has beat by more than 250 votes. Anderson is grateful to those students who became involved and took an interest in student government.

Opinion

Security cries wolf?

by Tim Hyatt

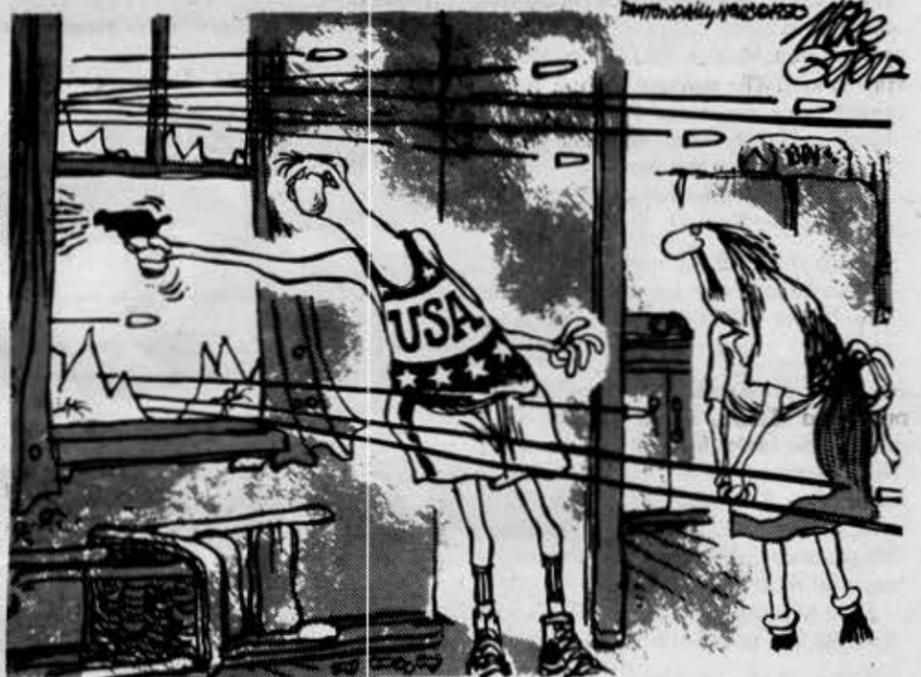

Two weeks ago the Current ran a front page article about steps the parking and security people were about to take steps to cut down on illegal parking on campus. I believe Nicholas Smith truly outlined the problem accurately. One of his "steps" to curtail illegal parking was the placing of new attendants at each entrance road. Their alleged attendants were to be checking for parking permits; anyone trying to park without a proper permit would either have to buy one or leave.

Well, I gave it two weeks and I can't hold my peace any longer. As many have already noticed, there are no new attendants. As a matter of fact, there doesn't seem to be anything out of the ordinary being done in the parking areas. Students are still putting yesterday's citations under the wiper blade or using the same day ticket for a week at a time. The handicapped zones are still full of vehicles which don't belong there and I actually saw the tow truck cruisin' around on Tuesday; Everything is status quo.

I don't mean to play down the problem in the parking lot; it is a real mess. What I am objecting to is the apparent idea that a scare story in the campus newspaper might ease the situation. What is fairly obvious to me is that the story scared few and solved little. I feel that the parking people have the right idea, if they had followed it up. The fact that they didn't follow it up actually encourages illegal parking; After all, consider the consequences. The lack of action by Parking and Security has also cast a giant shadow on the credibility of this newspaper. We at 'The Current' know that our media is occasionally used for one good cause or another but we do reserve right to choose the manner in which we will be used.

If the folks over in Parking and Security don't wish to back up their threats, they stand a good chance of joining reputations with the boy who cried wolf.

FOR GODS SAKE, LEON, IF THE JUSTICE DEPT. DOESN'T WANT YOU GOING TO THE OLYMPICS... THEN DON'T GO!...

Letters

Student government says, 'We're doing our part'

To The Editor:

I would like to respond to the letter in the Current from Gary L. Erdahl (4/18/80). The issues in his letter need clarification before the conclusion that "student elections are a farce" is drawn by the reader.

