Akers Edges Gillispie For Frosh Presidency

Two Renton High School graduates will head the freshmen class this year at Green River College.

James R. Akers, a 1965 RHS grad, edged Sam Gillispie of Puyallup for the office of president of the class. Chris Walker, a write-in candidate, ran a distant third.

Mike Willis, 1967 Renton graduate who played on the state championship Renton basketball team last year, defeated Vicki Sander of Seattle, a Glacier High graduate, for vice-president.

Teri Williams, a Lynnwood lass who has won the title of Miss Washington Court, was elected secretary-treasurer by a wide margin. Her opponents were Mary Lenz, 1967 Glacier graduate; and Ben Bergsma, Jr., of Renton. Miss Williams was graduated from Meadowdale High School in 1966 and attended Everett Junior College part of the year last year. Her parents now live in Auburn.

Chris Harron, elected Miss Auburn Beautiful in the 1967 Miss Auburn Pageant, and Judi Baker, another Auburn High School graduate, were elected freshman class representatives to the Student Council. Gretchen Goetz, 1967 Mt. Rainier graduate, ran a close third.

The new class president, James Akers, is a business education, real estate major who is interested in football, gymnastics, sports in general, and automobiles. As president of the freshman class, he will serve on the Executive Council of the Associated Students.

Upon his election as president, Jim stated that he would do his best to promote a better student government and a high quality of school spirit among the freshmen. He is already planning the freshman-sophomore annual football game, and he urges all freshmen males to participate in the game. He is confident that the Freshman class will beat the sophomores in any contest they might participate in together, whether it is promoting school spirit or playing football. Jim states that the freshmen will start their victory year by taking the sophomores in their annual game and then "let the old men (the sophomores) retire."

Enrollment Totals 3,277

A total of 3,277 students have registered at Green River College fall quarter, according to Registrar Richard Barclay.

School officials had predicted that as many as 3,500 students may be signed up fall quarter, but "that was strictly an estimate," Barclay indicated. Administrators were not at all disturbed by the official account released Monday.

A number of short term courses - the one-year practical nurses program, for instance - are classified as special education programs.

In new programs started this year at Green River, 19 enrolled in occupational therapy. Eight students in the national pilot study program will receive scholarships. Ten students enrolled in building trades; 35 in law enforcement; 23 in forest technology; and 26 in data processing.

Barclay said that more than 1700 of the students are classified as "matriculated" because they are working toward a degree program. Many students who attend only one class, mainly evening school students, are classed as special students not seeking a two-year degree.

A new physical education class added this year, fencing, was one of the first class sections to close. Only 24 students were able to take that class.

Barclay estimated that 150 students are enrolled at Renton and 27 are signed up for management training at Enumclaw. The college offers the management class at Enumclaw at night in the high school. The Renton classes in the morning are taught at Renton Vocational-Technical School. In the evening they meet at McKnight Junior High.

A.S.B. Dance Features Peppermint Trolley

The Peppermint Trolley will be featured at the A.S.B. "Friday the 13th" dance tonight in the gym from 9:00 to 12:30. The Peppermint Trolley were the supporting cast for the "Young Rascals" and the "Standells". They are now the House Band for the "Toonerville Trolley" teenage nightclub. The dance will be open to all Green River A.S.B. members and their guests. The cost is one dollar for those without dance cards.

Cheerleaders Chosen

Five girls and two boys have been selected to complete the cheerleading staff for the 1967-68 school year. The open positions were filled by Jody Olson, Kathi Bailey, Teri Williams, Sherrill Thomas, and Chris Harron. The two boys are Steve Gray and Jim Nixon.

Kathy Pekié, yell queen, who was chosen last year, and the rest of the cheer staff, is advised by Mrs. Nancy Farness, Green River P.E. Instructor.

Only Returnee

Kathy is the only returning pep staff member. She is a 1966 graduate of Federal Way High School and was elected to the pep staff last year also.

Jody Olson graduated from East Bremerton high school in 1966 and attended Olympic Junior College last year. She was a cheerleader through high school. Kathi Bailey also attended Olympic Junior College last year, having graduated in 1966 from East Bremerton High School. She was an Olympic cheerleader last year.

