

Students Vote Next Week

RANDY RUTLEDGE

Green River College students go to the polls Tuesday and Wednesday in mid-year elections, brought about by a series of unusual circumstances. On the ballot will be student body offices, a full slate of candidates to direct the freshmen and sophomore classes, and the constitution.

Normally, elections are held in the spring. Last spring, with some 150 students enrolled, a president and secretary were chosen—Barry Maynard and Alana Hoffman. But Maynard resigned the presidency at the end of fall quarter, necessitating a special election since there was no elected vice-president.

MORE OFFICES

The Student Council, in setting up the election, decided to choose a vice-president and secretary of communications as well. Also, no elections had been held as yet for class offices so freshmen and sophomore candidates were also included on the ballot, providing nearly a full slate of candidates.

To top it off, a revised constitution is also being submitted to students for their ratification. Early in the year, students failed to turn out in sufficient number to pass the constitution. The new version is somewhat shorter, according to student officials.

SEEKING PRESIDENCY

In the contest for ASB president are Randy Rutledge, a 1964 graduate of Lake Washington High School in Kirkland, and president pro tem, Mike Seney. Rutledge was active in debate fall quarter and served on the Student Council. Seney, a 1965 Sumner High graduate, debated in high school and was vice-president of the honor society.

Running without opposition for ASB vice-president is John Jones from Auburn. Linda Tarabachia is also without competition for the position of Secretary of Communications. She attended Holy Rosary in Seattle.

Karen Jorgensen and Bob Reis, both freshmen from Auburn, are running for treasurer.

FROSH CANDIDATES

Three students are seeking the office of freshman class president. Nominated are Bill Herman from Renton and Mark Lauston of Highline. Staging a late write-in campaign is Danny Zivanich of Cleveland in Seattle. Zivanich did not file a nominating petition and therefore will not be listed on the ballot. He is the only candidate at publication time actively seeking a write-in vote, although candidates may be written in for any of the offices.

Jim Dennis and Dick Powell are seeking frosh votes for the vice-presidential chair. Jim is from West Seattle and Dick is from Renton.

Marcia McKenna, Renton; Dennis Cummings, Federal Way (a graduate of Shelton); and Bill Merifield, Buckley; are all running for freshman representative to the Student Council.

SOPHOMORE CANDIDATES

Duane Lien, a transfer student from Pacific Lutheran, is unopposed for the sophomore class presidency. Vicki Rhodes, a WSU transfer, has no competition for the vice-presidency of the class.

Dennis DeMers of Corvallis, Oregon and Jerry Schneider, another ex-WSU student are running for sophomore representative.

Nation Editor to Speak On Campus Thursday

Carey McWilliams, noted editor of THE NATION magazine, will be on campus Thursday. He will speak at 8 o'clock p.m. where he is the first in an artist-lecture series, according to Orval Hansen, the chairman of the committee planning the evening presentations.

Mr. McWilliams has devoted many years to the study of controversial social issues. He is the author of a dozen or so books, half of them on critically important social questions. "BROTHERS UNDER THE SKIN," devoted to this country's racial and ethnic minorities, has been translated into several languages. "A MASK FOR PRIVILEGE," deals with anti-semitism in the United States.

Other books include PREJUDICE, published in 1944; FACTORIES

IN THE FIELD, and ILL FARES THE LAND, both dealing with problems of migratory farm labor and mechanized agriculture; NORTH FROM MEXICO; SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA COUNTRY; AN ISLAND ON THE LAND; and CALIFORNIA: THE GREAT EXCEPTION. He has also written a biography of Ambrose Bierce.

Carey McWilliams, a native of Steamboat Springs, Colorado has lectured extensively at colleges, universities, and at many forums. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California with a law degree in 1927 and was admitted to the California bar the same year. Twice awarded Guggenheim Fellowships, he has been on the staff of THE NATION since 1945, becoming associate editor in 1951, editorial director a year later, and assuming the present post of editor in 1955. THE NATION magazine is the oldest weekly journal of opinion in the country, having observed its centennial in July, 1965.

Pakistan Educator To Visit Next Week

Mr. Mozibar Rahman, former assistant headmaster and teacher at Naogan K.C. High School, East Pakistan, arrived in Auburn January 5, and will visit Green River Community College on January 26 through January 28 to observe classes.

After his departure from Green River, Mr. Rahman will participate in a two-week evaluation program at Washington, D.C. On his return home, he will take over the post of headmaster of the high school where he teaches.