Mr. Erdahl contends timing is a factor in the student elections and nobody knew about campaigning, petitions, etc. However, on April 7, election information was distributed throughout the campus in the form of posters which contained the necessary information. If students were interested, they were directed to contact student government officers for further information. As far as publicity in the Current, I can't dictate when an article is run or where it is placed. My high degree of priority about a student government article may not be considered as high by the Current Staff.

Communication (or lack of it) is another factor, Mr. Erdahl explains. He says he hasn't seen any student government articles, other than occasional vacancies in the senate, in the Current. Yet, in every issue since Oct. 5, with the exception of Oct. 12 and Feb. 15, some sort of student government article has appeared. The subject matter of these articles include the elections, update reports of the Senate meetings, $200,000 budget proposal and candidates for next year's student senate.

Mr. Erdahl asks if "it is a lack of effort by ASGRCC officers or negligence on behalf of the Current concerning the lack of information about student government activities. I have already pointed out articles have been published in almost every issue this year. I feel I have put forth my best effort to get information to the Current. In fact, during Winter Quarter, under the editorship of Jon Buchholtz, I had to go to the extreme of writing and typing the articles myself to get information in the newspaper. This emphasizes the point I stated earlier—the editor's authority plays a decisive role in what is considered "newsworthy".

The senate minutes have been posted weekly since March 1 around campus for all interested students to read. In the minutes, business of the senate is recorded and explained.

The third factor, according to the letter, is the affectivity factor. Mr. Erdahl believes the senate does not affect the concerns of the students. This year, the senate has passed bills totaling over $5,201 that do affect students in the areas of athletics, clubs and new equipment used by students. The senate has passed club constitutions enabling clubs to become eligible for money to fund their activities. The group also prepared the Service and Activities Fund Budget for 1980-81. The allocation of student funds by the Senate definitely affects the students.

The fourth factor—whether student government is effective—is perhaps the most important. One of the main reasons for the existence of student government is to serve the students. It allows them to express their concerns and get action taken. Student participation can make student government effective. We need more student input—it is a vital factor for an effective government.

I would like to encourage students to attend any senate meetings, which meets every Thursday at noon in the Rainier room (second floor of the Lindbloom Student Center). This open door policy has been in effect all year and is very helpful in clearing up any confusion students have regarding the usefulness of the Senate.

I would like to express my appreciation for the overwhelming student involvement in the Spring election. Not only did we elect a competent group for next year, but we set a state record for the number of votes cast during an election. J. Douglas Anderson

Teacher wants student plot

To The Editor:

I have to respond to the complaint of "Teacher's Plot" by Phyllis A. Dirks in the April 25, 1980 edition.

Oh God, how I pray that in just one class, during one quarter of my teaching career, the students will plot against me and be in class everyday. True, such a plot would curtail the students freedom of which Ms. Dirks speaks, although it would probably improve their appreciation of the course.

$4,000 requested from student government

by Connie Frankhauser

Over $4,000 in projected expenditures were brought before the GRCC Student Senate in its meeting Thursday, April 24, causing concern with at least one of the senators, Sue Forslund.

The money is proposed for several projects, including the purchase of a backstop for the baseball field to cost near $1,000 and $2,500 to be applied to the remodeling currently taking place in the Listening Center on the second floor of LSC.

Camping trip planned

Outdoor Programs will be sponsoring an overnite camping trip on Saturday and Sunday at Hot Springs which is near North Bend and the Snoqualmie River.

Activities planned include fishing, hiking, swimming, partying, exploring, canoeing, camping and relaxing.

A pre-trip meeting was held last Wednesday so if there are others interested in going, contact the Outdoor Programs office or call Todd at ext. 263.

The remainder of the money has been applied for by GRCC radio station KGRG for the remodeling job recently done there totaling $500.

Forslund expressed concern as to where that would leave the student budget funds for the rest of the quarter.

In an interview after the meeting she commented, "There is money there to pay for the requests we currently have, but I would like to know if we will have enough to see us through if we pass these bills."

The Budget Committee was asked to submit a report at the next meeting which was to be conducted yesterday. Details of the meeting were not available at press time.

It was at that meeting that bills were to have been approved or rejected.