Ex-Cheerleader

Having been a cheerleader at Meadowdale High School, where she graduated in 1966, Teri Williams reigned as "Miss Linwood", 1966-67. Sherrill Thomas graduated from Wilson High School of Tacoma in 1966, and attended GRCC last spring.

The last female member of the staff is Chris Harron, a 1967 graduate of Auburn High School. She currently reigns as "Miss Auburn Beautiful."

Male Members

The male members of the cheer staff are Steve Gray and Jim Nixon, both 1967 graduates of Kent-Meridian High School.

"With the ideas the members have brought with them, and the ideas brought home from camp, this year's pep staff stands to be a promising one," stated the yell queen, Kathy.

No Classes Next Friday

Classes will not be held Friday, October 20, due to a Faculty Workshop. Teachers from Green River plan to visit the campuses of other colleges as well as greet the teachers from other campuses who are planning to visit Green River.

The Green River handbook stated that there would be no classes today. This is a mistake. Classes will follow the regular schedule today.

Students Need Ride to College

Wanted: A ride to college. This is the cry of at least 18 students on campus so far this quarter. To combat the problem of these students' search for rides, Mrs. Winnie Vincent, coordinator of financial aid, has again this year begun a "share the ride" program.

Any student living in the Green River College commuting area and needing a ride to college should sign up in Mrs. Vincent's office. At the same time, any student who has an extra place in his car coming to school could also sign up to see if he could help with the "share the ride" program by allowing a student in his area to ride to college with him.

Eighteen students have signed up under the "Ride Wanted" list, while only 6 have signed under the "Rider Wanted" list. Some of the areas listed are Auburn, Bellevue-Richmond, Buckley, Issaquah, Kent, Kirkland, Seattle, Renton, Sumner, Orting, Tacoma, Mercer Island, Enumclaw, and many more.

Help Wanted Board Ready

A help wanted bulletin board has recently been installed just outside the office of Mrs. Winnie Vincent, coordinator of financial aid, in the Main Office.

Any student desiring a part-time job should consult this board and then, for further information, consult Mrs. Vincent.

Approximately 50 students have already been placed through this part-time work program. Jobs range from babysitting to bus driving, and service station mechanic to selling. There is an inexhaustible variety of jobs available, according to Mrs. Vincent.

First Movie

To Be Shown

"The Young and the Damned", the first of a series of five films, will be shown on Tuesday, October 17, in the Performing Arts Building at 1:00 p.m. Produced by Luis Bunuel, it is a stark film about juvenile delinquency in Mexico.

Filmed in the slums of Mexico City, this movie won the grand prize for direction in Cannes in 1951.

A short film, "Un Chien Andalou", also will be shown on Tuesday. According to Salvador Dali, the film "ruined, in a single evening, ten years of pseudo-intellectual, post-war advance guardism." Luis Bunuel's and Salvador Dali's purpose of this film is to shock the people into the realization of their obsessions in 16 minutes.

Reservations should be made in the library. The tickets are free, but any student desiring to see these movies must have a ticket to be admitted.

Anyone with suggestions as to which films the college students may be interested in seeing, should leave the suggestion for Mrs. Joan Hind with Mrs. Lori Phelps in the Humanities Office Building.

What's Becoming Of Adult Generation?

"What is becoming of the younger generation?" How often have you heard these words? Usually they are spoken by an adult critic and quite often a parent. Over the years, doctors, scientists and even mathematicians have spent painstaking hours trying to figure us out, but perhaps they were studying in the wrong area.

Who is it that designs the clothes, creates the hair styles, bleaches and cosmetics? Who publishes the magazines and writes the crime detective novels?

Teenagers certainly cannot operate a liquor store or veto the "Blue Laws," but who gets all the punishment? Where do the millions of cigarettes smoked a day come from, and the L.S.D.? Who pushes it? Adult movies, "No one under 18" Followers of today but the leaders of tomorrow, and who sets the examples for us to follow?

