Students have voice in Paper Tree operation

by Tim Hyatt

The prices and profit structure of the Paper Tree book store have been the topic of many heated discussions among student in the years past.

Contrary to popular beliefs, the Paper Tree is not privately owned. The book store is owned by the State of Washington and operated by Green River Community College. The prices and over-all budget are reviewed each quarter by the book store board. The board consists of three faculty members, three administrative people, and three students.

The faculty members are chosen from the full time staff and generally serve a two year hitch on the board.

Dr. Earl Norman, dean for students; Rich Rutkowski, dean for business affairs; and Dave Rossic, controller, make up the three administrative representatives. The student contention is appointed by student government and usually rotates with the election of the new student government.

The people working in the book store are all state employees and have no vested interest in the profits made from sales.

"Our prices are somewhat higher with sundry items because we cannot buy in high volumes," commented Wayne Larson, book store manager. "Our book prices are pretty consistant with everyone else in the state but when it comes to pens, pencils, and paper and things like that we are at the mercy of our size."

The book store budget is geared for taking care of all their own expenses. "We cover our own phone bill, lights, and maintenance costs," said Larson. "With rental costs at $8,000 and wages at 53,000 we do have to maintain a profit structure in order to survive."

When asked about the book buy back policy, Larson indicated that the buy back program is handled through an independent company. "West Coast Books from Beaverton, Oregon does all the buying of used books," replied Larson, "they contract through the state and all resale prices on used books are then set by the state."

"We don't own a thing around here," Larson said, "it all belongs to the state, the taxpayers, and the students."

Brown's work pays off

Irene Brown, once the director of the Occupational Therapy Department, died Monday, May 5, after an extended illness.

Brown had been an instructor at GRCC for the past seven years. In those seven years she had done much to help the occupational therapy program grow. She was instrumental in locating off campus clinic sites for students to receive actual clinic experience. Brown had also put a great deal of effort into getting the GRCC therapy program certified . . .

O.T. program certified

The Occupational Therapy Assistant Program at Green River Community College was unofficially granted full continuing approval following a visit on April 28, 29, and 30, by two representatives of the American Occupational Therapy Association's Accreditation Committee.

In addition to the on-site visit, the accreditation committee extensively reviewed materials pertaining to all aspects of the education program. The association's review process is designed to assure competent educational programs with the profession.

The on-site visit team was coordinated by Dr. Amy Lind, who is currently chairman of the Occupational Therapy School at the University of North Dakota. The other visiting team member was Ms. Florence Cromwell from Pasadena, California who is currently an education and administration consultant. Both team members have held a number of offices in health professional organizations.

In addition to meeting with instructors in the Occupational Therapy Program, the team met with administration members, faculty in other departments, student clinical supervisors and currently enrolled students.

Recent statistics from the U.S. Department of Labor project a greater percentage increase in the workforce of occupational therapy personnel than for any other profession or occupation studied. Increasing public demands for comprehensive health care programs are greatly responsible for this growth.

The Occupational Therapy Assistant Program at Green River Community College is a two year course which grants an Associate in Applied Science Degree.

Student senate report

Former pres. candidate appointed to GRCC senate

by Connie Frankhauser

Bill Everts, former candidate for student-body president for 1980-81, was appointed to the position of sophomore senator in the GRCC student Senate by a vote of the senate in a meeting May 8.

The position had been advertised as being open and Everts applied unchallenged.

Everts will be serving under Student-Body President Ben Benson who beat him in the spring election.

When asked following the meeting if this relationship could cause problems, Everts said, "There may be some opposition to me at first as a result of feelings from the election. But I have started to develop good relationships, and I feel I will make a good senator."

Everts said he will carry many of his election campaign goals into the senator job with him.

"I want to go into this with the idea of really representing the students," Everts said. "During my campaign, I talked to a lot of people and feel I have some insight into student needs. Somehow I want to communicate to the student that their focal question should be, What is student government doing for me?"

Everts said he felt he had a solid base of support. "I received 47 percent of the votes during the election and I really looked for the needs, so I can be representative of the students needs."

He continued, "While I am a student senator, I want to help instill pride in the student minds about going to Green River. Our college is acknowledged as one of the top in the state, and I think that it is something to be proud of."

Everts will assume the position effective immediately and will continue to serve as senator through next school year.