When asked in an interview after the meeting about the funding for the Listening Room, Student Body President J. Douglas Anderson commented, "The total cost will be about $20,000," but he quickly added, "Student Government will only be responsible for $2,500 of that total." He explained the money is being allocated from various funds on campus. The room is to receive a new carpet, furniture, drapes and a record cabinet.

It seems there are questions as to the funds being requested from KGRG. The financial code specifically states there can be no reimbursements through Student Programs for funds already spent.

However, investigation is taking place into the possibility of the funds coming through another avenue because the project is to aid in student learning. A decision was to be brought to the meeting yesterday.

Jim Hansen and Melinda Cecchi, senators comprising the public relations committee for student government, discussed the possibility of conducting a public forum to collect opinion on how to improve student government. This suggestion is to be discussed further.

The senate also received and accepted the resignation of Sophomore Senator Rhonda Johnson. This leaves the position open, and the senate is expected to vote on a replacement May 8 at its regularly scheduled meeting.

Vice President Greg Stuart reported to the senate that he is working on drafting a letter of congratulations to be sent to newly elected GRCC President James P. Chadbourne.

President J. Douglas Anderson has submitted the 1980-81 budget to the Board of Trustees. The proposed budget total is $195,000, $3,000 higher than the current budget.

Due to the resignation of Randy Smithhisler, Senator-At-Large, the senate elected Greg Vert to take his place. The election took place in a special meeting called last week.

WHAT COULD THE ARMY POSSIBLY OFFER A BRIGHT PERSON LIKE YOU?

Drop your guard for a minute.

Even though you're in a two-year college right now, there are many aspects of the Army you might find very attractive. Maybe even irresistible.

See for yourself.

ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS

If you're thinking of eventually going to a four-year college, it's not too early to start thinking about an ROTC scholarship.

There are 2-year and even 1-year ROTC scholarships available.

They cover tuition, books, and lab fees. Plus $100 a month living allowance. Naturally, they're very competitive. Because besides helping you towards your bachelor's degree, an ROTC scholarship helps you towards the gold bars of an Army Officer. It's worth looking into.

WINGS & A CHOPPER

With two years of college under your belt, you can get preferential consideration for Warrant Officer Flight Training.

If you pass all the tests and qualify, you'll go through 40 weeks of rigorous and valuable training.

You'll earn the distinctive bars of a warrant officer and the silver wings of an Army aviator. You'll have at least 175 hours of flight instruction, 40 hours with a flight simulator, 4 weeks night qualification, and enough classroom work in aerodynamics, meteorology and aerial navigation to last a lifetime.

The result is a rewarding, responsible and prestigious position as an Army helicopter pilot.

STRIPES FROM THE START

What you've learned in college has already earned you a promotion in the Army.

It's true. If you join the Army with two years of college, you can start two pay grades higher. Instead of being an E-1 with an empty sleeve, you can come in as E-3 with stripes.

It means about $60 more a month in your paycheck. And a lot more opportunity in the long run. Since you'll be literally wearing your education on your sleeve, your talents won't go unnoticed by your superiors.

And starting out right can really help you make the most of the Army.

A BONUS FOR PART-TIME WORK

You can get a $1,500 bonus just for enlisting in some Army Reserve units. Or up to $2,000 in educational benefits.

You also get paid for your Reserve duty. It comes out to about $1,000 a year for 16 hours a month and two weeks annual training.

And there's a special program that lets you fit your Army Reserve active duty around your school schedule.

It's something to consider. Because even if you went to a two-year college because it was less expensive than a four-year college, you know by now that it still isn't cheap.

A CHANCE TO GO ON WITH COLLEGE

If you're thinking you might even go further with your college education, the Army can help there, too.

A few years in the Army can help you get not only the money for tuition, but also the maturity to use it wisely.

The Army has a program in which money you save for college is matched two-for-one by the government. Then, if you qualify, generous bonuses are added to that.

So 3 years of service can get you up to $12,100 and 4 years up to $14,100. In addition, bonuses up to $3,000 are available for 4-year enlistments in selected skills.

Add in all the experience and maturity you can get, and you can see how the Army can send you back to college a richer person in more ways than one.

We hope these Army opportunities have intrigued you as well as surprised you.

Because there is indeed a lot the Army can offer a bright person like you.

For more information, send the coupon below.