We admit we are guilty of some faults but what can be expected from the examples set for us? So, the next time you hear an adult criticize "The Younger Generation" why not ask him to stop and analyze his own?

DeETTE

Soldier, Statesman to Observe Birthday

By Mary Aney

During the Presidential campaigns of the 1950's "I Like Ike" was the prevalent political cry. Now, seven years after "Ike" (Dwight David Eisenhower) left the presidency, that slogan remains a nostalgic reminder of an American who served his country with courage and honor.

Tomorrow, Eisenhower celebrates his 77th birthday, more than half of his lifetime having been spent as a soldier and a statesman.

Not Just Military

But Eisenhower is not solely a military man; nor should he be remembered only as a statesman. But rather, he should be respected as a man of enormous and varied capabilities. A scholar, he once held the position as president of New York's Columbia University. And as an amateur painter, he remarks modestly and humorously on his own artistic endeavor.

In "At Ease: Stories I Tell to Friends," a recently published book, Eisenhower makes this wry comment on his painting ability: "The one thing I could do well from the beginning was to cover hands, clothes, and floor with more paint than ever reached the canvas. After 18 years I am still messy. . . In Gettysburg I've tried landscapes and still lifes, but, with magnificent audacity, I have tried more landscapes than anything else - I've also burned more."

Today, Dwight David Eisenhower is still an influential political personality who has a deep-seated faith in the strength of the American people.

Rely On Americans

"... but I believe that we can always rely on the willingness of Americans, even young ones, to greatly endure in their country's cause," he wrote in "At Ease."

Eisenhower, the scholar, the soldier, the statesman, is first and last a remarkable human being, much admired by the American people. Tomorrow marks his 77th year.

Happy Birthday, Ike.

Handbook Contains Library Program

The Green River College library handbook, which will be available in about two weeks, according to Mr. Orval Hanson, librarian, will contain a complete description of the procedures for taking books out of the library. It will also explain the manner in which the card catalogue works and will include other information concerning library procedures in Holman Library.

Mr. Hanson stated that the library has doubled its capacities for language and music listening this year and that a schedule is available at the information desk. He also stated, "I feel I must stress the fact that the library has an enormous collection of valuable periodicals available to the students."

In addition to the periodicals, the library has collections of dictionaries, magazines, fiction and non-fiction books, a copying machine, and research material available to the students at the college.

Two new additions to the library include Mr. Edward Bush, librarian in charge of reference and circulation, and Mrs. Margorie Mountjoy, clerk.

Marylyn Evans Holds Torch For Cause

By Lou Rosado

Amidst the acrid smell and buzzing sound of an acetylene torch, there is a 5'4", green-eyed, freckle-faced girl with long, brown hair by the name of Marylyn Evans.

Marylyn is 18 years old and comes from Holy Rosary School in Seattle. She is an art student at Green River and is taking a welding course.

Marylyn is presently working on her first creation in her welding class. Following her studies at Green River, she plans to continue her art studies at a special school of sculpture.

Holding her welding torch in her hands, she said, "Welding is so relaxing and wonderful that I get a sense of power and strength from it." She says she would never recommend welding as a profession for women, but in connection with art "I would recommend it for both men and women."

She finds abstract art fascinating, and aside from enjoying looking at it, she feels that it has a meaning. Marylyn says she plans to go into abstract art eventually.

Circle K Slates Election Monday

Circle K will hold its election of officers on Monday, October 16, at 12 noon in HS-7, according to Mr. Nigel Adams, advisor.

Circle K is an organization for the college male whose main purpose is to offer help, and to promote worthwhile activities at Green River. Circle K is interested in working with people who are individually enthusiastic, productive, and creative, and interested in promoting a favorable image for their college and their community.

Mr. Adams stated that all interested in joining Circle K should be sure to attend the meeting Monday, and that, because of the graduation of all the members except one last year, he is sending an S.O.S. to the men on campus for membership.

Scholarship Via Commuter Announced

According to David Christman, President of North American Educational Computer Services, Inc., the service will employ a computer to match any individual student's qualifications to the requirements of over 700,000 items of national scholarships, grants, loans and other forms of assistance contained in the computer's memory bank.