Other senate business included the granting of $2,500 for the remodeling done to the Listening Room on the second floor of the Lindbloom Student Center. This money is to be added to monies from various funds to pay for the project costing $20,000.

A bill for a steel backstop for the softball field was denied. The bill, not recommended by the budget committee, failed because the senate felt it would not end up paying for itself.

Sentor Mary Neil said, "By the time we would get the backstop, it would only be used for one season. By then, the diamond in the park across from Green River would be completed and they will play there. We felt that they could continue to play where they are for one more year."

The new executive typewriter applied for will not purchased through student government funds. The budget committee suggested that since sufficient funds remain in the executive budget, those monies be used for its purchase.

The senate granted $150 to the Human Awareness club for a retreat being planned.

Gator Booster Club sponsors salmon seminar

by Alison Mazarr

The Gator Booster Club of Green River Community College will sponsor a presentation of Charles R. White's, "Salmon Seminar" in the Lindbloom Student Center on Thursday, May 29 at 7:30 p.m.

The "Salmon Seminar" is a beautiful color film presentation narrated by fisherman/author Charles White and features his unique research with an underwater TV camera. His sensational video tape of salmon actually striking trolled lures attracted unprecedented audiences when the film was first introduced last year in Tacoma at the Seattle Center.

The "Salmon Seminar" film displays White's extensive evidence of how salmon react to lures, the direction and speed of their approach, how they strike, and how they sometimes get away. In addition, he will demonstrate new downrigger and hook sharpening techniques, as well as share his insights on how to select the best locations, bait, lures, and other tackle to help fisherman catch more fish. The film also includes spectacular footage of giant salmon being caught in River Inlets.

Charley White, a resident of Sidney, B.C., is a well known Canadian fishing guide, lecturer, biologist, inventor, photographer, author, editor, and publisher. He has written and edited an entire series of books on how to catch fish. Among other accomplishments, he was responsible for developing the original Underseas Gardens in Victoria, B.C. In addition to being a very knowledgeable and successful fisherman, Mr. White is also a dynamic and entertaining speaker.

This is essentially the same program presented last year in Tacoma and at the Seattle Center. The anticipated new film featuring more advanced research with the underwater camera has been delayed until next year. However, anyone wishing to see the original film a second time will still find it improved with additional surface footage and a musical sound track.

All tickets for the "Salmon Seminar" are $5 and may be purchased at Auburn Sports and Marine; Birdies Northwest Tackle Service in Kent; Sports West of Federal Way and the Student Programs Office on campus. Due to limited seating and a past record of sell-out audiences, early purchase of tickets is recommended.

For more information, contact Jack Johnson in the Student Programs Office, ext. 337.

Three holes burned in curtain

Stage curtain burned

Last Friday night the curtains in the Performing Arts Building were partially burned. During intermission of the Dance Company's recital it was noticed that the stage curtains were smoking.

The smoldering curtains were caused by the set lights being too close. The heat from the lights ignited the curtains. Three large holes were burned in the curtains. Geraldine Mertz, Associate Dean of Instruction, seemed to think the damaged portion of the curtains will be repairable and replacement of the curtains will not be necessary.

Central hosts music festival

The GRCC Choir and the Choirs from Central, Spokane Falls, Yakima and Wenatchee will be performing at the Hertz Music Festival May 17 and 18, on the campus of Central Washington University.

The Hertz Festival has become an annual event at the University. It was started a few years ago in honor of Mr. Wayne Hertz, who has excelled in the music field. Mr. Hertz will be giving a short speech the night of the 17th, on a topic of his choosing. Throughout the evening each choir will give an individual performance.

On the eve of the 18th the Yakima and Central Choirs will combine to present "Stravinsky's Symphony of Psalms." As a finale all of the choirs will join together to sing 45 coral anthems.

The only other performance which the GRCC Choir will be giving is that of the Spring Concert which will be presented Thursday, June 5th.

The Chamber Singers are preparing to sing, and then sing some more at a number of events starting in May with an invitation to sing for the Womens

Music and Art Counsel on the 15th. After this, they will be traveling to Western Washington University, May 31st, to perform before an audience of over 60,000 at the Renaissance Fair. At this event, the group will have the privilege of performing on a reproduction of an old renaissance stage. On the 7th of June, the singers will be at the Super Saturday Festival held at Evergreen State College and to close the season, the Chamber Singers will go on a tour of Victoria, Nanaimo, Vancouver B.C., Merrysville and Vancouver Island. The tour will begin the 13th of June and will end on the 17th.