Please tell me more about: (2FR) ROTC Scholarships, (2WO) Warrant Officer Flight Training, (2ST) Stripes to Start, (2SS) Army Reserve Bonuses, (2PC) Army Educational Benefits.

Green River's Jody Grace collided with the Fort Steilacoom shortstop Monday but the crash didn't break up a FSCC double play. The Raiders went on to take both ends of a doubleheader from the Gators slow-pitch squad.

GR slowpitchers win two, lost two

by Curt Carver

Thursday, April 24, the womens softball team traveled to Tacoma to face the Titans. It was to be the Gators day as they won both ends of the doubleheader, 13-4 and 11-1.

Things started out rough for Green River as they committed an error on each of the first two Tacoma batters. The errors proved costly, both players scored and the Gators found themselves down by two after the first inning.

Green River then took life by scoring twelve runs in the next three innings. Kathy McAlpine was a thorn in the side for Tacoma as she knocked in four runs, two of which were in the second inning and two in the third. The Gators also got fine performances from Sandy Vellojes and Roxanne Asay as they each had two r.b.i.'s.

Green River out-hit Tacoma 17 hits to 9. They also committed seven errors, yet won easily.

In the second game the Gators came out smoking. Five out of the first six batters singled and twelve batters went to the plate before the inning was over.

Three runs scored, with the big blow being Roxanne Asay's two run shot to right centerfield.

Tacoma scored their only run in the second inning. The Titans had four straight singles but were held to only one run due to fine defense by the Gators.

Green River put the game away in the sixth inning when they combined seven hits to score five runs that made the score 11-1.

The Gators out hit the Titans 16 hits to 6 hits. Mary McGrath had three r.b.i.'s and Donna Kern and Roxanne Asay knocked in two a piece for the Gators.

The next day the Edmonds Tritons invaded Fulmer Field in Auburn. Green River experienced what Tacoma had the day before when they lost both ends of the doubleheader, 8-7 and 16-8.

In the first game the Gators found themselves down eight to nothing after the first four innings. The next three innings Green River started to inch their way back. Going into the seventh inning and down by three, the Gators threatened to win it.

Lona Graves led off by reaching first on an error on the Tritons second baseman. One out later Mary McGrath singled to rightfield. Jody Grace then knocked in Lona when she grounded out to the third baseman. Tami Harto follow by singling to score Mary. In the next play the Tritons third baseman made a bad throw on Kathy McAlpine's grounder and the Gators had runners on second and third with two outs. Tija Petrovich then hit a shot to the Tritons shortstop who threw her out to end the game. The Gators found themselves at the short end of the stick with an 8-7 score.

It was all Edmonds in the second game. The Tritons accumulated a 12-22 lead after four and one half innings. Green River then fought back to pull within four runs at the end of the sixth inning. Edmonds scored four more times in the seventh inning to win 16-8.

The game was marred by several freak injuries. Catcher Tami Harto was accidentally struck in the back of the head with a bat by an Edmonds batter. Mary McGrath, while batting, was beamed by a return throw by the Edmonds catcher. Finally, Lona Graves injured her thumb while catching a fly ball and will be out of action indefinitely.

Monday and Wednesdays games against Fort Steilacoom and Skagit Valley were not available at press time. The Gators next see action Monday when they take on Olympic at Fulmer Field in Auburn.

Tennis teams readying for tourney

by Denise Ryan

The men's and women's tennis teams are readying themselves for their most crucial matches of the season in the next two weeks, including the Regional Tournaments, and the State Tennis Championships May 15-17 in the Tri Cities.

Both men's and women's teams have been successful lately, the women's team stronger than ever with the return of Gretchen Wilson, who had been ailing with a fractured ankle. Even so, Gretchen has a current record of 8-1. The women's team has an event record of 99 and two, and are 9-0 in the league, "the strongest women's team yet," says Coach Steve Sauers (without whose support, incidentally, there wouldn't even be a women's tennis team.)

Team members Carrie Lyles (number two singles on the team from Oklahoma) and Marti Vitez, (number one seed in doubles) also credited the success for the women's team to the "good coaching and good recruiting."