The ECS service, which was demonstrated at the National Educational Association Convention in Minneapolis, on July 5, 1967, is a major breakthrough in financing college education. Until the advent of computer technology, the task of locating financial assistance for which he qualified was nearly a physically impossible task for a student, Mr. Christman noted.

The ECS computer has been programmed with over $500 million in scholarships, grants-in-aid, and fellowships available from colleges, universities, foundations, professional, business, social, civic, trade and labor organizations, corporations, religious organizations, and federal, state and local governments all over the country. Not all items are dependent on high scholastic standing or on financial need, but upon various other qualifications established by the donors.

The student wishing to use the ECS service completes a highly detailed questionnaire about his background and aims.

This information is then fed into the computer, which, in seconds compares the student's qualifications against the requirements of the various scholarship donors. The computer then types out a personalized letter to the student listing the names and the addresses of donors offering financial aid for which he is eligible, describing the number and amounts of the scholarships, and pertinent supplementary data.

The entire cost to the student for the ECS service is $15.

ARTIST AT WORK—Art student Marylyn Evans is the only girl enrolled in welding at Green River, but she enjoys the class and feels it will be big help to her in sculpture work.

Who Pays for Your Education?

Nearly four weeks have gone by since students completed the painful process of paying money to go to school for another quarter. The college now can go about its business of educating students, financially secure for another three months because the students have footed the bill again. Right?

Wrong!

Students have actually footed only about 21.3 percent of the cost of their education. That doesn't mean, however, that the college is out looking for donations for take care of the other 78.7 percent. As students are officially registered, the college is assured of support from the state and federal governments to pay the remainder of the cost.

Each full-time student at Green River College (one who takes 12 hours or more) requires an average expenditure of $984. The student himself pays $210 of that expense, less than one fourth of the total cost. The federal government pays approximately $72 per student, 7.3 percent of the cost with the state assuming the lion's share of the bill, paying an average of $702 per student, nearly 71.4 percent.

The state contributes to the cost of Green River College's operation, $602 per year for every full-time academic student enrolled and $903 for every vocational student. Since there are twice as many academic students as vocational students, the average state cost is about $702. Both academic and vocational students pay $70 per quarter, $210 per year unless they are in special short-term programs. One special program, for instance, is the eight-week drafting class. Drafting students pay a special rate, based on the amount of time they attend college, but again the matching funds from the state are at least four times the cost the student pays.

The school receives more money from the state for vocational programs because of the amount of equipment needed to operate such programs. Equipping a metal shop, a drafting room, or a body-fender shop, for instance, is much more expensive than equipping an English or history classroom. Also, since most vocational classes are "lab" classes a limited number of people are able to use the equipment at a time, fewer students per teacher are allowed per class.

The college receives money from the federal government for use in four different areas — library materials, audio-visual equipment, vocational programs, and work-study grants for students who work on campus. Federal funds are not available to all students, only those who qualify, but federal support for the programs that do qualify makes more of the other funds available in other areas.

The state's share comes from the general fund. The state general fund consists of income from sales and other excise taxes. The community college does not receive any local money from property taxes because community college districts are not allowed by law to tax property.

The student pays $70 per quarter. Of that fund, $50 goes for the college instructional program and $20 goes to the Special Services Revolving Fund which pays for all student activities — athletics, publications, drama, dances, etc. — and student services such as the Book Store. Actually, the Book Store is self-supporting, paying all expenses and salaries of the operation out of sales of books and supplies. However, the Book Store is backed by the Special Services Revolving Fund and should a loss occur, it would be assumed by the special fund. However, should the Book Store make a profit, the money would go into the Special Services account to be used for activities and other student services.

Who really pays for the college students education? The student AND (and its a pretty big and) the state and federal governments.

Today, Just An Opinion; But Tomorrow . . . Then What?

By LOU

Throughout the world the sound of discontent is being heard from the lips of the young generation. Although their methods may be varied, their meanings remain the same.

"We stand for individualism, the right for a man to be himself, to believe in what he wants to believe, to do what he wants to do, within the laws that society has so graciously set upon us." WE want our voices heard and respected, a share in the decisions that guide our society.