Mr. Rahman has received his Intermediate Arts Degree and His B.A. Degree at Rajahai Government College, and his B. Ed. Degree at Rajahai Teachers' Training School. His chosen field of training is school administration and supervision in secondary schools.

Mr. Rahman is a visitor to Green River as a function of the International Teacher Development Program. He is 43, married, and has three children, ages 3, 7, and 10. He is of the Islamic religion and speaks Bengali and English.

For one week of his stay here, Mr. Rahman will be a guest at the home of Dick Passage, a teacher at Green River Community College.

Editor Resigns; Rhodes Fills In

Steve Rhodes, a freshman from Port Townsend, has been named the acting editor for the CURRENT, until a new editor is definitely named.

The change in the paper editorship was necessitated last week when James M. Strunk resigned because of a pressing workload in addition to his full class schedule.

Rhodes, in his second quarter at Green River, is a graduate of Port Townsend High School. He was the number one assistant to Strunk during the fall quarter and is currently one of those being considered by adviser Ed Eaton as a permanent replacement. Eaton said that an announcement about the selection of new editor will be made next week.

Enrollment Increase Noted

This quarter there are 993 students enrolled at Green River Community College. Of this number 750 students are here from the fall quarter. There is an enrollment of 243 new students for the winter quarter. These figures include a class of 20 students from a special Boeing program, 37 students from the Manpower Development Training Act Drafting program, and 32 students in the Licensed Practical Nurse program.

Registration was held on January 3 and the last day to add classes was January 12. Students are reminded that the last day to withdraw with a "W" grade is February 1.

Stricter Requirements Noted by Draft Board

Stricter requirements for student deferment from the draft are a definite possibility, according to Chester J. Chastek, state director of the Selective Service System.

In a letter to college registrars, Chastek said, in part:

"In order to provide sufficient numbers of men to meet the increased calls, a closer look has been taken at all deferments—including student deferments. Local boards are reviewing the fields of all registrants classified in Class II-S to the end that those who are not progressing normally (who are in Class II-S) will be reclassified. 'Normal progress' contemplates the completion of a four-year course, within four years, or a two-year course within two years. Registrants who do not enroll and attend promptly following high school will not be considered as having progressed normally under this definition. More restrictive standards are imminent—I repeat imminent—if calls remain at a high level. As an example, serious consideration is being given to requiring enrollment in 15 credit hours of study to be considered as full-time.

"Registrants should keep their local boards informed of their activities as students, their addresses and any other information which might have a bearing on their classifications. They should also insure that evidence of their activities as students is furnished their local board by the colleges they are attending."

Headwaters of the Current Running For Treasurer

Next week, the first major ASB elections of GRCC will be held. This will be your chance, as a student body, to elect the candidates of your choice. You must remember that these will be your student leaders. These people will represent you in office, make major decisions for you, and set up the policies by which the future students of GRCC will have to abide.

Office of ASB president will require the most important thoughts before casting that ballot. Not only is it the major office, but we have two well-qualified candidates running for this position.

Randy Rutledge, chairman of the artist-lecture series, has been active on Student Council since October and assisted Chairman Dewain Lien on revising the constitution now ready for student ratification. Along with the constitution committee, Randy also worked on the election committee to get a student government organized so that every student can have an equal voice at GRCC.

Randy's opposition for ASB President is Mike Seney, president pro-tem of Student Council.

Mike has been active in Student Council since fall quarter, taking over as president when Barry Maynard resigned because of personal reasons. While acting as president, Mike and the Student Council organized the election, constitution, and artist-lecture series committees.

If elected to the position of president Mike hopes to establish a student justice council and a campaign to raise the needed $8,000 to pave the parking lots, while his opposition, Randy, hopes to make student government more effective for the students as well as for the administration and promote more student activities such as the artist-lecture series.

As a school paper, we cannot say who is best qualified for this position, but no matter who you vote for, be sure to vote!

Club Plans School Dances, Trips, Lessons, Car Washes

Ski Club started 1966 in style, sponsoring a dance January 8, from 9 to 12 in the student center. Music was supplied by "The Third Generation." Curt Willard, Ski Club president, stated that the dance was "quite successful" and the $74.00 profit will go into Ski Club funds which will be used for a trip in the Spring.

Later this month, Ski Club hopes to have another dance. Although the date has not been definitely set, it will be near the end of January. This second dance will be grub, and Curt invites all students to attend.

The beginning of 1966 also brought about another activity for Ski Club, its membership drive. Ski Club members are now busy recruiting students, new and old, to take an active part in the club. In Curt's words "Ski Club is not just an organization for those who know how to ski, but it is open for all students who have an interest in skiing and other Ski Club activities."