Carrie enthused, "Coach Sauers and Dave Lester (the assistant coach) really put everything into it. They give us lots of moral support, and there's no pressure." Marti agrees, "They really cheer you up. Plus there is this new ruling in the league where they allow the coaches to come down on the courts between sets and give us advice on what we're doing wrong or could improve on. It helps us a lot."

But while Sauers has little doubt about the ability of the women's team to make the state tournaments, he displays more concern for the men who hold 7-1 league record, and are 12-5 overall. "We have the worst team record that I've seen in 11 years, we're strong in singles but weak in doubles." Sauers plans to spend most of the practice time left working directly on that. "I'm hoping that the men's team will 'rise to the occasion' when the tournaments come, and pull through with the wins." The men, however, are not to blame individually. Not only did they return this year with nearly all of the players having graduated, but the community college teams this year, according to Sauers, are very strong and tough to beat. The men do have a bright spot, however, in Chris Porter, formerly of Lake Tahoe, who started out the 1978-79 season on the last rung in the men's seeding, yet played all through the year and turned this season to capture the number two singles position on the team. The men also won their last two matches, defeating UPS 5-4 and Seattle Central 9-0.

The women's Regional Championship Tournament, the weekend of May 9 will be hosted by Green River, and the top three team players will go to State and the following weekend in the Tri Cities. The women also had matches last Wednesday and Thursday against Tacoma Community College and Fort Steilacoom, respectively, which they expected to win. "Bellevue and Tacoma are our toughest competition, supposedly," explains Marti, "but we beat them both, 9-0 and 8-1. There is reason for her confidence. She is 15-0 this year."

Both men's and women's teams have had a tough schedule this season, playing over 40 matches in nearly a six week period, which is comparable to the Seattle Sonics grueling schedule.

Editors Note:

In last Friday's sports section it was reported that Linda Banazyak drubbe, her Skagit Valley match up, 6-0, 6-0. It should have read: Carrie Lyles drubbe Linda Banazyak of Skagit Valley 6-0, 6-0.

Sports hunt

Franz: kids and cows

by Tim Hunt

In August of 1967, Ted Franz left a successful life as a cattle breeder in Minnesota to "go west" and start all over.

After 20 years, about 100,000 cows and putting his wife through school, Franz decided he needed a change. So he and his wife packed their belongings and fulfilled a dream. They came to live in this area, and Green River Community College has been richer ever since.

Franz first set foot on this campus as a freshman, soon after his arrival from Minnesota. As a student, he became an assistant to the Recreational Program Advisor Jack Johnson, and decided to concentrate his studies towards recreation.

Two years later, Johnson moved up on the job ladder, leaving a void in the recreation department. Franz applied, got the job, and has been there ever since.

One reason Ted has been around so long is because kids have been around so long. "I enjoy working with kids," he said, "it keeps me young."

Franz says that he doesn't see a generation gap between the students and himself, "Kids come into my office and put me down, it doesn't matter, they treat me like one of the gang."

"The kids are great," he said as if he was a proud father. The admiration is apparently mutual.

Damon Jones, student: "I'd like to find a better run intramural program anywhere. I doubt there is. He's a super person, he always listens and he knows how to work."

Jim Soklis: "I'm impressed by his dedication, he thinks about intramurals 24 hours a day."

Kevin Beck: "He's done a super job. I live in Seattle, and the intramural programs at community colleges there don't even compare."

Those are just a few of the comments received from students, but no one had a bad thing to say about Ted Franz.

Another vital cog in the success of Franz and his intramural program is the "100 percent support" offered by now Athletic Director Jack Johnson. "He's my hero," said Franz of Johnson, "and you can write that. He's a great leader and supporter."

"I've always said that I have the best boss on campus."

Johnson also has nothing but praise for this one time student. "Ted does a super job. He runs the entire intramural program on $1,000 less than the men's basketball team gets for one season."

Participation also plays a major role in intramurals, and Franz attributes the number of students in the program to the time it is offered. "We have the ideal thing," he said, "intramurals during the noon hour. Other colleges have it around 4 in the afternoon, so the kids have to come back."

The biggest reason for the heavy participation is Franz himself. He is constantly working on existing games and concepts for new ones. His latest idea is a game called Hocker. "It's like soccer, football and basketball," he says. His fresh ideas, like his cattle, keep on multiplying.