Better Ideas

We need new and better ideas about life, religion and politics. Mr. U Thant, Secretary-General at the U.N. once said, "Both the United States and the Soviet Union have an obsession with the past, and this shapes their policies." We feel he is right, but he omitted to mention that the remaining unmentioned countries also have this obsession.

We are sick and tired of traditions and ideas that were useful years ago, but have no place in the world of today. We feel that the world is moving fast, yet the human mind is remaining behind.

We are sick of the war-hog generals, and the peace loving quacks: we are up to our necks with the extreme radicals and their chants of salvation. We are tired of the brotherhood symbolism.

We Believe

We believe that whether we are black, white, yellow or red, WE ARE INDIVIDUALS, and we have a heritage that can't be taken away from us.

What do we want? A better world, not yours alone but ours. You hiss at us because of our hair, our clothing, our drug addiction, our free-sex, and our ideas. You laugh at us and treat us like impudent little children.

We don't make the laws, we don't wear the stars on our shoulders, we don't run the syndicates, or publish the magazines.

We don't run the government, as a matter-of-fact, we are nothing but your by-products. What we learn about life we pick up from our parents, or our wise society of elders.

Your Mirror

We are your mirror, in us you see your reflection.

How many times have we turned to you for advice and you have completely ignored us, or told us some ridiculous story, or even laughed at us. What have you, in your busy struggle for another buck, or, in between your reckless arguments, ever done for us?

You bring us up, in nice homes that can't guard us from the world outside, especially if only the worst is what comes inside. You, with your puritan ideals have set our standards high, yet yours are low, at least the ones you practice.

No, you haven't done a thing for us, but you may still have a chance before you destroy us and the world. Next time you see us walking down the street and you pause to make some criticism about our hair, clothes, or actions, take a good look and you may see yourself — and maybe understand us.

Cheerleaders Attend Conference

Green River's yell queen, Kathy Pekie, and the newly elected cheerleaders, along with their advisor, Mrs. Nancy Farness, attended a cheer conference at Olympic Junior College to get a better understanding of the job of a cheerleader and to meet the members of the cheer squads of other colleges.

Jody Olson, Kathy Bailey, Teri Williams, Sherrill Thomas, and Chriss Harron, along with Steve Gray and Jim Nixon, represented Green River at the conference. Other Junior Colleges represented included Olympic, Spokane, Shoreline, Big Bend, and Yakima.

Mr. Mark Peterson, a member of the National Cheerleaders Pep Staff, was the guest speaker for the conference. He spoke on the conduct of cheerleaders and demonstrated a new style of cheers.

MR. STEVE MATTSON

Mattson Elected President

Steve Mattson has been elected president of the Auburn Toastmasters Club for the 1967-68 year. He will serve until October, 1968, as head of the local club.

Mattson, accountant in the college business department in charge of student funds, said that any students interested in joining Toastmasters could contact him. His office is just to the left of the main desk in the front of Holman Library Building.

No Field Trips Offered To Class

Shoplifting class? Are you for real??

Yes, at least thousands of retailers throughout the country seemed to feel that way. In reality, shoplifting is becoming "one of our fastest growing crimes" with an estimated one billion dollar annual loss to the retailers.

Not What People Think

First of all, the term Shoplifting Class is not what most people think. Those planning to attend, hoping for a field trip, should forget it!! There will be no field trips, and learning how to shoplift is not the purpose of the class.

According to Mr. Joe Werner, management instructor, the purpose of this class is basically to show the people who work, or plan to work as store managers and sales personnel, methods that the professional shoplifters use to steal merchandise, and how to prevent it.

Lecture and Film

Mr. Werner said that the class will be conducted by Mr. Duane Cristensen, an instructor at the Seattle Police Academy. Mr. Cristensen will give a lecture on the subject and will show some interesting films of actual shoplifting.

There will be two 1½-hour classes. The first one is at the Renton Vocational School on October 24 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The second one will be held in Auburn, on October 26, from 7:00 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.

