Two Division Chairmen to Take Sabbatical Leaves

Two division chairmen will be taking their sabbatical leaves from Green River Community College next year and two acting chairmen have been appointed for the 1969-70 school year.

Dr. Edward Fohn, head of the Science Division, will be replaced by geology instructor, Dr. Gerald Miller, next year and Howard Fryett, chairman of the Business Division, will be replaced by Joe Werner.

Dr. Fohn and his family will leave in August for Switzerland where he plans to teach and study teaching methods and techniques. He plans to do some writing, education research, and travel. Dr. Fohn wants to develop some non-lecture teaching methods in the sciences.

The Fohns two oldest children, Steven, 8; and Renee, 6; will attend French speaking schools. They are being tutored in the language now by their mother.

Next summer the Fohn family will tour Europe before returning to Auburn.

Howard Fryett will attend the University of North Dakota from June 1969 to September of 1970 where he will work toward his doctorate in business administration and business education. He will work with Dr. John L. Rowe, one of the leaders in the field of business education.

The Fryett's oldest son, Mike, who graduates from Auburn High School this year, will enroll as a freshman at the University of North Dakota next fall. Mrs. Fryett also plans to take some classes at the University.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fryett's parents live in South Dakota within a few hours of the University so it will be "like going home," said Fryett.

At the U of North Dakota, Fryett plans to concentrate his studies in accounting and finance.

Replacing Fryett will be Joe Werner, a member of the business department who teaches management classes. Werner joined the faculty two years ago after selling his business in Auburn.

Replacing Dr. Fohn next year will be Dr. Gerald Miller, the outspoken geology instructor who has been with Green River since the college opened in 1965.

Guinn, Hedlund Published In Anthropology Journal

In the spring issue of Northwest Anthropological Research Notes, two Green River instructors' publications are listed.

Stanley J. Guinn, sociology instructor, is the author of three articles listed in the Research Notes. The three articles, originally papers read at the annual meetings of the Northwest Anthropological Association, are "The Excavation of an Archeological Site Near Ozette on the Northwestern Washington Coast," 1962; "A Whaling Village on the Northwestern Coast of Washington," 1963; "Qualitative Measurement in Anthropology: Classification, Interpretation, and Inference," 1964.

Stan Guinn came to Green River from the University of Idaho where he was an instructor for two years. He also served at Washington State University. He has been on the staff of Green River College since the fall of 1967. He is a man of many interests, having worked in both anthropology and sociology. Those who know him well are aware of his interests in boating, hiking, hunting, and fishing.

Guinn has just been awarded a research grant by the college to carry on first hand observations of problem areas in an urban environment and on the Muckleshoot Indian Reservation which will be recorded on film. The results of Guinn's research will be used in his classes.

Also appearing in the Spring Notes is an abstract of a paper read by Gerald Hedlund, anthropology instructor at Green River. Hedlund's article, "Life Control and Cultural Change," explores factors other than the technological and environmental in bringing about cultural change.

The Northwest Anthropological Research Notes can be found on the shelves of the Holman Library.

IRS Explains Marijuana Tax

Did you know that according to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, there is a Federal tax of $100 an ounce, or fraction thereof, on an illegal transfer of marihuana? The law further provides that if a person is found in possession of marihuana and cannot prove that he acquired it in a legal transfer from a person authorized by the Internal Revenue Service to supply it, he shall be deemed to have engaged in an illegal transfer.

Further, the tax on an illegal transfer applies to both the person found with the marihuana and the person from whom he acquired it.

If an individual is convicted of illegal possession, the law says the marihuana shall be confiscated by and forfeited to the U.S. Government.

Marine Corps Wants Two-Year Grads

The Marine Corps now has a program through which qualified young men without a baccalaureate degree may become commissioned officers in the United States Marine Corps. It offers two-year college graduates a means through which they can become Marine Officers and also a reasonable assurance that they will be afforded the opportunity to complete their baccalaureate studies. It is intended that individuals selected for this program will be considered for assignment to a College Degree Program following completion of their initial period of obligated service as a commissioned officer.

WHY A SPECIAL EDITION?

Last week's edition of the Green River Current was the final edition of the year because, frankly, we're out of money.

Even though we put out an eight-page paper, we still had copy left out so it is being published in this abbreviated form this week and printed on the school press.

—The Editor

The requirements for enrolling in this program differ from other Marine Programs in that the only academic requirement is 60 semester credits of 90 quarter credits of a 2.3 or higher. Obligated service time is three years and this program is open to those who desire to fly.

For further information write or call the Marine Officer Selection Office at 2222 2nd Avenue in Seattle.

GREEN RIVER RECREATION STUDENTS GO TO CAMP

"You mean you get out of school for a whole week?" "Right!" replied a GRCC student.

What this student was referring to was a week's experience as a counselor at Camp Seymour, Gig Harbor, Washington.

Recreation majors here at GRCC are required to take a camp counseling class and a "Practicum 80" course which is designed for field experience. Thus, in co-ordination with with Camp Seymour's Director Mr. L. Hill, college recreation students are utilized to assist camp teachers and high school counselors in their activities.

Letter to Editor

To the Editor:

On Wednesday, the 14th of this month, a reporter was bodily ejected from the Student Senate. I was in the Senate that day, and I think that on the part of the Senators it was the act of a juvenile.

As vice-president-elect of the Sophomore class, I give my apology to Mrs. Black and the paper for the act which was perpetrated.

Ron Davenport

WINNERS of exchange student trips to Europe this summer are Joanne Fluke, left, a former GRCC student, and Wayne Courtney who graduates June 13. Both are management students who will study business techniques while on the job. Joanne will work in London and Wayne will work in the Netherlands.