These other activities include car washes, dances, and first aid lessons which are now being given every Monday and Wednesday from 8 to 10. These lessons will run for approximately eight weeks. Membership fee is $3.00 and this money will help pay for an overnight ski trip to Timberline lodge on Mt. Hood, March 23 to 26. Sign up sheets will be posted with further details.

Staff Names Yearbook

"Knowledge on a Hill," is the title of G.R.C.C.'s annual, "Knonahi." The title originates from the first two letters of each of the four words.

The annual staff has a total of 20 students enrolled and has already made progress. The staff must meet one deadline, at which time the entire book will be sent to Pischell Company for publication. The yearbook will be issued prior to the end of spring quarter at a cost of $2.00 per copy. Nearly 500 students have already ordered books.

In addition to Vicki Rhodes, editor, other staff members are: Kristi Ward, introduction; Candy Cole, faculty editor; Kris Tourville, night classes; Gayle Leslie, sports; Denny Pasquire, photography.

More Buildings Due by Spring

By PAULA BAILEY
Staff Reporter

The Humanities and Social Science buildings and the Trade and Industry buildings which are now under construction on the campus of the Green River Community College, will open their doors to students at the beginning of the spring quarter.

After the completion of these constructions, the Music-Drama Center and the Physical Education fieldhouse will have top priority over the other buildings to be built. The plans for these buildings are finished. The Music and Drama building will be styled after a little theatre, with study rooms surrounding the main stage area.

The spring registration of students is not expected to change. The school is solely dependent on state legislation appropriations and student tuition. At this time, the state appropriation is used and the tuition of students is not expected to support an increase in the number of students to attend the school.

Plans have been laid for the enlargement of the library. The north wall of the room is to be expanded and the reading rooms are to be added.

Also in the plans for reconstruction and designing, are counseling facilities. The present situation cannot handle the number of students who have registered for school.

Among the buildings which are planned for the near future is a Student Union building. It is believed that a Union building and an outdoor plaza will decrease the pressure on the student lounge.

The Plaza and school landscaping are to be finished by some time next year. The Chinook District Garden Clubs plan to purchase shrubs and rhododendrons for the campus. The main part of the school, however, will retain its natural landscaping.

"In way of prediction," stated Dr. Melvin Linbloom, Dean of Instructions, "Green River Community College has made an impression both locally and state-wide. The need for more construction is evident by the number of students who have registered. We now have 120 more students than we did last quarter. I am assured that we will grow as soon as the proper funds are available."

Field Trips, Speakers Announced

Paul Lewan's psychology and sociology classes have a busy schedule set for winter quarter.

Tuesday, Feb. 1, the Psych 201 classes will take a field trip to Rainier School near Buckley. On Feb. 8, Psych. 100, Soc. 110, and Psych. 201 classes will visit the school.

The Psych. 201 classes will travel to Cascadia Juvenile Reception and Diagnostic Center on Feb. 10.

Four speakers are scheduled for all Mr. Lewan's Psych. and Soc. classes. On Feb. 15 Mr. S. Kaplan, B'nai B'rith, will talk on extremism in politics, civil rights, and possible solutions. Feb. 24, Rev. Norman Lawson of Auburn will discuss the role of the minister as a counselor, religion and values, comparative religions and religious terms, and the role of a minister.

March 1, Ray Ogden of the juvenile detail of the Auburn Police Department will discuss delinquency, dependency, community services available, possible causes and solutions, law, and police procedures.

Marsh 8, Ray Williams of the Youth Opportunities Section of the State Employment Security Department will talk about employment services, trends, opportunities, and youth opportunities.

Gary Good of SNCC will talk about youth participation in social action, civil liberties, SNCC activities, and non-violence as a technique for social change on March 14.

Profile in Education: Melvin Lindbloom

Dr. Melvin Lindbloom likes to talk about the future of Green River College. He calls it "exciting" and generates a sincere enthusiasm for the school's potential.

Pres. Lindbloom visualizes a school with an enrollment of 2,500 in the not too distant future. "We have a good start toward campus development," he pointed out, "and we have an excellent faculty."

Students now enrolled are people who seem to have "definite goals," he noted when asked about the student body.

He dismisses any talk of Green River becoming a four-year school because "we can serve more people" as a community college. Already, the school serves as many students in evening as it does during the day schedule.