The Chamber singers will be presenting a number of Madrigals-authentic, traditional, folk songs from America and the British Isles, early blues from Black America and an occasional student composition at each of these events.

Ron Smith, the group coordinator, said, "The Chamber Singers of this year are probably one of the finest performing groups that I've had at the college." Overall, we should have an interesting tour.

New rules for GR Fun Run

To The Editor:

This letter is to compliment "The Current" staff on the nice write-up of the 6.2 miles Green River Fun Run.

While this article went to press, the GRCC Business Management Association had a staff meeting and changed a couple of the race rules. The changes are not significant, but I should provide them to you so that a possible correction to this May 2 article could be published.

The entry fee has been changed to $3 for all entries, and we are going to substitute ribbons for T-shirts. The GRCC Business Management Association will make any adjustments necessary to those readers who have already submitted entry fees.

We appreciate the "Current" publicity, and we anticipate a good turnout and lots of fun with this running event.

Thanks for your assistance.

80-81 Pres/V.P. express thanks

To The Editor:

We would like to take this time to thank students for voting in the student body elections on April 23 and 24. Green River should be proud of the 1,156 students who voted, to give GRCC the state record for number of students voting in an election.

We would like to congratulate Bill and John for the excellent campaign they ran and the hard work they put forth during the elections.

Both of us are looking forward to serving as student body officers for next year. We would like to take this time to receive student ideas and input on Student government issues for next year. You can reach one of us in Student Programs, on the second floor of the LSC, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. If you have any problems or questions you would like to discuss during the summer we will be available in Student Programs. Feel free to stop by and see us.

Sincerely,

Ben Benson and Mary Neil

Reimbursement rule questioned

To The Editor:

I read in the Senate report in the Current last week that request by KGRG for $500 to reimburse students who had used their own money for much needed remodeling of the station was turned down.

The reason makes sense. Since the project didn't get advance approval, it shouldn't be funded after the fact because, once that is done, the Senate could be hit with numerous requests for funding in the hopes student would be reimbursed.

However, there is another side to the coin. When students choose to gamble that way and go ahead with a project, the funding agency then gets a chance to examine the results and see if the quality of their work is worth funding. If based on the criteria, there is doubt the project would have been funded because the students cut cost by getting donated materials and donated labor and only asked for actual cost in the proposal. In fact, $500 is a bargain for what that should have cost.

I am not connected with the radio station and have no reason to see that they get their money back, I don't even know the people that did the work, but it seems ironic that an organization that can seriously consider funding retreats to a plush seaside resort for student program workers, and spend $2,500 on remodeling a music listening room can turn down one of the most legitimate requests ever presented to them.

I would think that it could be reconsidered.

Tennis teams competing at state

by Denise Ryan

The Gator men's and women's tennis teams have been through their ups and downs lately, in their final league and regional matches. Yet foremost in their minds is the State Championship in Pasco and Yakima, where they are at this minute playing for the top trophies in the tournament.

The men's road to the state matches was easier than the women's in one respect only. Unlike the women's format, the entire men's team automatically goes to state, and this causes some problems when it comes time for funding from the student senate. "With the men," explained Coach Steve Sauers, "it's already in the budget, because the men always go, but for the women it's not. It's an extra tournament, and they have to qualify for it, kind of like the basketball team, which has to get special funding."

Any way you look at it, the student government approval will have to come soon. The women planned on leaving Wednesday afternoon for the Tri Cities. Matches for both men and women began yesterday at 9 a.m. at Yakima Valley College and Columbia Basin College, respectively, and finals begin tomorrow.

The women are expected to do very well at State, and all one needs to back this statement is to look at the results from last weekend's Regional Tournament held at the Boeing racquet courts. Out of 90 possible event points, Green River captured 86. All players were seeded number one on the tournament roster, and all players finished the same but one (Toni Copp finished number two in her final match.) Being seeded number one was definitely an advantage, as Sauers comments, "A couple of the schools didn't have full teams, one school only had two people, so a lot of our players got a bye in the first round."

Still, the regional tournament was a good indication of the Gator women's potential. "When you look at the final results, and see how the Green River women did in all nine events, it was sort as if we were playing an all star team, the best from the other eight teams," Sauers also commented, "it was just an incredibly strong showing, unusual for a tournament, because a lot of the players really can rise to the occasion; players for the other teams that during a season have been on a fairly average or weak team, in a tournament they see that it's all on the line, and they really play well. You expect some upsets and some surprises. We didn't see any surprises."