Womens soccer team wins again

by Dave Thomas

The Green River women's soccer team continued its amazing turn around this year as the team picked up its third consecutive win last week. The Gators, whose record is now even at 3-3-1 this year, scored a hard fought, come from behind win, 3-2, over the Drillers at Turnbull Turf.

Coach Bonnie Amrine was pleased with the teams play, but was highly critical of the officiating.

"Frankly, we deserved this win. The referee just let the other team run all over us."

Amrine was referring to several incidents that shook up Cheryl Clair twice and Cindy Gerber once. In all three cases, both women were either kicked or tripped up by opposing players, yet no foul was called. Play was forced to stop while each player could be attended to.

The game was a wide open affair in the first half, as both teams raced up and down the field, with numerous opportunities to score. The game remained scoreless however, until midway through the half when strong offensive pressure by the Drillers paid off and a player rifled the ball past helpless Clair.

The Gators, who were plagued by constant off sides in the opening half, finally made a successful run late in the half. Karen Nelson received the ball thirty yards out, with no one between her

Gator nine wins thriller

by Tim Clinton

The men's baseball team defeated Fort Steilacoom 8-7 in a 13 inning thriller last Friday before their home crowd.

The Fort Steilacoom Raiders took an early lead by scoring one run in the top of the first.

In the bottom of the first the Gators knotted the score when first baseman Mark Westbrook smashed a two out double that sent home Tim Slavin, who led off the inning with a single and later stole second.

But the Raiders came back with another run in the second inning when the Gators missed a pick-off throw the second base allowing the runner to score.

The Gators took a 4-2 lead in the bottom of the second when Slavin blasted a three run homer far beyond the fence in deep centerfield.

The Raiders scored one more in the third and another in the fourth to again tie the score.

Gator pitcher, Don Grangruth, came on in the fifth to replace starter Cliff Bridges.

In the seventh, the Raiders got two more to take a 6-4 lead, but the Gators got one of the runs back in the bottom of the inning when Dave Gard drove Slavin home with a base hit up the middle.

Gard drove in Kurt McGuire with two out in the bottom of the ninth with a base hit to tie the game and send it into extra innings.

The score remained tied until the top of the thirteenth when the Raiders scared the home team fans by scoring another run, making the score 7-6.

Jim Thomson led off the inning of the Gators by drawing a walk, Wally Smith then laid down a sacrifice bunt that sent Thomson to second. Next Lance Baker hit a long double that drove Thomson home to tie it. Balker moved to third on a wild pitch, after which the Raiders intentionally walked Dave Franceschina and Slavin to load the bases. After getting Gard out on strikes Brian Ray was unintentionally walked which forced in the winning run for the Gators.

Complete details of Saturday's doubleheader in Everett were not available at press time but the Gators took the first game and lost in the second 7-5 in a game that the Gators are protesting. Coach Tom Burmester's Gators now have an 8-4 league record which places them in second in the standings. If the protest is upheld the record will be 9-3.

This afternoon at 3:00 the Gators have a home game against Shoreline at Russell Road field in Kent. Tomorrow they go on the road for a twin bill against the Skagit Valley Cardinals in Mount Vernon 1:30 p.m. Next week they play Tacoma at Tacoma on Friday and play Edmonds Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the Gators last home doubleheader of the season.

and the goalie. She moved in twenty yards and put the ball past the goalie to knot the score at one.

At the start of the second half, the Gator women came out and took the attack to the Drillers. They controlled the tempo but were unable to break the deadlock.

A mental lapse by the Gators, however, allowed the Drillers to break the tie. The Drillers made a charge and caught the Gators out of position. After a scramble in front of the net, the ball was booted past Clair.

After that goal, the Gators went flat on offense and were not able to muster much of an attack. Then, the three inidents involving Clair and Gerber occurred, and that put a spark in the lagging offense for Green River. Karen Nelson added her second goal of the game shortly after the incidents. She broke free on the left side and shot the ball past the goal tender into the far side of the net.

Just minutes after Nelson's tying goal, Maxine Nagel scored the eventual winning goal. She found herself wide open in front of the goal and easily put the ball past the goalie.

Tomorrow, the Gator women try to continue their success in a match at Turnbull Turf. Kick off is scheduled for 11 a.m.