Housing Problem Solved

"Where are we going to put them?" could well have been the cry of Green River administration as they began placing students in off campus housing. Because of the many new students who would seek off-campus housing the administration found it necessary to establish a Student Housing Program.

Two types of housing are available through the GRCC Housing program. The student can room and board with a family, or he can rent an apartment or a house.

The cost of rent varies according to the accommodations made available to the student. Usually room and board runs between $80-$110 a month, while rent for a home or apartment runs between $40-$60.

When applying for housing, the student must agree to take on any responsibilities concerning damage done to the residency or grounds. He must also agree that any excess noise, inappropriate language or activities can be just cause for suspension from the residence and from college.

The person who has housing accommodations must submit a form agreeing to make this housing available without reference to race, creed, color, or national origin.

Before the student is placed in the residence, the college talks to the persons offering the housing to make sure all accommodations are suitable. Once the residence is put on the housing list, the Dean of Students Office takes care of any changes that might arise during the year.

Special K

From Forest To Mudflat New, Funny Things Seen

To begin a new year, it would be fitting to look at what's new, and the newest thing in sports on campus is the brand new gym. The Gator's new home will seat 2300 spectators on the bleachers that arrived just last week. Athletic Director Bob Aubert estimates that it will take about three weeks to install the new seats.

Also new to the gym are the wrestling mats, the pride and joy of coach Carr. A word of caution: Woe be unto the person that treads on the new mats in his street shoes.