Dr. Lindbloom began his teaching career at Sulton High School where he was jack of all trades. He taught math, history, and P.E. and coached nearly all sports. He later moved to Quincy High School, also in Eastern Washington, where he became the principal and later superintendent of schools. In 1962 he came to Auburn to be the assistant superintendent of schools to Hayes Holman, the man who first generated the community college idea in Auburn. Dr. Lindbloom was directly involved in the planning of the college and in July of 1964, was named president of the new school.

Dr. Lindbloom was raised in Western Washington, graduating from high school at Sedro Wooley. After three years in the Navy during World War II, he started college at Western Washington State College in Bellingham where he received a bachelor's degree in education. He received his master's at Western and earned a doctorate at Washington State University in educational administration and higher education.

At Green River, he has had to face many of the same problems that students must meet daily, such as finding a parking place in the morning. But he recognizes the parking problem and others as automatic with growing pains and is working toward their solution with the rest of his staff. He has bright hopes for the future.

Political Action Club to Discuss Viet Nam Crisis

The Political Action Club plans a Viet Nam report-discussion panel during "Viet Nam month." The February panel will present opinions for and against the Asian conflict. Students who wish to participate on the panel should contact Randy Rutledge.

The meetings of the political club have included discussion of contemporary political subjects. Viet Nam and the Great Society have been discussed. In its next meeting a guest speaker from East Pakistan will address the group.

Rock Display Set

Student response and contributions by Dr. Jerry Miller and Dr. Emlyn Jones have given GRCC a rock display. Dr. Jones was given some excellent specimens by two of his friends, Mr. Joe Carbonato and Mr. Dick Patrielli. These specimens were found in Montana at an elevation of 9,000 feet. Dr. Miller examined these rocks and placed their age at about 300,000,000 years.

Students can see examples of coral, shells, free copper, and the rare chambered nautilus in the library.

Auditions Continue For Show

Try-outs for an all-school Varsity Show are being held this week under the direction of the sponsoring Deseret Club.

Auditions for the variety program began Thursday and will continue today and Monday and Tuesday. Today's try-outs will be held in room L-45 from 4 to 5 p.m. Monday and Tuesday they will be from 11 a.m. to 12:30, also in L-45.

Pam Reser, chairman of the activity, said that actual date of the production will depend on where it is held. Club officials today were making final arrangements for an auditorium.

The Varsity Show will probably be held sometime during the middle of the first week of February.

Students Attend Model UN Meet

January 8, Green River's librarian, Mr. Orval Hansen, and two students—Karl Kohl and Gary Russo—attended the Model United Nations workshop on the University of Washington campus.

This workshop was intended to be of help to delegates to the Model U.N. next April in San Francisco. Green River is sending no delegates this year but attendance at the workshop, in Mr. Hansen's words, "made me aware of the methods of research and the responsibilities of the MUN delegate." Mr. Hansen also stated that one or two observers may be sent this year.

The luncheon speaker, Dr. Peter Ristuben, called for the use of national power for the "goals of mankind." Dr. Ristuben did not define the term, and one Green River student remarked sarcastically that "the goals of mankind" are probably the goals of Dr. Peter Ristuben.

The Pacific Lutheran professor also called for the involvement of the U.N. delegate as a policy maker, rather than a mirror of administration policy.

Others are: Karen Furman and Paul F. Goldsberry, Black Diamond; Charles W. Kolisch and Daryl Satterthwaite, Buckley; Dana Petzoldt, David Petzoldt, and Karen A. Todd, Issaquah; Clara Ann Trinidad, Pacific; Malorie Nelson, Redondo; Albert E. Chicklero, Snoqualmie; Michael Peter Grimmit and John Swieso, Tacoma; and Ken Frank Swanson, Orting.

Dance Held at Elks

Karen Jorgenson and Bob Reis were co-chairmen of the "Christmas A Go Go" dance held at the Auburn Elks Club featuring The Shalamars, a dancing and singing group accompanying the Jams.

The dance was held for the enjoyment of the student body rather than a money-making project. A total profit of $12 was made on the dance.

The $25 made on concessions was contributed to the P.I. Christmas fund. This was done "to demonstrate to the public," said Steve Rhodes, "that the young men and women of today do have serious thoughts and concern for their fellow men."

Drama Students Plan One-Acts

With four one-act plays and a reading theatre as class projects the drama class has a quarter of hard but rewarding work planned.

The plays will be presented before the last three weeks of the quarter in a repertory style.

Trojan Swimmers Stop Initial Gator Effort

Everett's Trojans scored a decisive 85-12 victory over Green River at Everett Wednesday afternoon in the first varsity competition for the Gators.

In a dual meet, events are scored 5-3-1. The majority of Green River's points were picked up by third places.