However, there was plenty of excitement during these qualifying matches. For example, Lorrie Field, at number one singles, was down 5-0 in her first set, yet rallied against the Tacoma opponent and won the match 7-6, 6-3. Wearing her "Apres Moi le Deluge" T-shirt, she downed McDowell of Skagit Valley 6-4, 6-4 to win the top honors.

At number two singles, Carrie Lyles defeated Feigert of T.C.C. 2-6, 6-1, 6-0; Banzyak of Skagit 6-2, 6-1 and Lamb of Bellevue Community College 6-1, 4-6, 6-3 to retain her top seeding.

Marti Vitez, number three singles and the player with the best season record on the squad, had a bye in the first round then trounced Billdt of Shoreline and Mariano of Tacoma 6-2, 6-2; assuring her number one position.

Gretchen Wilson, Jenni Hine and Toni Copp also had byes in their first matches of the weekend. Gretchen later went on to dispose of Supranowski of Tacoma 6-1, 6-2, and Frost of Skagit Valley 6-2, 6-1, while Jenni Hine defeated Buland of Tacoma 6-0, 6-1 and Varrillo from Bellevue 6-1, 6-1.

Toni Copp was the only member of the squad, at number six singles, to lose a match the entire tournament, yet she still won her second round and lost a squeaker to Anderson of Tacoma 6-4, 6-4 in the finals.

In doubles, the team of Vitez/Field defeated Bellevue 6-0, 6-1 and Tacoma 7-6, 6-2. Lyles/Wilson, at number two doubles had a bye, having only to trounce Bellevue's doubles opponents 6-0, 6-2 for their win, as did Hine/Copp, who defeated a tough Tacoma pair, 7-6, 7-4.

The men's most crucial match last weekend was against Bellevue, and they were narrowly defeated for the league title. Yet with the potential for the team, they could do better at state in the face of competition. It's the cream of the crop this weekend at Yakima and Columbia Basin, and both men's and women's teams hope to reap the sweet fruits of victory.

Women's soccer team still on 'amazing' win streak

by Dave Thomas

The Green River women's soccer team continued its amazing winning streak with a 3-2 decision over the Dashers Tuesday night in North Seattle.

The victory was the women's fifth game without a loss and raised their record above five hundred for the first time this year to 4-3-2.

Coach Bonnie Amrine was must a little more pleased with the win than the rest of the team.

"The girls played a good game. They were standing around in the first half, but picked it up in the second half."

"Revenge comes to those who wait," added Amrine. This was the first time in the last five years that one of her teams were able to beat the Dashers.

The Gators started out well, applying early pressure and it payed off. The women got their first goal after a scramble out at the 18 yard line. The Dasher goalie rushed out to grab the ball, but had it knocked away before she could get total control. It rolled behind her and towards the net where Carleen Schukar and Tina Luthi both got a foot on the ball to guide it into the net.

The rest of the half, however, turned into an offensive barrage by the Dashers. Only some good goal tending by Cindy Gerber and tough defense kept the Gators from falling out of the contest.

The Dashers were able to know the score before the end of the half. During a rush by the Dashers, a player for the Gators hit the ball with her hand, giving the Dashers a penalty kick. Gerber was able to make the initial save on the shot that was low to her right, but she could not quite hang on and the ball skirted away and into the net.

The start of the second half saw a much more aggressive and defensive minded team come on the field for the Gators. About midway through the second half the pressure paid off.

Maxine Nagel led a charge down the right side of the field. She took the shot from 18 yards out and lofted it perfectly over the goalie and just under the crossbar on the left side of the goal. Just five minutes later, Nagel again broke free, this time on the left side. This time she kept the ball on the ground, but it rolled past the goalie and into the far side of the net.

The Gators then fell back into a more defensive posture to protect their lead. The Dashers were unable to pick up any momentum from there on, although they did score one more goal very late in the match.

The Gators hit the road again this Sunday for a game at the University of Washington Arboretum. Game time is scheduled for 3 p.m.

Sports hunt "Lucky" Honeycutt on his way to Cy Young Award?

by Tim Hunt

As you may remember, early in this baseball season I ventured a guess that the Mariners might win the American League pennant if a strike shortens the season. Well it look as though that prediction has about as much chance of coming true as Dixy has to getting re-elected according to the latest polls. So how about this:

Rick Honeycutt will be the top pitcher in all of baseball this year.