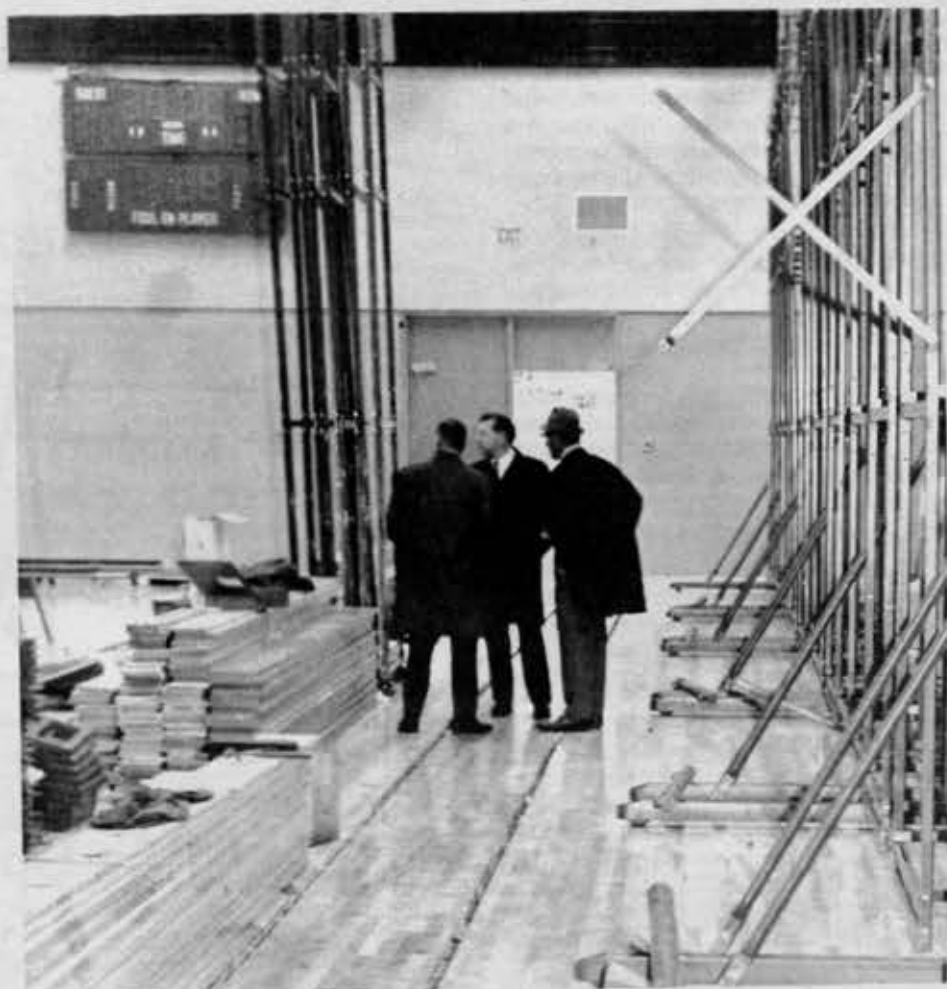

Funny Thing

Down in the PE building funny things have been going on. In Mrs. Farness' volley ball classes grown men like Roger Sloan have been seen jumping rope with some young ladies. Those same young women were later observed riding skateboards in the most awkward positions. One might question the veracity of the statement that they were watching a volleyball class. Another odd happening that was noticed, was Greg Brovold working. Man, is that weird!

In the back of the gym someone may detect the clang and clatter of steel, as well as gasps of pain, when Mr. Merrifield's amateur Zorro's cross swords. Making much more noise is Green River's answer to Robin Hood and his Merry Men, (and women), Mr. Carr's archery class. With these two groups running loose, our beautiful campus may turn into a miniature Sherwood Forest.

Forest to Mudflat

To move from the forests to the mudflats, it comes to mind that this is October, and October is what? Football season, of course, and what does football season mean? The annual Sophomore-Freshman football game, of course. Due to circumstances beyond their control, our noble Frosh have yet to win a game. Again this year it looks like the Sophs will be just too much for the inferior Freshmen.

BLEACHERS UNDER CONSTRUCTION—Dr. Melvin Lindbloom talks with two campus guests as they observe progress in putting up bleachers in the new college gymnasium. Bleachers should be installed and baskets put up within the next month.

Three Week Deadline Set For Bleachers

Anyone going by the gym the last few days has probably observed scattered articles strewn across the gym floor. These articles, when assembled together, will form two sets of bleachers for the gym.

These bleachers are unique in many ways such as being fully electric. The push of a button will fold out or fold up either set. They are nineteen rows high, 100 feet long, and will seat approximately 3,000.

One set will be attached to one of the walls and, when folded out, come within six feet of the playing surface. The other set, when not in use, will stand verticle, approximately 4 - 6 feet from the playing area, allowing for an extra room on the opposite side of it. When this set folds out, it will come within four feet of the wall.

College students helping have aided in the loading and unloading of the bleachers in order to speed up progress. The completion date has been set at approximately three weeks.

Just One Decent Thing About Friday the 13th

The fact that a black cat crossed your path this morning may not mean anything. You probably would have flunked that Sociology exam anyway. And those note cards you lost on your way to make that Speech 101 presentation might have disappeared on their own accord.

Even the fact that you found yourself standing in the lunchline behind the instructor whose class you skipped earlier today is not a clear indication.

But then you discover that you're balding at age 19, that you were in the group with 37 per cent more cavities, and that the Peppermint Trolley has cancelled its engagement and is being replaced by Lawrence Welk's Geritol Orchestra. And then you think that maybe that black cat knew what it was walking about.

The only decent thing about Friday the 13th is that it's followed closely by Saturday, the 14th.

Jones, Woods, Cavezel, To Lead Gators

The Green River cross country team takes on Tacoma in their first home meet today. Leading the Gators will be Guy Woods, Denny Jones, and Dave Cavezel. These three turned in the Gators best performances at the meet at Skagit Valley last week.

As expected, Highline fielded a strong team, sweeping the first three places, followed by the Gators' Guy Woods, a freshman from Meadowdale. The Thunderbird's Joe Baisch established a new course record by touring the 3.26 miles in 17:58. The old record was set by Green River's Dale Opp last year.

In cross country, the scoring is one point for first place, two for second, and so on, with the team having the lowest score winning. At Skagit Valley last week it was Highline with 22, Yakima Valley 58, Skagit Valley 75, and Green River 75.

LDS Club To Hold Elections

The Deseret Club will hold its election of officers on Wednesday at 3:00 p.m. in HS-12. All Latter Day Saints students are eligible for membership and therefore eligible to be officers.