The team has been turning out at 6 a.m. daily at the YMCA pool. Coach Don Simmons of the Auburn "Y" noted, "I think the team did very well. We have only been turning out for three weeks and I have noticed a tremendous amount of improvement in our ability in that short time. We need more depth. We have only nine people swimming when we could use 20. Those that have been turning out show a great deal of enthusiasm. Anyone who would turn out at six o'clock must have enthusiasm."

FIRST COMPETITION

"Except for Phil Hansen, this was the first meet for all of our people. I expect that in the coming months we will see a lot of improvement in times and in scores."

The Gators meet Everett again February 4 in the Auburn pool. The meet will begin at 5 p.m. and spectators are welcome. No other meets have been scheduled yet but Coach Simmons expects to arrange meets with Columbia Basin, the UPS freshmen, the University of Washington frosh, and several high school varsity teams before the season ends.

Results for Green River competitors at Everett are as follows: Phil Hansen, second in the 200 yard freestyle, third in the 100 yard butterfly; Dick O'Connell, fourth in both the 200 free and 100 butterfly; Lamont Gregory, third in the 200 individual medley; Tom Sweattman, third in the 100 free and fourth in the 100 breaststroke; Terry Mengel, fourth in both the 50 free and the 100 backstroke; Dave Edmondson, third in both the 50 free and the 100 backstroke; Mike Rhodes, fourth in the 100 freestyle; Dave Feden, failed to finish 400 yard style endurance test.

MOST EXCITING

The most exciting event of the afternoon was the 50 yard freestyle race for second between Green River's Dave Edmondson and Nunnemaker of Everett. Nunnemaker was clocked in 26.0 and Edmondson finished in 26.1.

Other people who have expressed an interest in swim team are Troy Johnson, Gary Whitman, Steve Barnes, Mike Seney, Randy Rutledge, and John Atwood who had to quit to go to work at Boeing. Team managers are Bob Reis and Steve Holmquist. Holmquist can't compete because he has not taken 10 hours at Green River. Glen Wilber, a promising butterfly specialist, had to drop swimming to go to work.

Gators Face League Leader In Rematch This Wednesday

Coach Bob Aubert's Green River hoopsters Wednesday night will shoot for their sixth straight YMCA League victory as they challenge the undefeated league-leading Mutual of Enumclaw team. The game starts at 8:45 in the Olympic Junior High gym.

The Gators were badly beaten by the highly-touted Mutual team, 85-47, in the third game of the season. But that was the last game the Gators lost to a local team. They're a much improved squad and are actually looking forward to the rematch, according to Coach Aubert.

The Gator five started slowly this year, losing the first four games, but they've since won eight of their last 10 games. Five of those games have been against frosh teams from other community colleges. The Auburn club broke into the win column, upsetting Olympic here, 69-67.

The Gators now have a 2-4 record against college competition and a 5-2 mark in YMCA League play. The next college contest will be Saturday, Jan. 29, in the Olympic Junior High gym as the Gators host Centralia in a return match. As a special attraction, the faculty has accepted a challenge and will play a special student team in a preliminary game set to begin at 6:30. Ken Haak and Danny Zivanich are organizing the student team and Dr. Emlyn Jones is master-minding the faculty efforts.

Phil Zackula (12) drives for a lay-in.

Scoring

Phil Zackula of Sumner leads the Gator hoop squad in individual point averages with 19.5 points per game.

Three others, Jim Hawley, Rob Turner, and Mike Callahan have broken into the two number bracket. Hawley is second to Zackula with an average of 14.6 points per game. Turner and Callahan are next with 10.5 each.

Phil Zackula	19.5
Jim Hawley	14.6
Rob Turner	10.5
Bryce Bertran	9.5
Neil Sorum	6.0
Randy Rogers	4.2
Jim Totten	4.1
Jerry Schneider	2.8
Ted Linde	2.3
Steve Eckloff	2.0

Matmen Top Olympic

Green River College wrestlers broke into the win column Saturday night by stopping Olympic, 18-15.

Winners for Green River were Ladd Blair, 123-pounder; Curt Vandver, 167; Mick Gillispie, 191; and Mike Lindsley, unlimited. Blair and Vandver won by forfeit, Gillispie decisioned Barker and Lindsley pinned Ray Riggs.

Olympic's Rall Noll pinned Richard Lightburn in the 137 division; Randy Brooks won the second match for the visitors by pinning Rocky Knight in the 145-pound class, and Kosteletzky of Olympic wrapped up the scoring for the visitors by pinning Vern Jones in 160-pound class.