After all, with only two weeks left in the season and Honeycutt proudly possessing an unscathed record at press time, it appears that he's got everything going for him, including LUCK.

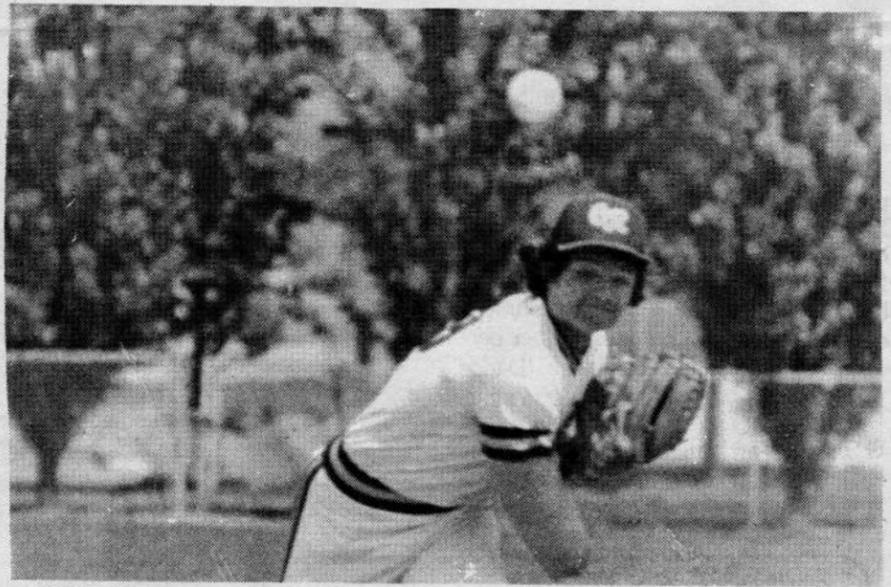

Last Tuesday night he got clobbered by the Toronto Blue Jays and was pulled out of the game, in the third inning, trailing 4-0. One inning later the game was called because of rain, preserving Rick's perfect record.

In his last start, before Toronto, he was trailing the Detroit Tigers, 3-0, in the bottom of the ninth. A big rally, probably the Mariners biggest ever, saved the day and gave the big leagues best pitcher another victory.

Honeycutt is now only one, maybe two, wins away from finishing the season undefeated and very possibly with the coveted Cy Young Award.

But just because this is here in black and white don't necessarily believe it! Remember just two weeks ago I said, "Watch out Lakers." (That's why I'm not in the gambling profession.)

Gator nine trips Titons; Tritons

by Tim Clinton

The men's baseball team tripped the Tacoma Titons 7-6 in 11 innings last Friday and split a doubleheader at home against the first place Edmonds Tritons on Saturday. After being blanked 6-0 by Edmonds in the first game, the Gators trounced the Tritons 5-1 in the second. The loss was only the second of the season for Edmonds. The Gators are now 12-6 and still in second place.

On Friday Tim Slavin led off the Gator first inning by blasting his fifth roundtripper of the league season, giving the Gators an early lead over the Tacoma Titons.

In the fifth Mark Westbrook doubled and then scored ahead of a Brian Ray triple.

Ray scored in the Gator eighth after hitting a single, with the help of a Jim Thomson sacrifice and a Dave Gard single.

The action in the ninth started for the Gators when Kevin Weiks and Slavin were walked. Wally Smith then doubled and after a Westbrook sacrifice, Ray singled and Thomson hit a double. The rally gave the Gators three more runs and a 6-0 lead.

The Gators watched their big lead fade away in the bottom of the ninth as the Titons came back with six runs to tie it.

The Gators made a comeback in the 11th when Ray scored ahead of singles by Thomson and Dave Cebula giving the Gators a 7-6 victory.

In the first game of Saturday's twin bill the Gators were shut out as the Edmonds Tritons scored three runs in the fourth and one in each of the remaining three innings to give them a 6-0 victory over the Gators.

Cliff Bridges pitched all seven innings for the Gators, doing a much better job than the score indicates as he fanned 10 batters and pitched a perfect game through the first three innings. A New York Mets scout who was present was impressed by his performance.

In the "nightcap" the Tritons started the game off by scoring their only run in the first.

After the Gators went three innings without a hit, Slavin started off a rally in the fourth by laying down a perfect bunt for a base hit. Smith then bunted to sacrifice Slavin to second. Next Westbrook hit a long fly to center. Slavin tagged second base and sped to third when Coach Tom Burmester successfully gambled by waving him on home for the Gators first run of the day.

When commenting on his "gutsy" play

Burmester said he did it because they needed a run so badly. He also said of Slavin that, "If there was anyway to find home plate he would find it because he is just that kind of a player."

Also in the fourth, Cebula was walked and went to second on a wild pitch. Then Kurt McGuire drove him home with a long double to centerfield.

The Gators scored three insurance tallies in the sixth when Kurt McGuire crunched his first homer of the season over the leftfield fence, scoring Smith and Westbrook who got on base with singles.

Moundsman Rob Porter went all the way for the Gators, shutting down the powerful Tritons after the first inning and collecting the win.

The win against tough Edmonds should give the Gators confidence as they go on to the state tournament in Yakima next week, which they are virtually assured of doing.

The Gators play their last home game of the season this afternoon against Bellevue. Game time is 7:30 tomorrow they close out the season by playing two on the road against Fort Steilacoom at 1:30.

Fun Run Scheduled

by Stephanie Peterson

Student Programs, in conjunction with Intramural Programs, will sponsor a fun Run in addition to the Spring Barbecue on Thursday, May 22.

The race is approximately 2 miles long. The starting point will be in front of the Holman Library at 10:30 a.m. and conclude in the Commons area. The new Fitness Trail will be included as part of the course.

Participants will be divided into three divisions. There will be a faculty and staff division, a student division, and a division for track and cross country team participants. There will be two winners, one male and one female, from each division who will receive a free lunch at the Spring Barbecue.

Sign-up for the Fun Run will take place in PE 9 (Intramural Office) located in the Gym. $1 entry fee is required by all participants.

GR slowpitch team breaks out of slump

by Curt Carver

The Green River women broke out of a mid-season slump by winning a pair of doubleheaders from Grays Harbor and Tacoma in last weeks action.

Wednesday, May 7, the Gators had no trouble downing Grays Harbor 11-1 and 14-4. Two days later the women found the going to be a little rougher as they squeezed by Tacoma 3-1 and 7-5.

Tacoma came in to Fulmer Field in Auburn with upset on their mind. Earlier this year the Gators won twice in Tacoma.

Green River scored quickly in the first game, Roxane Asay led off with a single. Mary McGrath triggered off a series of Titan errors when she singled to rightfield. When the dust had settled, both Roxane and Mary had scored. The Gators scored once more when Tami Harto tripled and scored on Tija Petrovich's single to centerfield.

The game then turned into a pitchers battle. Green River went down in order the next four innings. Tacoma could do no better as they were held scoreless until the seventh inning.

The Gators had some anxious moments in the seventh inning. After a flyout, the next Tacoma batter reached base on a Green River error. The next pitch was belted to rightfield for a triple and a Titon run. The next Tacoma batter ripped a shot to Kathy McAlpine at third base. She made a fine catch and then doubled up the runner at first to preserve the victory.

The Gators only collected one hit after the first inning while giving up four hits.

these factors attributed to the fact that the game only took 50 minutes to play.

Once again in the second game, Green River took control early.

The Gators bunched five straight hits in the second inning with the big blow being Sandy Vellejo's bases loaded triple to rightfield. Kathy McAlpine and Mary McGrath also knocked in a run each in the inning.

The Titons fought back as they racked Mary McGrath for five hits in the third inning. Joann Gay finally ended the Tacoma rally when she made an impressive catch in rightfield. The Gators led 5-3.

The Gator women were held hitless until the fifth inning. Mary McGrath led off with a grounder to first base which was bobbed for an error. Two outs later Donna Kern ripped an opposite field homerun to leftfield to put the Gators on top 7-3.

The seventh inning proved to be trouble for the Gator Gals. The Titons first three batters combined two singles with a triple to score two runs. Green River then shut down Tacoma and held on to win 7-5.

Neither pitcher gave up a walk in the well played game. The fifth place Gators are now 9-9 in league play. They need to move up a notch to qualify for the state tournament which will be held in Auburn.

Green River faced a tough Edmonds team Wednesday with results not available at press time. They will play their next game Monday in Tacoma against Ft. Steilacoom.
